Double sweeps in dairy, sheep at Manheim Fair

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN

MANHEIM — It was a day of sweeps in the dairy and sheep competition at the Manheim Community Farm Show on Thursday.

Cows from the Holstein herd of Harold Witmer, R2, Manheim, took both the grand championship and reserve grand championship honors, along with at least a half-dozen other major honors.

In the sheep competition, entries by 17-year-old Jim Stauffer, 345 Weaver Rd., Lancaster, also captured both the grand championship and reserve grand championship trophy and rosette. (For story on sheep show and full results, see page A 32.)

The Witmer entries were shown in the Holstein competition by son, Lamar Witmer, who also maintains a herd on the family farm located on the Lancaster-Lebanon county border near Lawn.

The grand champion was a five-year-old, who Lamar described as a slow developer. Taking both the aged cow and senior champion honors, Lan Lebco K Builder Suzette is milking about 100 pounds a day, being fresh about six weeks.

As a three-year-old, she placed third at Manheim, was first as a four-year-old last year and came on to take the top honors this year.

Her dam is Lisa Harmony Pride, who was bred to Tiho Kit Builder still as an un-

Pa. livestock take top honors at KILE

BY SHEILA MILLER

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania livestock producers exhibited some of their finest animals at the 24th Keystone International Livestock Exposition held here last week at the Farm Show Complex.

In cattle competition, Royal Charolais swept the championships, taking both the heifer and bull grand and reserve grand championships along with other top awards.

Earl and William Renner, Waynesburg, showed the reserve grand champion Hereford bull in their breed's Open Show. And, in the Polled Hereford competition, 4-K Cattle Co. and Y-Not Farm of Northpoint, Armstrong County exhibited the reserve grand champion bull, Walking Tall.

Ten-year-old Scott Hazlett, from State College, Centre County, upset the veteran swine showman in the Barrow On-Foot competition. The young son of Penn State's swine herdsman, Vernon Hazlett, showed his heavyweight Duroc barrow to the grand champion honors. The barrow was the Junior champion and defeated the Open champion exhibited by LaVern Weller and Sons from Dwight, Illinois.

A number of Pennsylvania swine producers took breed champions with their barrow entries. See related story on page C-16.

And a Bradford County shepherd swept the Rambouillet competition, taking both the ram and ewe grand and reserve grand championships. See story on page D-8.

Don and Wende Swartz of Hummelstown, Dauphin County showed the champion Appaloosa stallion in the equine division of KILE. The grand champion Appaloosa mare was exhibited by Wane Marmelo of Bethlehem, Northampton/Lehigh County.

Crystal Garvin, Penfield, Clearfield County, and her two-year-old colt captured the reserve grand champion stallion honors in the Paint Horse Show.

Two Pennsylvania Arabian horse exhibitors took home reserve champion trophies in the mare and gelding division. Wilfred Stevens of Bangor showed the reserve champion mare, three-year-old Wil-Or-El Garenza. And Carole Friendy, Macungie, showed the reserve champion gelding, Aazzy.

In the Quarter Horse competition, Bill Dickerson of New Hope, exhibited the grand champion stallion.

NEDCO and AMPI flirting

BY CURT HARLER

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS — Like a shy couple courting, representatives of two dairy cooperatives have been watching each other closely. While both confirm something is going on, both deny they started it.

Behind the coy exterior, Northeast Dairy Cooperative Federation, Inc. and Associated Milk Producers, Inc. have begun talks which could lead either to a joint venture between the two or the eventual merger of the co-ops.

AMPI, with home offices in San Antonio, Texas, is the nation's largest dairy co-op with 32,000 farmer members.

NEDCO, based in Syracuse, N.Y., is a federation of small cooperatives serving farmers in northern Pennsylvania and New York.

"At this point anything done was strictly initiated by NEDCO," said Leland Anderson, AMPI's assistant to the general manager.

"AMPI wants a representative in the Northeast. I think they approached us," said NEDCO's Calvin Cobb.

No matter who started making eyes at whom first, both NEDCO and AMPI maintain they will do only what is best for their individual members.

Both agree there is no set timetable and that the talks are only at the discussion stage.

NEDCO and AMPI have had business dealings in the past. On occasion AMPI has purchased butter from NEDCO and has been active in NEDCO's processing operations.

Neither co-op has brought

$10,000 bull calf tops Guernsey sale

LANCASTER — Out-of-state buyers kept the bidding lively at the 55th Renewal and Pennsylvania State Guernsey sale held Thursday afternoon.

Still, some fine Guernseys sold at reasonable prices to those bidding.

A total of 36 Guernseys sold at an average price of $3039.

Top animal in the sale was Green Manor Mavis Legend, a bull calf born April 27, 1980. He sold for $10,000 to Curtiss Breeding Industries, Inc., of Elburn, Illinois.

Curtiss outlasted a group of Pennsylvania Guernsey cattle breeders who had formed a syndicate in hopes of keeping Legend in the state. Contending bidder representing the syndicate was John Marchesak.

Top female in the show was England Farms H Mill, with records over 13,000 pounds milk and 635 pounds fat. She sold for $5100 to J. Hannond Dungan, Long Meadow, Mass. Dungan was a major buyer at the sale.

The Legend bull calf was bred and consigned by John D. Myers and Marvin Sanner, Rl Littlestown. An embryo transfer calf, he is line bred to the old Fame bull. His dam, Sniders Prince Lily, is an Excellent-91 cow and a two time national class leader.

Legend was sired by Olympic View B Maverick, a bull with a plus predicted difference of 1158 pounds-milk and 52 pounds fat with 93 percent repeatability.

Legend's selling price may have been helped by a promotional movie showed before the sale which boosted the Guernsey breed and, among other amimals, featured Legend.

The top cow, bred by T. Howard England, North East, Md., was consigned by Scott, Elsie and Dennis Wolff, R2 Quarryville.

Next high seller was Merit Wistar Mabel, an open heifer born December 3, 1979. The calf, consigned by Richard and Pauline Merritt, Farmington, Conn., was first place junior calf at both the Connecticut and

Senate passes bill to cut farm stock tax

HARRISBURG — A measure which could save family farm corporations $5000 a year passed the state Senate Monday and awaits the Governor's signiture.

HB 1608, sponsored by Lancaster County Representative Noah Wenger, exempts closely held family farm corporations from the state's capital stock franchise tax.

Obtaining the Governor's signiture should be no problem. "He promised me earlier he would sign the bill into law," Wenger noted.

The measure passed the Senate unanimously, 48-0.

Stalled was HB 1176, sponsored by Joseph Pitts, which would require valuation of farmland at its agricultural use rather than for other uses such as development for homes.

It passed the Senate last week and was returned to the House for concurence on an amendment which includes forest land in the valuation provision. Observers say it probably will move when the legislature reconvenes November 17.

Also important to farmers and ready to move at that

When we deliver an order of chicks to the grower our interest doesn't stop there. We want a report back to see how good they look after 14 days in the growing house.

Here some "Report Cards" we've received recently. We're rather proud of the "grades" we've been consistantly getting. We welcome the chance to be evaluated by your grower.

HUBBARD WHITE MT. BROILERS

J Shephard Wolff, of Valley Acres Farm, RD #1, Newville, Pa., reviews forage sampling operation with Penn Pro Gene Schlosnagle while (inset) Mike Thomas, Supervisor of Quality Control, analyzes another forage sample in Pennfield's in-house laboratory

As the nutritional content of your cows' forage goes, so goes your milk yield ... and its profitability. That's why this forage sampling is vital to your farm. It catches the changes in nutritional content from one of your crops to another ... from one of your fields to another ... even from one set of weather conditions to another. In short, it spots any nutritional over- or under-balance ... so you can do something about it.

This forage sampling is a vital part of the Pennfield Computerized Total Ration Service. And here's how it works: 1. We collect samples of your forage. 2. Then we evaluate the quality of your forages. We determine the total digestible nutrients. The fiber content. The protein content. The amount of carbohydrates. 3. The computer quickly spots any nutrients lacking in the forage. For your milking cows. And for your dry cows. It immediately points out the overfeeding of nutrients. Underfeeding, too. Both, of course, may be different at different times of the year. And the printout will tell you what you need. And when. 4. Your Penn Pro Professional advises you on the quantity and type of nutrients that should be added, to balance your total feeding program to your cows' nutritional requirements. 5. The result can be increased milk production at the lowest possible feed cost.

The Pennfield Computer Total Ration Service could bring on your greatest growth act. In your milk yield. And your profits.

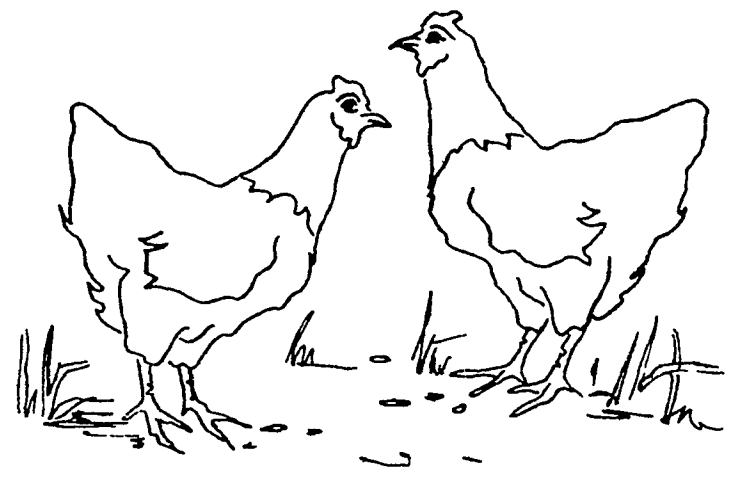
The Green Machine®
back-pack power blower-mister-duster.



The Green Machine power blower with liquid-tank attachment is ideal for spray vaccinating, fly spraying and disinfecting.

These are several ways poultrymen are saving time and making money with this great new tool. Here's more...

BLOWING:
- Removing accumulated dust and cob-webs from buildings before housing new laying flocks.
- Fast removal of old feed from feeders.
- Periodic cleaning of fans and motors while in use — cleaner surfaces give a lower heat rise, prolonging motor life.

DUSTING:
- Using The Green Machine dusting attachment with static-electricity feature, such materials as Sevin® 50% W.P. can be applied to the poultry and building surfaces to control the Northern Fowl Mite and other pests.

MISTING:
- In addition to applying vaccine, as described above, cages and buildings can be disinfected before housing a new flock.
- Housefly and mosquito control insecticides can be quickly and easily applied.

Ask the Old Farmer: A friend and I are having a discussion about an old superstition about which shoe to put on first He says it had something to do with the devil, and I say no Can you straighten us out? G S, Omaha

Your friend is right Anciently, the devil was supposed to prowl about on earth and men were afraid of being mistaken for him and maybe assaulted before they could prove their identity The devil's left foot is supposed to be cloven, so men would put the right shoe on first to prove they weren't afraid to exhibit the left

CATTLE AND CALVES: Midweek prices in Slaughter Steers were mostly steady with late previous week. Heifers closed firm to 25 higher. Cows were steady, instances 50 lower late and bulls firm to 1.00 higher.

Four Day Receipts	11,900
Week Ago	10,300
Year Ago	9,800

Caution was again a keynote of the fed Cattle trade during the current week, in reflection of an unsettled carcass trade. Prices advanced on a modest early supply, but the early upturn was largely erased in midweek trading. Buyers were usually competitive only for minimum numbers as they sought to maintain an acceptable ratio between current live prices and carcass realizations. The overall finish of the Steer and Heifer supply was attractive with a liberal percentage Choice Steers and Heifers, and included a rather large showing exotic crossbreds. Slaughter Steers made up approximately 28 pct and heifers 27 pct. cows comprised 6 pct and feeders 38 pct including "Colorado Special" consignment.

Lancaster Farming says...

It's an interesting alliance

As in any political or policy-making arena, alliances come and alliances go. But there is a new pairing which will be of interest in farm circles.

In recent months the Grange and the Farmers' Union have been standing shoulder to shoulder in a number of battles of interest to agriculture.

Their mutual support can be noted both in the parent national organizations and on a state level.

They make an odd couple at first glance. There's the Grange, generally viewed as old, established and staid, tying itself in some instances to the Farmers' Union, seen by many farmers as the young, aggressive upstart of farmer organizations.

Even its most ardent supporters will admit the Grange has been slipping some in prestige in recent years. Still, it boasts over 100 years of service to the rural community. Its name still packs punch even if it no longer is manditory for political candidates to make speeches at the local grange hall.

No doubt the Farmers' Union, perhaps unfairly tagged with a reputation as radical, can benefit from association with the Grange's moderate image. The Grangers' causes gain in numbers, impact, and exposure to the public, and should gain pep from Farmers' Union.

Because they don't have the restrictions about joining coalitions, Farmers' Union and Grange can gain background information and strength from diverse segments of agriculture and groups which may not seem, at first glance, to have any ties to farming at all.

Where, then, does this leave Farm Bureau and its local affiliates like Pennsylvania Farmers' Association who, by organization bylaws, are forbidden from joining a coalition?

The frequent association of Grange and Farmers' Union is, in some cases, a backhanded compliment to PFA — almost an admission that it is taking two to match the strength of one.

On the other hand it certainly serves warning that any sign of a slow-down in activities by PFA in pushing farm policies will quickly be turned to the advantage of the other groups.

It should be made clear that the teamwork by Grange and Farmers' Union is not an across the board agreement on policy. In some areas the two differ dramatically on philosophy.

Still, it has proven fruitful on several occasions.

The teaming of a conservative group and a more activist group gives farmers a broad spectrum of support in Harrisburg, Washington, and before committees and policy setting bodies.

It's healthy for agriculture — such alliances will mean more ideas being processed at farm discussions, and more vigorous activity on behalf of farmers by all of the organizations representing the farm community.

If all of these groups are kept on their toes, there will be less danger of any one becoming fat, lazy, or complacent.

There will be a better chance of farmers being powerful when push comes to shove.

ON BEING A "WHOLLY FOLLOWER"

October 12, 1980

Background Scripture:
1 Kings 11:1-13, 26-34; 12:25-33; 14.
Devotional Reading:
Isaiah 55:6-11.

What could you expect from a man who had 700 wives and 300 concubines?

The 11th chapter of 1 Kings starts off ominously: "Now King Solomon loved many foreign women.....from the nations concerning which the Lord had said to the people of Israel, 'You shall not enter into marriage with them..." (11:1,2). Apparently, Solomon had assumed that God's restrictions did not apply to so important a person as he was. Why did he audaciously do what the rest of his people were forbidden to do?

Solomon's disobedience was not a matter of sheer lust. Actually, Solomon married many foreign women in order to form alliances with other nations. The foreign wives were all of them noblewomen, representing the ruling families of the known world's great powers. Solomon assumed that he could violate God's command because it appeared to be a political necessity for the nation.

A TURNED-AWAY HEART

Does that have a familiar ring? A leader believes himself to be above the normative ethics that binds others because he believes it justified by the national interest. Isn't that what Watergate was all about?

But why did God forbid these marriages? It seems only reasonable that Solomon should do what he did, doesn't it? Wouldn't we give him "A" for diplomacy today?

The writer of 1 Kings tells us why Solomon was wrong: "For when Solomon was old his wives turned away his heart after other gods; and his heart was not wholly true to the Lord his God..." (11:4). It is often debated whether, in the light of some of the unwise things he did, Solomon justly deserves the aura of wisdom he is usually given. If he was so wise, how could he have done something so foolish? But I don't doubt that Solomon was wise, only that he was wise long enough. It seems he was wise for a time, but his wisdom ran out.

NOT WHOLLY TRUE

Of course, Solomon's defenders would hurry to object that this judgement is unfair. They might argue, "O.K. in one little thing, Solomon slipped-up, but look how faithful he was to God, how wise in other things." It is true that even while he "went after Ashteroth, the goddess of the Sidonians...," he still worshipped the Lord. Even though he built a "high place for Chemosh, the abomination of Moab," he also had built the beautiful temple of God that bore his name.

The point, however, is that Solomon should have known that God would not condone a divided loyalty. "So Solomon did what was evil in the sight of the Lord and did not wholly follow the Lord" (11:6).

God is uncompromising with his covenant: unless we follow him wholly, we do not follow him at all.

TO UTILIZE CORN STALKS

Corn producers who do not make silage from their crop could have a very good livestock bedding material after the corn is picked or shelled. The corn stalks, when shredded, dried, and baled, can be brought to the barn and used for bedding purposes. Shredded corn fodder has very good water absorption abilities and can still be returned to the soil for organic matter purposes. Since straw is more scarce than years ago, corn fodder is a good replacement and even has good market values when properly prepared. Corn growers are urged to give this bedding material some attention before bad weather arrives.

TO STORE CORN CROP CAREFULLY

This is a not a new suggestion because corn is an important crop at any time; however, as it looks at this time, corn is going to become a very valuable crop in the years ahead. With demands locally for feeding purposes, for export and now for the making of alcohol for fuel, there is a good possibility that corn prices are on their way upwards.

Therefore, good corn storage is very important; it should be protected from the weather, given proper ventilation or drying, and then protected from rodents. This latter menace is one that needs more attention on many farms. Mice and rats like to make their homes in corn cribs and storage places when given the chance. The effort should be to eliminate all nesting places and practice good sanitation to keep the population down. They are destructive and will cost farmers money in the long run.

TO BEWARE OF JOHNSONGRASS

If you had johnsongrass plants in your corn field this fall, you can be sure you will have more of them next summer. This would be a time to take note of the location of these plants and make plans for eradication for next spring. This fast-growing grass that resembles sorghum will take over a field in a few years, if left uncontrolled. It appears that we will soon have state legislation that will require the control and eradication of this weed. It should not be allowed to spread over the farm. Details are too long to list in this column but those with the problem should contact their herbicide dealer, sprayer, or their Extension Agent. Crop yields will be failure, if johnsongrass is allowed to develop. Be sure to make plans next spring and summer for these treatments.

TO BECOME PESTICIDE CERTIFIED

According to current regulations most pesticide certification cards expired on September 30 in Pennsylvania. Without this card you will be unable to buy many of the needed spray materials. Folks who did not get re-certified are urged to attend one of the many meetings that will no doubt be held in your area this fall.

Meetings conducted by pesticide dealers, vo-ag departments, and our Extension Service, were pesticide recommendations are discussed, should qualify a person for re-certification. A special form needs to be filled out at the meeting and forwarded to the State Department of Agriculture. Details are available from any Extension Office. The important thing is to become re-certified this fall, or winter, so that pesticide purchases can be made next spring.

Meats judging team first in retail

YORK — The York County 4-H Meat Judging Team represented Pennsylvania in competition at the Atlantic Rural Expo Judging Contest at Richmond, VA last week. The team ranked first in retail judging with a score of 827 points.

Ken Sunday, York R1, was first high individual in retail judging with a score of 279 points, Mark Ebaugh, Delta was second with 278 points, and Bryan Palmer placed sixth with 270 points.

The team placed fourth in meat identification with a score of 613 points. Alabama's team placed first with 683 points.

The York County team also placed fourth in the quiz category with a score of 122 points. Bryan Palmer, Shrewsbury, was sixth high individual in the quiz portion of the contest.

In the total overall contest, the team placed third with a score of 1542 points, Alabama was first with 1625 points and Virginia was second with 1568 points. The fourth team member was Michelle Bankert, Hanover. The team was accompanied by Kathy Sunday, York, and Tony Dobrosky, Glen Rock, team trainers. The team will compete at the National Judging contest at Kansas City, MO on November 12.

Dog Days, Cat Nights

It's hard to believe it. Here we are in the month of October already.

Shorter days and cooler nights send signals to the drowsy brain that those hot, humid days that seemed to last forever during the Summer are just about over.

From Dog Days to Indian Summer - the traditional descriptions of our changing seasons have passed down from generation to generation.

My childhood memories are filled with tales and folklore passed down from my Pennsylvania Dutch grandparents. But here's one I never heard of and neither did Iris Hoke, of Hightown, Virginia.

She recently wrote to me and asked what the Old Farmer's Almanac of August 11-17, 1980 meant when it announced "Cat's Nights begin now".

When I found out what Cat Nights meant, I was sure glad they were over in August...especially since Halloween Night is just around the corner.

According to Randall Tenor, of the reference section of the Pennsylvania Public Library in Harrisburg, Cat Nights are linked up to Irish folklore and witches.

He explained that the belief is that on eight days of August, witches can turn into cats. But on the ninth day - somehow linked to the belief that cats have nine lives - the witches can no longer become frightening felines.

And, although Cat Nights fall about the same time of year as Dog Days, Tenor says there is no link between the two.

He added that for anyone who wants more information on this Irish folk talk, the Old Farmer's Almanac staff will be happy to assist. Write Yankee, Inc., Dublin, N.H. 03444.

A Question of Digestion

Recently our editor, Curt Harler, traveled to Illinois to visit the DeKalb research facilities. In his accounts of his visit, he mentioned a new compost making machine that has attracted the attention of several Lancaster Farming readers.

The Brill Digester System is distributed exclusively by American Digester Corporation, 20416 Harper Avenue, Harper Woods, Michigan 48225. Their telephone number is 313/882-1325.

In case you missed reading about it on page C-28 of the September 13, 1980 issue, the American Digester Corporation describes the Brill Process as one that "uses animal waste and a bio-degradeable absorbant such as sawdust, ground cobs, shredded paper, hay or straw which absorbs the fresh natural liquid and is composted by natural bacterial action. No auxiliary heat is required."

The corporation claims that "in only twenty four to seventy two hours the Brill Digester does the work of six months natural bacterial action. It results in rich, fluffy, easy to handle, germ-free, weed-free, non-combustible organic compost, they advertise.

For more information, contact the American Digester Corporation.

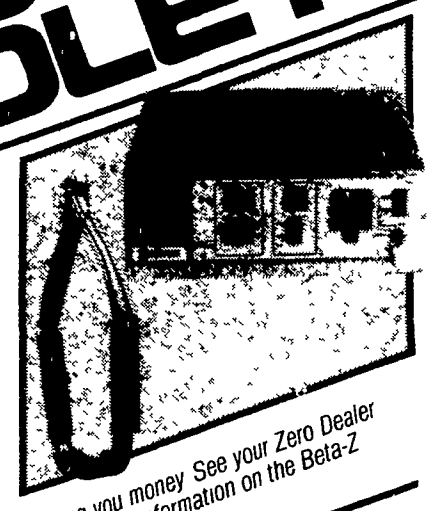
Zero® BETA-Z MANAGER

The Zero Beta-Z Feeding System with the BETA-Z COMPUTER, DURA COLLAR IDENTIFICATION, and FEED SAVER MANAGER can produce up to 18-25% MORE MILK PRODUCTION on LESS FEED. Each cow is fed different daily amounts of feed throughout the year, according to her lactation. Records and feed amounts are all computer controlled for maximum efficiency. Without the latest in computerized feed control, your feeding system is obsolete and costing you money. See your Zero Dealer for complete information on the Beta-Z Feeding System



Zero® FEED-A-VEYOR* SYSTEM

The Zero Feed A Veyor System is the newest innovation of feed transporters. Designed to transport feed up to 200 feet in a herring-bone stall system. This new system of specially constructed molded nylon disks eliminates the danger of metal to metal contact of the older auger or chain systems. The specially designed aircraft cable system delivers feed quietly and efficiently up to 75 feet per minute. It is easily adaptable to any obstruction including maneuverability of 90° corners.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I read with interest the story about Atlantic Processing petitioning The Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board to allow milk prices to seek the level dictated by the free market.

My family has been in the milk business since 1912, first as a farm-to-retail operation and then (since 1936) as two separate businesses: Woodson Farm, a 50 cow registered Holstein herd; and Woodson Dairy, a small property handler of milk. I have no direct financial axe to grind in Woodson Dairy, but I have always felt loyal to the place we ship our milk to, and I naturally see things from the point of view of a competitor of Lehigh Valley.

At any rate, it is refreshing to see Atlantic Processing arguing for a free market. I just wish they would take a consistent attitude toward the pricing of wholesale milk under federal orders.

Several years ago Woodson Dairy was reluctantly drawn into The Federal Milk Marketing Order because Lehigh Valley, among others, said that small property handlers had an unfair competition advantage over them because a large portion of Woodson Dairy's sales were fluid milk, Woodson Dairy was able to pay its shippers a lower price for that fluid milk and still hold the blend price to approximately what the large co-ops were paying. (Never mind the fact that nearly every other competitive advantage that comes from an economy of scale was held by Lehigh Valley).

In short, hearings were held, Federal Registers published, and Woodson Dairy together with other unwilling dairies, were included in The Federal Order. The net effect of which is to penalize Woodson Dairy for selling to a large proportion of its milk as a fluid.

To our way of thinking, it is simply the tyranny of the majority over the minority and we see little hope that our interests will ever find an ear in the Federal bureaucracy.

As far as Woodson Farm goes, we no longer have any financial reason to prefer shipping to Woodson Dairy. The price we get is dictated by droves from Washington, and it was little direct relation to The Economics of Red Hill, Pa. Instead, it is the end result of a series of calculations of production costs in the upper midwest.

Nothing makes my blood boil more than the frequent letters we get from our market administrator telling us what a splendid break they have achieved on our behalf. Bargaining between Woodson Dairy and Woodson Farm has been replaced by commands from the commission. I should add, too, that the milk business has not been made a big bonanza because of federal tampering with our prices.

The only general observation I can make about the price of milk under the government's guidance is that it is continually just barely enough to keep us interested. The carrot on the stick is not too big, but we think it may look bigger when we get up close.

Federal orders serve the interests of large co-ops that dispose of a large portion of their milk as a manufactured product. They allow processors to acquire milk for cheese manufacturing at a low price related to that of fluid milk, and then the pool (The "producer settlement fluid") forks over the money they might have received for selling fluid milk. Fluid milk then becomes a problem commodity for the large processor, and he winds up selling it for the least possible price just to be rid of it.

There is no other explanation for the ruthless price competition engaged in between Lehigh and Dairylea. They make their profit in manufacturing and only seek minimum margins (or no margins at all) on the fluid product.

The management of Atlantic Processing is therefore vocal about PMMB rules that pertain to their fluid prices, but strangely silent about the Socialist machinery of the federal governnment.

Small dairies can find a niche as producers of high quality products, and they can overcome competition from the cheap milk competition; but they should not be required to buy milk according to a rigid set of rules and then sell it in a market dominated by a competition that does not care enough about profitability.

Let Atlantic Processing make money any way they see fit, but leave the small independent processors out of an arrangement that seizes their profits for the sake of Atlantic's cash flow.

I would prefer the chaos we suffered in milk pricing from 1912 until our inclusion in The Federal Order over the stability (indistinguishable from the chaos) we now enjoy.

Milk marketing reform sues to block Agri-Mark

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The National Association for Milk Marketing Reform, a trade association of small dairy processors, has filed its opposition to the Consent Judgment proposed by the Department of Justice in settlement of its lawsuit to block the merger of H.P. Hood, Inc., New England's largest dairy into Agri-Mark, the largest dairy co-op in the Area.

NAMMR's counsel, Donald A. Randall, describes the consent judgment as totally unacceptable to the small Northeastern dairies and to many of the remaining independent dairy farmers out of the 900 who were selling to Hood at the time of merger announcement last February.

He predicted this giant combination of the largest dairy co-op supplier and its largest corporate customer will drive many farmers out of business, if they refuse to join Agri-Mark, because they will have few, if any, remaining dairies to sell to, as many of the independent dairies will fail also.

This threat to the economic survival of the independents, NAMMR said, caused it to change its position of enthusiastic support for the Department of Justice Complaint filed in the U.S. District Court in Vermont on June 27, 1980.

Randall said that by the terms of the consent judgment "it appears to be a step backward, if not complete surrender by the Government."

NAMMR's detailed comments are being filed with Justice under provisions of the antitrust laws, which allowed any interested party to make comments during a 60 day period which ended Monday.

The Department must respond to all comments, and both response and comments must be filed in the Court before the judgment can be entered.

Specifically, NAMMR requests Justice to withdraw its consent to the judgment and to proceed to trial if necessary to have H.P. Hood divested from Agri-Mark and its co-venturer, Agway, the farm supply co-op.

In the alternative NAMMR petitions the Department to ask for a minimum of 60 days more, and hearings in the Court, during which all affected persons — dairy farmers, dairy processors and the public's representatives may offer evidence of probable economic injury if the consent judgment is entered.

NAMMR listed five reasons for Justice to withdraw its consent and/or to have further hearings:

1. The independent dairy farmers are not protected after March 1981.

2. The competition of the small dairy co-ops will ultimately disappear as they will be merged into Agri-Mark or eliminated from the Market.

3. The small milk processors are not protected, and this competitive force will be lost.

4. There is no protection against further mergers or acquisitions by Agri-Mark-Hood, and this "snowballing" effect of mergers and acquisitions has occured in other parts of the country where powerful area co-ops have become dominant, multi-stage, regional co-ops in a few years. The first step in doing this is, often, as in this case, to acquire the competing co-ops' major customer.

5. Consumers are not protected from unduely enhanced prices for milk and dairy products which are the usual result of area-wide premium prices obtained by the dominant co-op, which are prices above those set by the U.S. Department of Agriculture marketing orders. Such prices are not in the public interest, nor is the loss of selection of products from competing dairies which are forced out of the market, NAMMR said.

Adams investigation finds no seeding evidence

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania Agriculture Secretary Penrose Hallowell announced that the Agriculture Department has found no evidence of cloud seeding in Central Pennsylvania.

Hallowell said, "Our efforts have uncovered no evidence which would suggest cloud seeding is being conducted in Adams or Franklin Counties. We have attempted to follow up on complaints by farmers in Adams County and have discussed these reports of possible cloud seeding with officials from other State Department of Agriculture."

Both the State Police and the Department of Transportation's Bureau of Aviation have pledged their complete cooperation in investigating any further complaints.

"I would again urge any farmer who sights aircraft suspected of cloud seeding to immediately contact the State Police for investigation while the suspect plane is still in the area," Hallowell said. "I want to stress our sincere desire to have all reports thoroughly and properly investigated."

He noted that Agriculture Department officials had traveled to Delaware and met with the private sector and administrator of the Delaware Department of Agriculture's experimental Cloud Seeding Program. He said they assured the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture that airplanes involved in the Delaware program never fly into Pennsylvania air space.

The Delaware Cloud Seeding pilot project is aimed at increasing the duration of rainfall and the area over which rains falls. The University of Delaware is evaluating the results of this program, but officials have determined that at least five years of observation will be necessary to fully determine whether the project is successful.

Results of the program to date are incomplete.

Contacts with state government officials in Maryland and West Virginia also failed to uncover any ongoing cloud seeding programs.

Hallowell said the Africulture Department would continue to work with the farmers in Adams County and would insist on immediate action to investigate any further complaints.

"The Bureau of Criminal Investigation in the State Police has the primary responsibility to investigate Weather Modification problems," he said. "Arrangements have been made to provide proper investigative liaison with this Bureau and with the State Bureau of Aviation."

The drought-like conditions being experienced in Adams County are not an isolated condition, he noted, but cover the eastern portion of the state. Twenty-four eastern Pennsylvania counties have now been declared federal disaster areas for drought, as have seven counties in neighboring Maryland.

The Maryland Department of Agriculture has suggested that 21 of 23 counties in the state will shortly have a similar disaster area designation.

York County dairymen to elect co-op director

NEW PARK — It's an election year in Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers' District 7 and the members of that area will hold their annual membership meeting Monday, Oct. 13 at the Centre Presbyterian Church Educational Building in New Park.

The 107 member-producers will nominate a director to be ratified by the total membership at the cooperative's annual meeting in March, for a three year term from March 1981 through February 1984.

Leroy R. Bupp of Seven Valleys, is the incumbent director whose term expires in February 1981.

The remainder of the program, to begin with dinner at 7 p.m., will consist of reports on national and local milk production and the current status of Holly Milk Plant in Carlisle. In addition, members will be given an update on MCMP's financial condition, including its operating divisions, as well as the current status of the long-range planning commission at the 1979 annual meeting.

Reports will be given by MCMP president, Herbert W. Wessel of Hampstead, business manager Ralph L. Strock of Towson, and district directors Bupp and Emory Kilgore of Airville, Pa. Field representatives for the area are Jerry Ensor of Westminster, Md. Tom Moore of Street, Md., Mack Newton of York, Pa., George Tyson of Port Deposit and Jay Waybright of Littlestown, Pa.

District 7 is made up solely of York County producers and has more MCMP members than any other county in Pennsylvania. Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc., the largest Maryland-based cooperative, represents more than 1000 dairy farmers in Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

Receives wood stove honors

EAST PETERSBURG — A local firm has been honored as Retail Store of the East by the wood stove industry.

Hiestand's Energy Center received the Pride of the Industry trophy recently at the National Journal Wood Stove trade show. The show was held at Minneapolis, Minn.

The award was given for professionalism in representing the solid fuel industry, for outstanding effort in consumer education in safety and service to customers, and for efforts in promoting the solit fuel industry.

The operation is run by Kathy and Galen Hiestand.

The operation is one of about 23,000 wood stove dealers in the region from Maine to Virginia.

Candidate asks government help for state's rural areas

DOYLESTOWN — Arlen Specter, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate, Friday called for more efficient government assistance to "the rural areas of Pennsylvania and the nation that have long been shortchanged by the federal government."

Specter said, "The serious economic and social problems faced by rural America have been largely ignored by the federal government. Rural areas are the home of one-third of the nation's population, but have nearly one-half of our nation's poor.

"The problems of rural unemployment, inadequate housing and poor health care are increasing. For every single substandard housing unit in the metropolitan areas of this country, two can be found in rural areas," he said.

Rural America has a higher infant mortality rate and a higher incidence of chronic disease than urban areas, and yet is served by only 12 percent of the doctors and 18 percent of the nurses. The problem is particularly acute for minorities in rural areas whose infant mortality rates are double the national average, he said.

These statistics are merely symptomatic of the problems faced in the rural areas of Pennsylvania and throughout the nation, he continued. It is an especially critical problem in Pennsylvania, where over 3.5 million people live in rural areas, the largest rural population in the United States, he said.

"Federal assistance to meet these problems has been woefully inadequate. Rural America receives only about 18 percent of the federal dollars spent to provide or improve housing, and only 23 percent of the Department of Health and Human Services Social Service funds.

"A principal reason why rural areas in small towns have not received their fair share of federal funds has been the complex federal grant procedures, inflexible grant programs, and burdensome paperwork requirements.

"Small towns in rural communities are simply not getting their fair share of federal funds because they lack the expensive staff and resources needed to respond to government regulations, requests, rules and audit procedures," he said.

"Senator John Heinz has worked hard to remedy this problem by his sponsorship of the Small Communities Act. Regrettably this legislation has not been passed.

"It is essential that we continue to work for legislation designed to eliminate the oppressive regulatory burden on rural communities that effectively denies them crucial assistance, and increase the autonomy of these communities in grant-related decision making. I will propose legislation that includes the following measures:

Greater flexibility in grant formula - Procedures should be established to ensure consultation and coordination with small rural communities concerning their needs and resources when determining the allocation of funds under federal grants formula.

Increase regulatory flexibility - The director of the Office of Management and Budget should be granted the authority to waive any federal rule, regulation or order as it applies to small communities. Wherever possible, a second tier of less stringent regulations should be designed for rural communities.

One-step certification of the requirements for qualifying for federal grants - Specified agencies should establish across-the-board federal grant eligibility standards for small communities. The community would thereafter not be required to give any further proof of compliance when applying for federal grants, loans or other federal assistance.

Accelerate appropriations - In order to allow increased flexibility for planning and administration of multi-year grant programs, procedures should be established for budgeting advanced appropriations to small rural communities one year before the funds are to be spent.

Small community set-aside payments - Congress should establish a procedure for allocating a single cash grant to small communities, at their option, as a substitute for the yearly grants that are to be received.

Herrs sweep Dorset competition

Local Juniors take top honors

HARRISBURG — The Herr sisters of Narvon, Lancaster County, swept the championships in the Junior Dorset Breeding sheep show on Sunday during the 24th Annual Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

Barbara Herr exhibited both the champion and reserve champion ram. The champion ram was the first place fall ram lamb. Judge Gary Ricketts, of Urbana, Illinois, went to the second place Nix Besser fall ram lamb for his reserve champion.

Barbara also took the championship honors with her yearling Dorset ewe, Nix Besser 829.

The reserve champion ewe was shown by Barbara's sister, Margaret. Nix Besser 8001 was the first place spring ewe lamb.

Barbara Herr continued her winning streak in the Junior Market Lamb contest. She exhibited the reserve champion lamb along with the top pen of three lambs.

In the Junior Sheep Shearing Contest, several local youth placed in the top ten in the back-breaking competition.

Placing first in the contest was Todd Hess, Beallsville, Washington County. Next in line was Daryl Schafer, R1 Spring City, Chester County, followed by Julie Bow, R1 Annville, Lebanon County.

Placings from fourth to tenth include: John Brownlee, R3 Claysville, Washington County; Blaine Martin, R1 Volant, Lawrence County; James Black, R2 Avella, Washington County; Ray Holtry, R6 Carlisle, Cumberland County; Michael Bending, R2 Waynesburg, Greene County; Jonathan Janney, R1 Brodbecks, York County; and Kelly McConnell, R1 Fredericktown, Washington County.

Maryland 4-H team wins honors

TIMONIUM, Md. — For the second time in 18 days, the Maryland 4-H livestock judging team finished in the top five in regional youth contests at major East Coast livestock shows.

The team placed third last Wednesday in a field of 15 state FFA and 4-H teams during the Eastern National Livestock Show at Timonium, Md. It was also first on September 13 among nine youth teams from five states competing at the Eastern States Exposition in West Springfield, Mass.

Both accomplishments were identical to the achievements of last year's Maryland team. The victory at West Springfield marked the fifth consecutive year of livestock judging domination by Maryland 4-H teams at the Eastern States Exposition.

Meg Peverly, 17, of Bel Air was high individual over-all at West Springfield. She also placed first in cattle and swine judging. At Timonium, she finished third in sheep judging and ninth over-all.

Danny Hoff, 15, of Manchester finished third in the over-all individual standings at West Springfield and sevent at Timonium.

Other Maryland team members in both contests were Bill Widerman, 15, of Sykesville and Margaret Spurrier, 19, of Union Bridge.

In collegiate livestock judging last week at Timonium, the University of Maryland was one of 11 colleges and universities represented.

Mary E. Rauschenberg, a member of the Maryland team, was second high individual in sheep judging. Miss Rauschenberg is an animal science, senior from Woodbine. She was the Maryland lamb and wool queen in 1978.

Milk support price to be $12.80

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland has announced the support price for manufacturing milk will be $12.80 per hundredweight for the new marketing year which began October 1.

The announced price is for milk with a milkfat content of 3.5 percent and compares with the present support of $12.07.

The support price for milk with the U.S. annual average milkfat content of 3.67 percent will be $13.10, compared with the present support of $12.36.

It was announced on September 19 that the support price for manufacturing milk would be set at 80 percent of the October 1 parity price based on data published in USDA's "agricultural prices" report released.

The law requires that milk be supported at a level between 80 and 90 percent to assure an adequate supply of milk. Given current supply-demand and price estimates, the $12.80 support price level will assure adequate future milk production.

The support for milk is achieved by Commodity Credit Corporation's (CCC) purchase of butter, cheese and nonfat dry milk.

The prices at which CCC will offer dairy products for sale for unrestricted use will continue to be 105 percent of the current purchase prices for these products. CCC's purchase prices for butter, nonfat dry milk and cheese are shown on page 2:

	Produced before Oct. 1, 1980	Produced on or after Oct. 1, 1980
	Dollars per pound
Butter, U.S. Grade A or higher
New York City and Jersey City, Newark and Secaucus, New Jersey	1.4325	1.52
Nonfat dry milk (spray) U.S. Extra Grade (but not more than 3.5 percent moisture)
50-pound bags: Unfortified	.895	.94
Fortified (Vitamins V&D)	.9075	.9525
Cheddar Cheese, standard moisture basis
40-pound blocks, U.S. Grade A or higher	1.325	1.395
500 pounds in fiber barrels, U.S. Extra Grade	1.295	1.365

The price of butter located at any other point outside these cities will be the price at New York minus 80 percent of the lowest published domestic railroad through freight rate for frozen butter in effect on October 1 of each marketing year from such other point in New York City.

The appropriate freight rate will be calculated on a per pound gross weight basis for a 60,000-pound carlot.

However, the price at any location shall be not less than the purchase price of New York City minus three cents per pound.

For any location in Wisconsin or Kentucky, the price shall not exceed the purchase price at Chicago which for butter produce on or after October 1 will be $1.49 per pound.

"I saved enough on drying costs to pay for next year's seed."

"That's why I'm ordering these Pioneer® brand hybrids."

Here's the right hybrid for eastern Cornbelt farmers. It has lots of high-yield punch. And at harvest 3535 shells out load after load of medium hard textured, high test-weight grain. It's a real winner under stress of heat, drouth and high population. 3535 is bred to take a lot of punishment and come out on top. This means more corn for you... more money per acre.

3382

Many claims are made about seed corn. Some are sold on promises. But 3382 is sold on tried-and-true yield performance. This new breed of hybrid has proven big-yield potential under modern farming practices. High population and well-fertilized soil really unleash the genetic potential in 3382. It dries fast. Standability is excellent. You'll get your money's worth. Try it.

3184

This hybrid just won't quit when it comes to stalk strength and high yields. There's nothing better than this firmly established leader hybrid in its maturity zone. Farmers really like it around here. It's adaptable to most any soil type or farming practice. 3184 takes drouth and stress. Make sure you include this outstanding hybrid in your planting plans. It's a winner.

Royal Charolais sweeps KILE championships

BY SHEILA MILLER

HARRISBURG — The Royal Charolais showstring swung up to the Keystone International Livestock Exposition on their way home from the Eastern National Livestock Exposition in Timonium, Maryland and swept the Charolais Open Breeding Cattle Show.

Royal's national champion female, RCC Royal R Temptress 2927, captured the grand champion female trophy in competition at KILE after being tagged the senior champion female. This win is the sixth straight victory for the unbeaten female in 1980, according to herdsman Bret Walters.

According to Walters, the champion heifer will be turned out to pasture in 1981, retiring from the grueling showroad lifestyle. She is bred to Expectation and is due to calve the latter part of April.

Keeping the national champion company on the tie out were other Royal champions.

RCC Royal Lady 2830 stood second to the champion heifer in their class of spring yearlings and was later tagged reserve senior champion and reserve grand by Judge A. L. Eller, Jr. The reserve champion heifer is a daughter of SHF Sir Royal Sam 1st.

Royal Charolais also captured the junior champion and reserve champion titiles with RCC Royal Temptree 3076 and RCC Royal Temptress 3056, respectively. Both of the females were senior heifer calves.

Royal not only dominated the female Charolais show, they also proved that their Westmoreland County farm has the bull power too.

RCC Mr. Expectation 2874, sired by HCR Expectation 269, topped the show and was slapped the grand champion Charolais bull at KILE. The spring yearling bull took the blue in his class and was slapped as junior champion before moving up to take the grand champion's spot.

Royal Charolais Co., Kenwood Farms and Barton Charolais Ranches exhibited the reserve grand champion bull. The summer yearling bull, sired by RCC Royal Standout, stood as reserve junior champion.

One more of Royal's Expectation get took championship honors in the Charolais bull competition. RCC Mr. Expectation 3123, a senior bull calf, received the calf champion rosette.

Royal completed their clean sweep at KILE by taking first place ribbons in the group classes and received the premier breeder and exhibitor awards.

According to Walters, Royal Charolais ususally shows at seven to eight major events each year. Although the herdsman has been with Royal only since the beginning of the year, he said he believes Royal has been showing at KILE ever since they've been in the business.

Owned by Logan Dickerson, the 1980 president of the National Charolais Association, Royal Charolais Co. is located near Greensburg. Approximately 350 brood cows roam the 1300 acres the Charolais farm encompasses.

Walters, who comes to Royal from Michigan, boasts of the winning operation.

"Royal either owned and exhibited or bred and co-owned all of the champion bulls at the six major shows held in 1980 to date. Just this past winter we had a record sale of bulls where we sold 30 head, averaging $3097 a piece."

Their latest victory at KILE reinforces the fact that Royal Charolais remains king of the competition.

★ LESS BIRD STRESS

The system has been designed for bird comfort!
Each bird has her place at the feed trough. Each has easy access to water. Obstruction to light and the flow of air have been greatly reduced, providing more uniform ventilation and lighting for every bird. Combined with Chore-Time's automatically controlled air inletting system, you get a layer house environment designed for bird comfort and the resulting better production.

★ MINIMIZES FEED WASTE

Not only the physical shape of the feed trough, but the operation of the feeder has been engineered to reduce feed waste. The trough shape cuts down on feed loss from "raking" and "billing," while the feeder has been specifically designed for Chore-Time's programmed and performance feeding concept.

ATTENTION FARMERS! ADVANCED AG SYSTEMS INTRODUCES CIRCLE STEEL BUILDINGS

DO YOU REALLY NEED A STORAGE BUILDING THIS GOOD?

If you could afford a new building every 10 years, a Circle Steel building wouldn't be necessary. But most farmers make an investment in a building that will last longer than 10 years...many are investing in Circle Steel to get that longer life with less yearly maintenance.

If you want long-term return on your building investment, make it a Circle Steel...from

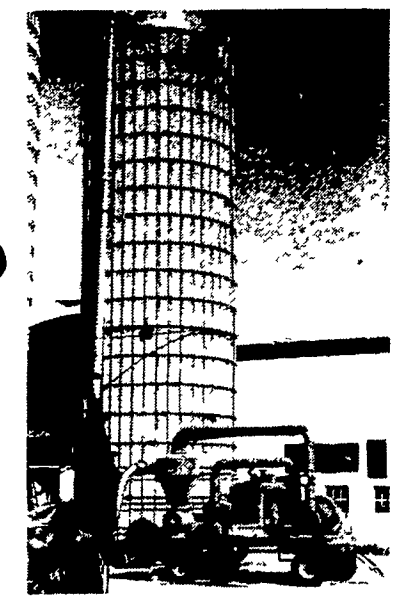
AIR/LEG GRAIN CONVEYORS



- Portable
- Safer
- Less Labor
- Save Money

Why spend thousands of dollars on installing a leg and auger system for grain handling, when a Neuero pneumatic conveying system will do the job far easier and for a lot less money?
In addition, a Neuero System is more gentle on your grain . reducing breakage dramatically over augers and legs You also gain versatility with a Neuero System because it's portable . move it anywhere, as opposed to fixed-location legs and augers.
Get out of the dust save your health with a Neuero System!
Let us show you the many advantages of our wide selection of PTO or self-powered models Contact us this week for full details

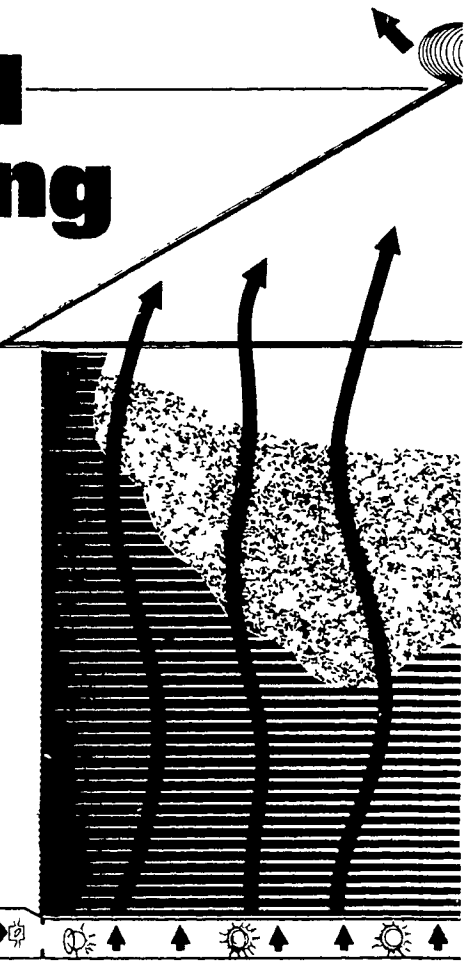
CENTRAL CONTROL

GREG ESHELMAN
Mohnton, PA



I really couldn't be more satisfied First of all I like the efficiency at harvest. With just two of us working, the entire harvest was non-stop

Then the 5¢ per bushel curing cost even included power for installation and our night light.

My buyer was quite impressed with my corn Test weight was from 57 to 58 lbs That means I got an extra $300 per 25 ton truck load Even the drivers commented on the good quality

I'm an Ag Engineering student at Penn State, and we do a lot of work with drying systems Out of curiosity I ran the Harvestall design through our computers and found that, for the most important aspect of drying air flow, the Harvestall bin is the optimum design

Actually, the Harvestall is the most profitable part of my operation With better marketing control I make an extra dollar per bushel For the farmer who needs storage or drying, the Harvestall Chillcuring system is the best investment I can think of

The Harvestall Chillcuring System

It's simple When grain comes out of the field it's a living seed So instead of destroying the seed with high heat, moisture is removed with natural air ventilation The grain keeps all its feed value, there is less shrinkage than with heat drying because only moisture is removed, not dry matter You'll never see white dust in Chillcured corn You actually save half of what you're used to losing in heat shrink.

There's no gas or oil to buy Natural air carries away heat and moisture as the corn releases it

Harvestall Chillcuring is a back-to-basics system that just simply makes good sense Find out more about it

Pa. Juniors show champs in cattle competition

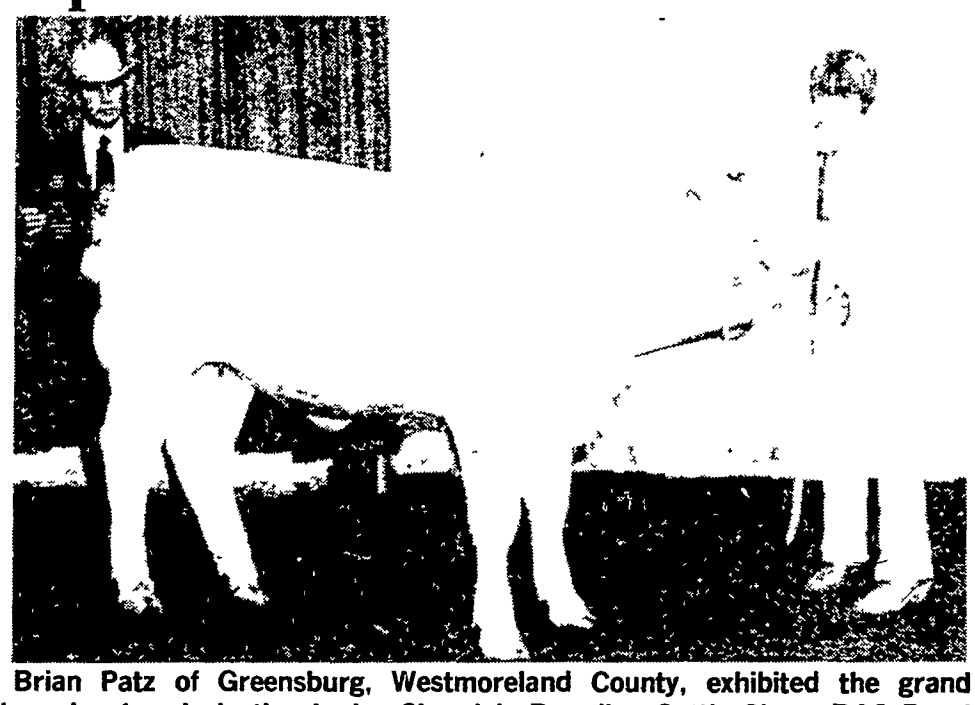
In the Breeding Cattle Show, Brian Patz of Greensburg, Westmoreland County, showed the grand champion female of the Junior Charolais Show. His winning entry, RCC Royal Temptress 2950 was a summer yearling, calved May-June 1979.

Elizabeth Mullinix, of Woodbine, Maryland, captured the Junior Polled Hereford championship with her heifer, SBF Miss Joggess 325. Judge A. L. Eller, Jr. of Blacksburg, Virginia, selected the late junior yearling, the current Maryland Junior champion, over the New Jersey champ by Barbara Ann Metch of Flemington and the Pennsylvania champ shown by Randall Becker, Dover. All three were in the same class.



Brian Patz of Greensburg, Westmoreland County, exhibited the grand champion female in the Junior Charolais Breeding Cattle Show. RCC Royal Temptress 2905 was the first place heifer in her summer yearling class. She is sired by HCR Expectation 269, out of RCC Royal Victoria 1604.

Showing the reserve grand champion Charolais female was Douglas A. Smith of Lore City, Ohio. His spring yearling entry was We Lady Emilia.

Jeffrey A. Smith, also of Lore City, captured the junior champion female title with JAS Miss Heidi.

In the Junior Angus Show, Twila Doran of New Albany, Ohio, showed Pride Parade M 57L to the top spot, taking champion heifer with her early summer yearling heifer.

B V Pinkie Pride 49, an April junior yearling heifer, won the reserve champion Angus heifer award for Christine Shive of Seven Valleys, York County.

Virginia entries dominated the Junior Shorthorn Show.

Brad Douthit of Orange, Virginia, exhibited the champion Shorthorn heifer, a late spring yearling named Windholme Magnolia 319. Jay Douthit, also of Orange, took the reserve Shorthorn champion heifer with his early spring yearling, Windholme Frontine 239.

The best female owned and bred by the exhibitor of the Junior Shorthorn Show was shown by David McElhaney of Hookstown, Beaver County.

Maryland and New Jersey split the Junior Polled Hereford championships.

Elizabeth Mullinix of Woodbine, Maryland, topped the show with SBF Miss Joggess 325, a late junior yearling heifer entry.

Taking the reserve champion heifer spot was HHF Miss Trustee 341, the second place late junior yearling heifer exhibited by Barbara Ann Metch of Flemington, New Jersey.

In the Junior Hereford competition, Elizabeth Mullinex captured the champion heifer title with BLR Dominette A153, a spring yearling heifer entry.

Helen Molitor of Fayetteville, Ohio, captured the reserve champion steer of the Junior show title with her first place heavyweight steer entry, 1165-1215 pounds. Molitor's steer was tagged reserve grand champion of the KILE steer competition.

Chester Countian Sheila Fairbairn of West Chester captured the champion lightweight steer title with her crossbred entry. Reserve champion lightweight steer was shown by Emily Livingston of Dover, York County.

In the middleweight division, Ricki Seese of Indian Head, Fayette County, showed the champion steer. Reserve champion middleweight steer was shown by Joel Park of Fostoria, Ohio.

Other Pennsylvanians placing first in their class include: Becky Webster of Halifax, Dauphin County, in the lightweight division and Wayne Hess of Conestoga, Lancaster County, in the mediumweight division.

Lawrie competes in engineering event

RICHMOND, VA. - One 4-H'er represented Chester County in the 30th annual Eastern U.S. 4-H Engineering Event, here Sept. 22-24. Winning in the tractor division from the county was Doug Lawrie, 17, of R3 Oxford.

Doug's final placing was 14th place out of a field of more than 70 other 4-H'ers from 22 states.

The Pennsylvania group was accompanied to Richmond by James Garthe, Penn State University, State College.

Lawrie, the son of Edward and Jean Lawrie and a 4-H'er for two years received driving practice by helping operate tractors on his family's dairy farm, and through his local 4-H project training groups.

Amoco Foundation, Inc., sponsor of the national 4-H petroleum power program, donated awards in the tractor events.

Tractor operators participated in both two-wheel and four-wheel driving events. They also underwent an extensive writen examination on maintenance, safety, and knowledge of tractor operation prior to the driving events.

During their stay in Virginia, 4-H'ers and their chaperons toured Colonial Williamsburg. Winners were honored at an awards banquet September 24 before returning home.

The Eastern Engineering Event was conducted in conjunction with the State Fair of Virginia.

Fed's Volcker to address Farm Bureau convention

PARK RIDGE, Ill. — Paul A. Volcker, chairman of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System, will be a principal speaker at the 62nd annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Robert B. Delano, AFBF president announced here Monday.

The meeting will be in New Orleans January 11 to 15, 1981 with an expected 6000 farmers and ranchers in attendance. Volcker will address the delegates in a general session at the Louisiana Superdome the morning of January 12, Delano said.

Volcker, a native of New Jersey, has been chairman of the Federal Reserve System board since August 6, 1979, at which time he automatically also became chairman of the Federal Open Market Committee and a member of the National Advisory Council on International Monetary and Financial Policies.

Before his appointment to the Federal Reserve System, Volcker spent four years as president and chief executive officer of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Positions Volcker has held during his career include Under Secretary of the Treasury for Monetary Affairs, director of analysis for the U.S. Treasury and vice president and financial economist at Chase Manhattan Bank. Volcker will hold a news conference following his address.

Delano said the Farm Bureau meeting will get underway with a vesper service the evening of Sunday, January 11. Activities Monday and Tuesday include general sessions, commodity and special interest conferences, Young Farmers and Ranchers "discussion meet."

Business sessions at which policy decisions will be made by voting delegates are scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, January 14-15.

A highlight of the meeting will be the AFBF annual recognition and awards program the evening of January 13 featuring Pete Fountain and his jazz band in a Mardi Gras spectacular.

Lancaster to hold cattle feeders' tour

LANCASTER — Reservations are needed by this coming Friday, October 17, for the Lancaster County cattle feeders' tour.

The tour is scheduled for Tuesday, October 21, and is open to all cattlemen and farm business representatives.

A fee of $5 per person must be paid when the reservations are made.

There is room for 94 people on the trip. Reservations will be made on a first come, first served basis.

The tour will leave from the Farm and Home Center in Lancaster at 7:30 a.m.

Included on the adjenda is a stop at the Moyer Packing Plant in Souderton, where farmers will see the new slaughter plant.

Also on the trip plan are a stop at the Harry Eyrich farm, Oley; and at the Robert Heffner feedlot, Fleetwood.

Eyrich has 800 head of steers under roof and currently is in the process of harvesting 1000 acres of corn for the herd.

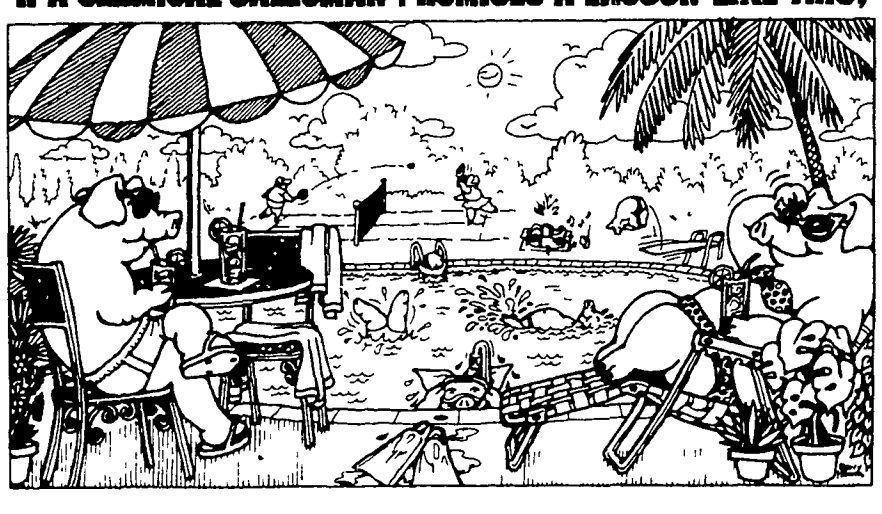
His Berks County neighbor has 400 head of cattle. He has a central feed center for four farms. About 600 acres of corn are grown at the Heffner operation.

Tour members can plan on being back at the Farm and Home Center between 5:30 and 6 p.m.

ARE YOU HAVING PROBLEMS WITH SOLIDS AND ODORS IN YOUR MANURE PIT?

Try Micro-Life — It's Not A Chemical!

IF A CHEMICAL SALESMAN PROMISES A LAGOON LIKE THIS,



HE'S FULL OF HOGWASH.

CHEMICALS ARE ONLY A TEMPORARY SOLUTION TO A LONG-TERM PROBLEM
No matter how many chemicals you try no matter how many high pressure sales pitches you put up with you won't end up with hog heaven Because chemicals wear out quickly They can't break up solids and lower odors on a long term basis And besides all that they're very very expensive considering how little they do

OUR HOG DIVISION HAS AN ALTERNATIVE TO CHEMICALS AN ALTERNATIVE THAT WORKS THE WAY NATURE DOES
We have a healthy live red purple bacteria culture (not an enzyme!) that loves what you and your hogs don't It thrives and grows in numbers breaking down solids into a harmless fertilizer slurry that's 1½ times the normal strength While it controls those offensive odors And it does it all with a simple program A program that many agriculture editorials have praised And that literally thousands of agri businessmen like you swear by If you want the names of those in your area we'll be glad to supply them You see our customers are our sales force That's because our product works And they'll tell you so

"Gwenini," originally chosen as 4-H light-heavy weight champion and 4-H overall champion is a 1115 pound crossbred Chianina-Angus. Gini's father had purchased the champion from Glenn Ebony, an area farmer.

This was Gini's first year in competition, so the Grand Champion award came as quite a surprise to her.

"I was really scared," Gini said. "I can't believe I won my first time here."

Gini, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay R. Nissley, Manheim, is a member of the Red Rose Beef and Sheep Club and is also a fifth grader at White Oak Elementary School.

The Nissley family is truly experienced in the show ring; Gini's brothers, Phil and Ed, were some of her competition at the show. Ed won the reserve champion title for FFA.

Barry Geib captured the reserve champion honors with his Limousin hereford. Barry bought "Fred" at the Adams County Calf Sale.

This also marked Barry's third year of showing the FFA champion steer.

Barry, who has been in FFA for four years, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Geib of R4 Manheim.

Sarah Brubaker, Harrisburg Pike, won the reserve champion title for 4-H. She has been a member of the Red Rose 4-H Club for nine years.

Judge Gary Dean, Strasburg, said, "This was a hard decision to make because all these kids did a real fine job and deserve a lot of credit."

Dean, who works at Farm Credit service, operates a part-time farm with his father, William Dean.

There were a total of 6 FFA contestants and 25 4-H'ers participating in the show.

The evening was brought to a close with the announcement of Showmanship awards. The junior class went to Jan Waltz and the senior class to Sarah Brubaker.—DK

Franklin Farmers Union to meet next Monday

CHAMBERSBURG — A mandatory statewide milk referendum and the proposed 1981 National Farm Bill are on the minds of Franklin County farmers. So the Franklin County Farmers Union will hold an open forum for its members and the general public to discuss these issues.

The Farmers Union policy meeting is slated for October 20, at 7 p.m. in the Lighthouse Restaurant, just north of Chambersburg on Route 11.

In announcing the meeting, county Farmers Union President Barbara Woods said of the milk referendum idea, "All indications lead us to believe the proposed referendum will not coincide with Farmers Union policy. Our meeting will provide an opportunity for dairymen of Franklin County to discuss how they feel about a mandatory dairy advertising program."

The Pennsylvania Farmers Union is participating on the PDA committee drafting the referendum, and wants input from farmers. Woods said the Farmers Union wants to keep its members and the general public informed about the possible referendum.

Woods also is a delegate to a December 8 mini-convention of the National Farmers Union in Des Moines, Iowa, where representatives from all over the country will debate and adopt Farmers Union recommendations for the 1981 National Farm Bill. Farmers have the opportunity to present their suggestions for the farm bill at the October 20th meeting.

All members of the Farmers Union and the public are invited to attend the meeting. However, only current Franklin County Farmers Union members will be eligible to vote on county policy recommendations.

Funds available for energy measures

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Department of Agriculture will allocate 60 percent of its very-low-income home repair loan funds for energy conservation and weatherization uses, Assistant Secretary Alex Mercure said Tuesday.

USDA's rural credit agency, Farmers Home Administration, has a fiscal 1980 allocation of $14.4 million in home repair funds for the poor, as part of its regular rural housing program.

"Low-income housing is a major source of energy waste. Since there is very little federal money available for repair of low-income housing in government programs, this action should help bring more federal dollars where they are desperately needed," Mercure said.

FmHA's 46 state directors will work with other organizations which have home weatherization programs and conduct outreach programs to locate and inform low-income rural residents of FmHA's program.

The home repair program is one of several steps that have been taken recently by FmHA to promote conservation of petroleum and natural gas. The changes affect portions of all of FmHA's major program areas. These areas include farm, housing, community facility and business and industrial programs.

"All FmHA programs have some indirect impact on energy usage, while most programs have a direct impact in rural areas," Mercure said.

"For example, the location of community facilities financed through FmHA will have a direct bearing on the transportation energy demands in a community. In the farm sector the increasing costs of fuel threatens the economic stability of the American farmer."

Pork producers to sponsor World Series baseball

LANCASTER — For the first time ever, pork producers will be hitting a home run this year's World Series as the National Pork Producers Council sponsors two commercials per game.

On October 14, CBS and its 360 affiliate radio stations around the country will begin exclusive coverage of the Series. This extensive coverage will allow pork producers to reach a large audience very economically. In fact, NPPC will reach its audience for 33 cents per thousand viewers, or one penny to reach over 300 people.

The minimum buy for the Series is two commercials for each of the first four games. If the Series continues longer than four games, pork producers' will continue to have two commerials per game, but at no additional cost.

"This is the best time of the year to promote pork," said Russ Sanders NPPC Director of Promotion, "and we have one of the best possible audiences and an exciting event to carry our message. It is just an ideal situation to reach a large number of consumers very economically."

In a seven game Series the pork producers' message will reach 48 million people an average of 4.5 times. Of significant interest is the fact that almost 40 percent of the Series audience will be women who make the pork buying decisions.

To further add impact to this campaign, NPPC has asked state organizations to contact their local CBS station to buy spots in the same coverage, greatly multiplying the number of times the producers' message of pork quality and nutrition is heard.

Each 60 second commercial contains information on pork's nutritional qualities, fat content, and cholesterol level as they compare to other foods such as fish. Consumers are also informed of the selection of pork cuts available from their local retailer, such as chops, roasts, steaks, hams, and more.

N.J. to hold baby beef sale

FLEMINGTON, N.J. — Are you looking for top-quality, selected beef? If so, be sure to come to the State 4-H Baby Beef Show and Sale, to be held at the Flemington Fairgrounds on October 14 & 15. Over 60 of the 120 animals entered will be shown by Hunterdon County 4-H Beef Club members. The animals will be judged on Tuesday morning, October 14, 10:30 a.m. Animals which are considered to have the best quality of grade prime or choice meat, will be sold at the sale on Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 p.m. The public is invited to take part, businesses and individuals alike.

There will be free admission to the show and sale. Spectators and prospective buyers may inspect the animals anytime on Tuesday and Wednesday before the Sale.

This beef is tops for the freezer. Arrangements may be made at sale time for slaughtering and home freezer packaging.

For further information, write to Donald M. Kniffen, Sr., Associate Specialist in Animal Sciences, Cook College, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, New Jersey 08903 or call him at 932-9514.

PLA chooses Younkin Man of the Year

BY DEBBIE KOONTZ

CAMP HILL — Dwight E. Younkin was chosen as Livestock Man of the Year for 1980 at the annual Pennsylvania Livestock Association banquet, Saturday, October 4.

Younkin, who has served as Director of the PLA for over 20 years, was unable to attend the banquet due to recent hospitalization. His son, Bruce, received the award for him and described himself as "very proud" of his father.

Dwight Younkin

Other highlights of the evening, which began with a delicious Dutch treat reception, were award presentations to the 4-H'er of the Year, Diane Krauss; the FFA'er of the Year, Daryl Beiler; and the designation of new directors.

Guest speaker for the evening was Barry L. Flinchbaugh, Assistant to the President and Associate Professor of Agricultural Economics at the Kansas State University.

"It's no longer sufficient to be efficient," Flinchbaugh told members of the PLA as he offered what he termed "an analysis of the decade ahead by an agricultural economist."

Flinchbaugh gave his "food for thought" after the announcement of the awards to the three people announcer Max Smith described as "very deserving in every way."

The new Man of the Year has been the advisor and promoter of the Pennsylvania Pork Producers Council. He helped produce a slide presentation on swine housing ventilation, building insulation, and heating which won first prize at the National Agricultural Engineering Society Meeting.

He was honored in 1980 by this Council for his service to the swine industry of Pennsylvania.

Younkin, a native of Somerset, is married to Frances and has two children; a son Bruce and a daughter, Jean, both of State College.

Younkin obtained a bachelor's degree in animal husbandry in 1951 and a master's degree in livestock management in 1953. Both degrees came from Penn State.

Upon graduation in 1953, he joined the Livestock Extension Staff at Penn State to work in Swine Extension and has served in that capacity for 27 years. He is currently chairman of the Livestock Extension Section.

This year's winner for title of 4-H'er of the year is Diane Krause, of Lehigh County. Diane, the present Pennsylvania Angus Queen, will be studying animal science at Penn State.

Besides her title, Diane received a $100 check.

Diane, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Krause of Slatington, has been in 4-H for nine years.

FFA'er of the year is Daryl Beiler, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elam W. Beiler of Mifflinburg, Union County.

Daryl's present self-owned farming program includes 630 market hogs. He is working presently toward expansion twice this size.

Last year, Daryl served as state Vice President of the Pennsylvania Association of the Future Farmers of America. He served as treasurer of his local chapter and is a member of the Pennsylvania Young Farmers Association.

Daryl received a plaque and a check for $100.

Also announced during the evening were the new directors of the PLA. They are: John J. Hess II, Eugene Wingert, Connie Grove and Lowell Wilson.

Daryl Beiler, Mifflinburg, was named FFA'er of the Year at the banquet. He is presented with a plaque by Dr. Everett Denlinger, president of the association.

Diane Krause, receives the title of 4-H'er of the Year along with a plaque presented by Dr. Denlinger.

Vet wins award for dairy disease work

TYRONE — Dr. David Morrow, a native of Tyrone, Pennsylvania, was selected recently by the American Veterinary Medical Association to receive the Borden Award. This national award was presented in appreciation of his outstanding research contributions to dairy cattle disease control.

Dr. Morrow graduated from Penn State in 1956 in Dairy Science where he received the Mr. Agriculture award presented to the outstanding senior in the college of Agriculture.

He received his Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree from Cornell University in 1960, and Ph.D. degree in cattle reproduction in 1967.

In 1968, Dr. Morrow joined the faculty of the college of Veterinary Medicine at Michigan State University where he is currently involved in research, clinical teaching, and extension programs designed to improve reproduction in cattle.

Throughout his career, Dr. Morrow has been active in research directed toward improving fertility and preventing disease in cattle. He was a pioneer in the implementation of Herd Health Programs for cattle.

Dr. Morrow's work has been reported in over 115 scientific publications. He is a frequent participant in scientific and continuing education programs on cattle reproduction and Herd Health for veterinarians and livestock owners in the United States and in several foreign countries.

He is a charter diplomate of the American College of Theriogeneologists and editor of Current Therapy in Theriogenology, published in 1980. This book is designed to provide veterinarians and students with a concise source of current information on the diagnosis, treatment and prevention of reproductive diseases in animals.

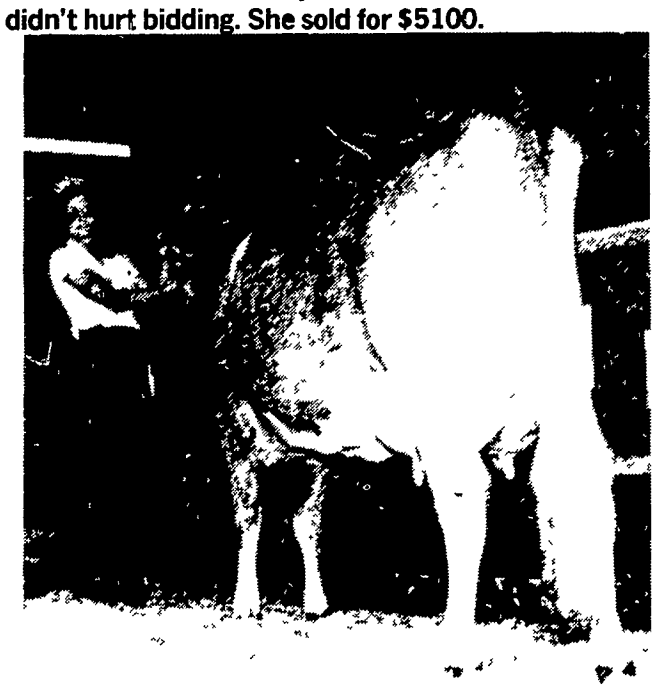
Maplevale Choice Cora, bred and consigned by Jeffrey L. Harding at the halter, sold for $3500. She had records of 16,578 milk and 734 pounds fat.

England Farms H Mill, with consignor Scott Wolff, Quarryville, at the halter, was the top selling female in the State Guernsey sale. She was due to calf November 10, a fact which didn't hurt bidding. She sold for $5100.

Green Manor Mavis Legend, a bull calf born April 27, 1980 topped Thursday's 55th Renewal and State Guernsey Sale at $10,000. He is surrounded by previous owners John D. Myers and Marvin Q. Sanner, representatives of Curtiss Breeding who made the winning bid, and members of a Pennsylvania syndicate of dairymen which was contending bidder.



National Guernsey Queen Millie Linde showed Lindenhof M Choice Shenka, bred by the Linde family, and sold for $2900 to Guernsey Association President Joseph Fava and his brother Louis.

Massachusetts shows this year.

She sold for $4600 to George Renkert, R1 Douglassville, Pa.

Next high was Chedco T H Honey, a heifer bred to Chedco Petals Prince and due February 21, 1981. She sold to Dungan for $4200. Honey was bred and consigned by C.E. Cotting, Chedco Farm, Berlin, Mass.

Dungan also purchased the next high animal, Golden Dew Topcats Lou. He paid $3700 for the cow who was bred by Rober Griggs, Mustang, Oklaholma and consigned by Elesabeth I. Gillet, Taneytown, Md.

Also commanding a good price was Maplevale Choice Cora, bred and consigned by Jeffrey L. Harding, R4 Brookville. She sold to an Ohio purchaser for $3500.

Lindenhoff M Choice Shenka, bred by K.D. and Else Linde, R1 Oxford, and consigned by their daughter Mildred, sold for $2900 to Guernsey Association President Joseph Fava and his brother Louis.

Right behind Shenka, at $2800, was Applebrook Fayvors Petunia, bred by Kimberly M. Brown, Oxford, and consigned by the John Worthington Estate, Bel Air, Md.

Petunia went to Missouri.

In all, 36 head, including one calf, were auctioned at the State Sale.

The sale, started in 1926, is the oldest continuous sale of any breed in the United States.—CH

Bred ewe sale grosses over $30 grand

HARRISBURG — Over $30,000 was grossed from four bred ewe sales held in conjunction with the 24th Keystone International Livestock Exposition at the Farm Show Complex.

Twenty-two Suffolk ewes averaged $487.73 for a total of $10,730.

The top ewe, which was the reserve champion of the Suffolk bred ewe class, sold for $800 to Debart Max, Milton, Northumberland County. The ewe was consigned by Old Trail Farms of Frostoria, Ohio.

Lynn Laudenslager of Dalmatia, Northumberland County, purchased the second highest selling Suffolk ewe at $675. Timothy Hall of Farmdale, Ohio, consigned this ewe which was named champion of the Suffolk bred ewe show.

A total of 34 Hampshires ewes sold for $10,605 with an average of $311 each.

Two Hampshire bred ewes sold for $800 each. The first place bred ewe, consigned by Price Stock Farm of Westminster, Maryland, sold to Connie Richell of Monongahela, Washington County. The fourth place sale ewe, consigned by William Maghes of McConnellsville, Ohio, sold to Breezy Meadow Farm of Damascus, Wayne County.

Fifteen Dorset ewes sold for an average of $366, grossing $5480.

The top selling ewe, the third place ewe in her class, sold to Erdenheim Farm of Lafayette Hill, Montgomery County. The ewe was consigned by Steve Myers of Rushsylvania, Ohio, Erdenheim Farm also consigned the champion Dorset bred ewe which sold for $550 to Lewis Trexler of Germansville, Lehigh County.

The champion Hampshire sale ewe, consigned by Price Stock Farm, Westminster, MD, sold to Connie Richell of Monongahela, Washington County for $800.

Seventeen head of Shropshire bred ewes averaged $252 to a total of $4,290.

Fred W. Heaton of Versailles, Ohio, consigned the first place Shropshire bred ewe which sold for $500 to Wey Shropshires of Kutztown, Berks County. The second high selling ewe was consigned by Debbi D'Ambra of Skowhegan, Maine. The ewe was purchased by Wey Shropshires.

York Holstein Assn. to meet Friday

YORK — The York County Holstein Association will hold its annual meeting and banquet on Friday, October 17, at the Jacobus Fire Hall, beginning with a family-style dinner at 7 p.m.

John Morris, nationally-known dairy cattle judge and former Maryland collegiate dairy team judging coach, will be the featured speaker. Morris will speak on "Building a Foundation."

Special guests will include York County dairy princess Tina Neufeld, state association president John Cope and Holstein staffer Mike Weimer. A brief business meeting and election of three new directors will also be held.

Cost of the dinner is $6 for adults and $3 for 4-H and FFA members and children under 12.

Reservations are due October 13 to banquet chairmen Mr. and Mrs. Rodman Thompson of East Berlin.

time are HB 1793 and HB 1794, the right to farm and land use bills. Both have strong PFA support.

The passage of HB 1608 will, in addition to saving existing farm corporations money, open the door to formation of more family farm corporations.

Although there was a move to add some modifications into the bill, including one to help small businessmen, no ammendments were offered on the Senate floor.

The bill, when signed by the Governor, will become effective January 1981, so farmers can start to benefit with the beginning of the new calendar year.

For a family farm with a gross worth of $500,000 the elimination of the one percent capital stock tax will mean a tax savings of $5000 per year.

The new law also will make it more inviting for operations not now incorporated to go the corporate farm route.

A farm corporation can be much easier for a farmer to pass to the next generation than most other methods.

This help in estate planning may also have the effect of saving some farmland since heirs, who can accumulate stock over the years, will not be forced to sell off parcels of land to meet sudden burdens of inheritance tax payments.

There are some stipulations an operation must meet to qualify for the tax break.

First, 75 percent of the stock must be family held.

Also, the farm operation must derive at least 75 percent of its income from production agriculture. This eliminates mills or farm supply operations which happen to have a farm.

The new law will not include operations like horse farms which are in the business of producing racing or show stock.

But, Wenger points out, this will not affect most dairymen who show cattle since they get less than 25 percent of their income from showing cattle.

Pennsylvania remains one of the few states with a capital stock tax. But lawmakers have returned home for the election recess knowing they have saved family farms from a burden meant to be borne by large corporations.

Lawmakers will return after the election for a two to three week lame duck session.—CH

NEDCO-AMPI

any proposals before its board.

Both a joint venture and the possibility of a complete joining of organizations are being checked.

If a total joining of forces is the most workable option, that may happen, Anderson said, adding that if a joint venture were the most workable option that could happen, too.

Any deal by NEDCO would have to be placed before the delegate body of 250 representatives of the member co-ops and voted on by the directors. It would not require voting by individual members of each member co-op, but members probably would vote to tell their representatives what to say.

Neither NEDCO nor AMPI had any comment to make on the number of midwestern alliances being formed by northeastern co-ops. Eastern is trying to conclude a cheese deal with Leprino of Colorado and Dairylea and Mid-Am Co-op are expanding involvment in a mutual cheddar operation.

Anderson, admitting the northeast is a confused dairy market, said AMPI works in some active markets already so the competition was nothing new to them.

"Our effort is not to see how big we can get nor how many markets we can get into. We are looking at dairy farmers in the East and the mid-West. This probably is why NEDCO approached us," he said.

NEDCO said it has a lot of respect for AMPI but will make no move at all before it completes a careful analysis of the future.

AMPI has been touchy on the subject of expansions since a talk made by its general manager in which he made reference to further expansion of what already is the nation's largest dairy co-op.

AMPI was quick to point out it is not trying to jump from coast to coast nor to take over in the northeast. AMPI said it is simply trying to continue logical and economic growth.

While it could be interesting to know just who winked at the other first, the fact remains that a spark has been kindled.

Whether it continues to burn depends on what can be worked out between NEDCO and AMPI representatives.

Sludge forum set

HERSHEY — Interested in applying sewage sludge to cropland?

On October 22, the latest techinques in application of sludge to agricultural land will be demonstrated at a forum here at Camp Milton, beginning at 9 a.m.

Sponsored by the Dauphin County Conservation District, the Pennsylvania State Cooperative Extension Service and Capitol Equipment, the forum will feature various speakers and a demonstration of a sludge applicator designed to inject semi-solid and dry sludge, papermill waste, packing house refuse and other materials.

"In the era of waste management, this technique provides a most useable solution for landowners and townships while providing various nutrients to the soil horizon," commented Paul Swartz, Executive Assistant for the District.

Deadline for registration is October 10. For more information, contact the Dauphin County Conservation District at 717/652-7048.

Eastern Nat'l announces winners

TIMONIUM, MD — A 4-H Club livestock judging team from Minnesota and a similar team from the University of Illinois won first place awards in separate judging contests at the 34th Eastern National Livestock Show held here September 26 - October 1.

The Minnesota team, coached by Ron Harder, scored 2,433 out of a possible 2,700 points to win over nine other teams in the 4-H Club/Future Farmers of America competition.

In the collegiate livestock judging event, the team from the University of Illinois, coached by Doug Parrett, scored 4,537 out of a possible 5,000 points.

In both contests, team members had to individually judge live cattle, sheep and swine and give oral reasons for their placings. Their trophies and ribbons were presented October 2 at an awards breakfast hosted by Farm Credit Banks of Baltimore.

Their closest competition came from the Ohio 4-H Club which scored 2,403 points. The 4-H team from Maryland was third with 2,391 points.

Other team placings in the 4-H/FFA competition were: North Carolina, fourth; Virginia, fifth; Georgia, sixth; Pennsylvania, seventh; Kentucky, eighth; Connecticut, ninth; and Delaware, tenth.

Leroy Billman, a member of the Ohio 4-H Club team, scored the highest of any individual in the event with 822 out of a possible 900 points.

Dan Kieswetter of the Illinois team, scored the highest of any individual in the event with 937 out of a possible 1,000 points.

The second place team in the collegiate judging contest was Ohio State University with 4,513 points and Michigan State University was third with 4,510 points.

Fourth through tenth place in the collegiate event went to the University of Georgia, Purdue University, Penn State University, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, West Virginia University, University of Connecticut and Delaware Valley University.

Register now for Century Farms

LANCASTER — Applications are due for farms wishing to participate in the Century Farms program.

The Century Farms Program, administered by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture will be continued through 1980.

The Century Farms Program is aimed at recognizing the efforts of Pennsylvania's farm families which have preserved the traditions and the rural heritage of the pioneer farm

Century Farms, recognized with a marker, must have been owned by the same family member for the last 100 years, and a family member must presently live on the land. Also the farm must have at least 10 acres of the original holdings or gross at least $1000 a year from the sale of agricultural products.

Applications are available at the Lancaster County Extension Office on Arcadia Road (717/394-6851) or by writing Century Farms Program, Century Farms Program, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Room 201, 2301 N. New law consolidates farm disaster programs

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland said Tuesday the signing by President Carter of the "Federal Crop Insurance Act of 1980" will make available an "all-risk" type of crop insurance on virtually all major crops in all major crop producing areas in the country.

He called the bill a "first step in consolidation of many conflicting federal farm disaster assistance programs" and announced "a systematic expansion program at the rate of an additional 250 counties a year for the next five years in order to permit rapid but orderly extension of insurance coverage to farmers."

Bergland said, "I have long advocated a sound, actuarially-based insurance program as preferable to the many ad hoc programs now assisting our farm producers. These programs deliver too little money, to too few farmers, and usually too late to be of maximum benefit.

"After three years of hard negotiations, we've been able to produce a partnership arrangement among the federal government, the farmer and the private insurance industry in this bill."

The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation of the U.S. Department of Agriculture for more than 42 years has administered an "all-risk" insurance and now is establishing a local delivery system that will permit farmers to select either a federal or private insurance agent to service the new all-risk insurance plan, effective for the 1981 crop year.

"This partnership will eliminate some of the problems of the old crop insurance law and permit easy access and servicing for farmer policyholders at the local level where it really counts," said Bergland.

The new law also extends for one year the low-yield disaster payments program administered by the USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Farmers will be eligible to participate in both programs for the 1981 crop year, but will not be able to receive duplicate subsidies.

"In order to retain full eligibility for disaster payments, farmers will have to pay the full cost of their federal crop insurance this first year," said Bergland, or "they may waive disaster program benefits and receive a subsidy of 30 percent of their FCIC premiums up to a maximum of 65 percent of their average yield for an extended period of years. These options apply only to crops eligible for disaster payments, including upland cotton, sorghum, barley, corn, wheat and rice."

Only the disaster crops have these limitations, he added.

FCIC officials said farmers will receive official notification by letter of their options for these programs and will be asked to make a choice shortly after planting.

Farmers will be offered an option of three levels of coverage levels and three price elections to cover production losses, said FCIC officials. Coverage levels will be 50, 65 and 75 percent of average yield as determined for a representative period of years. At least one of the price levels will approximate the market price for the commodity as projected by FCIC in advance.

"These program improvements, together with the availability of the program on a much wider scale, will provide the most complete disaster protection package to farmers available anywhere," Bergland said. "And the new insurance plan will build upon the actuarially sound insurance principles already in the present FCI program."

Complete program details and announcement of new counties for the 1981 crop year will be published as soon as a new FCIC board of directors is appointed, as required by the legislation, the secretary said.

45 lambs sell at 4-H sale

BY LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Staff Correspondent

LEESPORT — A 115 pound Hampshire wether shown by Valerie Ernst, R6 Sinking Spring, was named to Grand Champion honors during the Berks County 4-H Market Lamb Sale, held last week at the Leesport Market and Auction, here.

Valerie is the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ernst, and a ninth grade student at Wilson High School. Having shown lambs for six years, she was very happy to win the championship for the first time at this event.

Reserve Grand Champion was awarded to a 110 pound wether, also a Hampshire, shown by Fred Bube, Jr., Robesonia. Fred is a sixth grade student of Conrad Weiser School District. Buyer of these lambs was Rodney Muthard Meats, Temple. Prices paid were $3.00 per pound for the champion and $2.00 per pound for the reserve champion.

Judging the event in which 45 lambs shown by 28 4-H'ers were entered, was Claire Engle, Penn State University. Average price per pound paid for the lambs was 77 cents, excluding the Champion and Reserve animals. Following are the complete results of the show:

Reserve champion was a 110 pound lamb shown by Fred Bube Jr., Robesonia. The buyer, Rodney Muthard, purchased the lamb at $2 per pound.

Penn State renews China ties

UNIVERSITY PARK — James M. Beattie, Dean of the College of Agriculture, announced last Friday that Penn State has signed an agreement with the Office of International Development of the U.S. Department of Agriculture providing $107,000 in support of cooperative research between South China Agricultural College and the College of Agriculture at Penn State.

This agreement is actually a re-establishment of an exchange that began 73 years ago in 1907 when Penn State's in-China program was started. That program lasted 42 years until 1949 when the Communist revolution broke off all outside contacts.

Dean Beattie said that the project leadership from the College will be provided by Kenneth Goodwin, Head and Professor of Poultry Science; Ernest Bergman, Professor of Plant Nutrition; and David MacKenzie, Associate Professor of Plant Pathology.

It is anticipated that other faculty members of the College will also participate.

These projects will be coordinated through the Office of International Agricultural Programs headed by Robert McAlexander, assistant dean for international agricultural programs at Penn State.

This cooperative research program is the first major step in renewing the former linkage between Penn State and Lingnan University at Canton, the People's Republic of China. The College of Agriculture of that University has been moved to a new location in Canton and renamed South China Agricultural College.

Many of the previous faculty members at Lingnan University who worked closely with Professor G. Weidman Groff in the Penn State in China program, are presently administrators and faculty members at South China Agricultural College.

Puiman Lee, deputy dean and research director at South China Agricultural College, recently visited Penn State along with other members of an Agricultural Education Exchange Team from the People's Republic of China.

Dean Lee was associated with Professor Groff for approximately twelve years at Lingnan University and has taken leadership on the part of South China Agricultural College in re-establishment of the linkage with Penn State.

He will also be the coordinator of the research activity for his College.

Leon J. FIFRA extension approved, but veto provision added

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A Senate-House Conference Committee Tuesday approved a one year extension of the Federal pesticide regulatory program of the Environmental Protection Agency but provided for a congressional veto of any new regulations proposed under the program.

The legislation, which now goes to the House and Senate floors for final action, authorized continued funding of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act for the 1981 fiscal year that begins October 1. The bill contains a spending level of $77.5 million, including $13 million for research, development and related activities.

The conference committee approved a House provision giving Congress 90 days in which it could veto a proposed FIFRA rule or regulation by a vote of both Houses. But the provision was modified to permit an expedited review by the Federal courts to test the constitutionality of the Congressional veto principle.

Sen. Herman E. Talmadge (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry, offered the motion to accept the House's congressional veto provision, as modified by the judicial appeals procedure.

"Although questions have been raised about their constitutionality, Congress on several occasions has overwhelmingly approved legislative veto provisions," Talmadge said. "There is a strong feeling that legislative vetoes offer a good way to prevent the Federal bureaucrat from abusing their regulatory powers.

"However, because of the serious constitutional questions raised by legislative veto statutes, I also believe that it would benefit all concerned to obtain a definitive ruling from the Judiciary on the House provisions as soon as possible," Talmadge added. "There have already been too many long, drawn out lawsuits that have tied up the implementation of the pesticide law."

Under the legislation, EPA would be required to submit all proposed new FIFRA rules and regulations to Congress at the time they are promulgated. Congress then would have 90 days in which to veto any proposed rule or regulation by the adoption of a concurrent resolution by both Houses.

However ERA could put any rule or regulation into effect after 60 days if neither the House nor Senate had adopted a veto resolution and no committee or either House had acted favorably on such a resolution.

The Conference bill also contains a House provision authorizing the chairman of the FIFRA scientific advisory panel to create temporary sub-panels on specific projects. It also provides that scientists who are not members of the scientific advisory panel may serve on these special sub-panels.

Local bull to test for ABC stud

PEACH BOTTOM — Entering the Atlantic Breeders Cooperative young sire sampling program is Sukavin Apollo Chief, bred by Robert Kauffman, Jr., of Peach Bottom, Lancaster County. One of 40 Holstein bulls to enter Atlantic's program this year, he will be known as 15H375 Sukavin.

During sampling, he will be mated randomly to about 600 Holstein cows through artificial insemination service in members' herds. He will remain at Lancaster headquarters barns for the next four years as he continues to grow and await evaluation of his progeny.

If the results prove satisfactory, Sukavin will then see extensive service throughout the Cooperative's 11,000-member area and his semen may be marketed to other parts of the world.

The bloodlines in this young bull's pedigree are specially selected for Atlantic's breeding program. His dam is Sukavin Apollo Tina, a cow that has records up to 31,316 pounds of milk and 1126 pounds of butterfat in 365 days in Kauffman's herd.

Sukavin Apollo Chief

She is scored "Very Good" at 88 points in body conformation and her sire, 15H62 Hilltop Apollo Ivanhoe, was formerly at Atlantic. Tina's dam, a 15H96 Performer daughter, is also scored "Very Good" and has a record of 21,760M and 829F. A maternal sister to Sukavin is in Kauffman's herd and has an outstanding record of 26,898 pounds of milk at three years of age.

Sukavin's sire, 15H170 Vincent-View Molly Chief is also a former popular Atlantic sire that scored "Very Good" and received the Gold Medal Sire award in 1978 from the Holstein Association of America.

15H375 Sukavin is available to dairymen who call the Atlantic Breeders toll-free numbers, 717/569-0411, 800/732-0391, or 800/233-0216.

Switch fertilizer tanks to a Calumet liquid manure spreader with soil injector.

Livestock manure is valuable. So it makes sense to keep as much of that value in the ground as possible. A Calumet 2 or 4-shank soil injector does just that. Teamed with a Calumet liquid manure spreader, the injector puts manure as deep as 12 inches. This can help retain four times the nitrogen that's lost with surface application, as well as reduce odors and runoff.

ASCS programs viewed on Central Pa. farms

HARRISBURG — Officials of the State ASC Committee, recently toured farms in the Central Pennsylvania area to obtain views of farmers and governmental representatives on how to improve ASCS programs.

Participating in the tour were Louise Rinker, chairperson of the state committee; Committeeman Clayton Winebark, Indiana County, and Raymond Kerstetter, Snyder County; Carl L. Kauffman, Executive Director of ASCS; and program specialists and district directors.

The first stop was at the Gerald Holman farm, Perry County, where a sod waterway and stripcropping were installed. No-till and conventional tillage practices were used. Holman uses an "in-bin" grain dryer and bins for his grain operation.

A quick stop was made on the way to the next farm to observe a rye cover crop seeding in corn being made by helicopter on a farm operated by Charles Beaver. A modern "in-bin" dryer with automatic unloading set-up was seen plus strips, tile and diversions that were installed. Beaver uses the facility loan program, commodity loans and the grain reserve.

A large dairy operation was explained at the Delmar Brofee farm, where the tile practice and stripcropping are popular on 550 acres of cropland.

A drive-by was made at the Larry Beaver farm to see his grain drying equipment. Larry uses a continuous flow automatic dryer. This part of the tour was in a large grain-producing valley and several different grain drying systems were explained and observed.

The Juniata County Commissioners, and the Perry and Juniata Counties ASC Committees visited with the State Committee.

The next stop was at the Marvin Peoples Farm to see a manure pit, sod waterway and silo under facility loan.

The Phillip Koser Farm had stripcropping, a drop box and sod waterway installed.

The tour continued in Snyder County to the Neil Hornberger Farm to see an animal waste structure. From there the group observed a drop inlet and sod waterway at the Albert Apple Farm. The group assembled for dinner in South Williamsport with other agency personnel, farmers, committeemen and local officials present from Perry, Sullivan, Lycoming and Tioga Counties.

On the second day of the tour, the group stopped to see a sod waterway on the property line of Gantz and Swartz, Lycoming County. The next stop was on the Swartz Farm to see a spring development and drop inlet used to improve the use of pasture. Another sod waterway and diversion were being developed on this farm. Technicians from the Soil Conservation Service were thorough and explained each practice in detail.

In Sullivan County the first stop was at the William Frazier Farm to see an aerial rye cover practice. Drought-stricken corn was also noted here. Very few corn ears were noted on stalks.

James Middleton, aid to Congressman Raphael Musto, and Carmel Sirianni, State Representative for the 11th District, accompanied the tour in Sullivan County.

The Sullivan County Special ACP Project of timberstand improvement and conservation practices was explained by the Forester Glenn Erb, on the farms of John Harvey, Mike Klem, and John McMahon.

A stop was made at the John Young Farm where a diversion and stone lined waterway had been installed with tile as a component and seeded with birdsfoot trefoil.

The next stop at the Ronald Wilkens Farm showed improved pasture measures.

The last stop was at the Ralph Rohe Farm where a sod waterway and diversion management by using three drops inlets and a diversion terrace.

Arthur Rohe was in the midst of potato harvest and explained how a plan of diversion terraces had stopped a serious erosion problem on his farm.

The animal waste facility on the George Lambert Farm was designed for filling and emptying by gravity. Diversion terraces were in use here to prevent surface water from entering the animal waste. John George, District Conservationist of Soil Conservation Service, explained the construction of the various conservation

Manheim crowns farm show queen

MANHEIM — Vicki Shearer, a 17 year old senior at Manheim Central High School, was crowned the 1980 Manheim Farm Show Queen during ceremonies Monday night.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Shearer, Manheim R4, and lives on a dairy farm. Vicki was selected Farm Show queen by her classmates from among a field of three contestants.

She is active in student council, pep club and hockey.

Vicki Shearer, Manheim's 1980 Farm Show Queen, is crowned by Sheri Buchen, last year's queen.

The other two contestants were Chris Ebersole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Ebersole, Lititz R2, and Gail Graybill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clair J. Graybill, Manheim R5.

Wyoming County agent wins national award

TUNKHANNOCK — Robert Hobbes, Wyoming County Agent, has been working harder than usual recently, making sure there is a supply of trained people to fill agriculture positions of the future.

Because of Hobbes' efforts, and other agents like him, enrollment in the nation's agriculture colleges is on the rise.

As a result, Hobbes has been honored at the National Association of County Agricultural Agents dinner in Oklahoma City, as one of eight Career Guidance winners in 1980.

The award is earned by county agents who are best at originating and developing career guidance programs related to agriculture for the young people in their communities. The program is sponsored by Sperry New Holland, a farm machinery manufacturer.

In Wyoming County, Hobbes created a 4-H Career exploration program which is offered where it can do the most good. He has worked, for example, with Wyoming County eighth grade guidance teachers encouraging them to use the package to supplement their own teaching program.

The teachers have used the program and it has been well received by the students, Hobbes says.

Other county agents recognized at the August 11 dinner were: Edward J. Ausderau, Whitehall, Wisconsin; John Rickett, Monticello, Kentucky; Charles R. Moody, Centre, Alabama; Joe C. Green, Marietta, Georgia; James R. Mabe, Jr., Marion, North Carolina; Stephen H. Jackson, Richfield, Utah; Gary D. Stewart, Yakima, Washington.

Farmers' association adopts resolutions

BY LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Staff Correspondent

WYOMISSING — Approximately 150 members of the Berks County Farmers' Association gathered at the Sheraton Berkshire Inn, here, on October 3rd to elect five board members and vote on resolutions for policy development.

Guest speaker of the affair was State Director Arthur Hershey. Hershey briefly noted that the state association had an overall membership gain of about six percent and that many young farmers are being more active within the organization. He commended Berks County for being the only county in the state to achieve seven stars for various programs sponsored by the county association.

Karen Sattazahn, Berks County Dairy Princess, addressed the organization and thanked them for their support of the dairy pageant. Karen also described some of her recent activities and encouraged everyone to contact her if they would like her to appear at a function on behalf of the Berks County Dairy Farmers Association.

Bruce Latshaw, an active 4-H and FFA member decribed the three-day youth conference he and another county youth, Laura Miller, attended as sponsors of the County Women's Committee. President Jack Kooker thanked the association for giving he and his wife the opportunity to attend the National Farm Bureau Convention last year, noting that it was "quite an experience."

County Board Member Roy Christman, discussed the up coming Farm-City Tour sponsored for the past six years by the Berks County Farmers' Association. He noted that three county farms have participated in the program each year; opening their doors to the public for two days each fall to build a better understanding between themselves and their urban neighbors. These participants are: Dan-Vel Farms, Richland; Way-Har Farms, Bernville; and Ro-Ria Farms, Hamburg. Christman noted the popularity of the program as evidenced by the attendance of 8,500 visitors hosted during last year's tour. This year the committee is trying to get a horse farm on the program of farms to visit.

Resolutions that were supported by the county members during the meeting included a recommendation that a combination of locally levied earned income tax and property tax for the purpose of school finance be implemented.

Also recommended was the following: that the legislature amend the criminal code so that judges have a free hand in meeting stiffer sentences to repeat offenders; that the State Bureau of Animal Health be encouraged to make a strong effort to communicate to the veterinary profession any pertinent information regarding new disease outbreaks and their treatment such as a functioning "hotline", and that they return to the old meat grading system of the U.S.D.A. as prime, choice, good, etc.

Agricultural imports entering the country should meet the following requirements: 1. If subsidized by any country, equal countervailiing duty should apply. 2. Meet the U.S. requirements applied against farmers such as safety, health, and FDA. 3. Share promotion, market development, and research costs.

More recommendations were that: the USDA budget should not be distorted by the costs of the Food Stamp Program; farmers should have greater representation on the DER Water Resources Policy Advisory Committee; PennDOT should be more expedient in opening secondary roads; they support the development of alternate energy sources such as gasohol, wind power, hydro-electric power to help make us energy self-sufficient and generate greater utilization of our own commodities; legislation is enacted permitting operators of farm distilleries to store, transport, and sell excess alcohol under sliding scale fee system; more emphasis be put on research by USDA to improve crop yields and develop better yielding varieties; PFA support the right of the individual for use of water in connection with property rights, including management of that water for reasonable and beneficial use; antibiotic tolerance in milk be set at .03 ppm so that when antibiotics are found, a fine be imposed and no good milk dumped, yearly as follows; 1st offense - ½ value; 2nd offense - total value; 3rd offense - shut off.

Other suggestions were that Safemark carry such items in safety devices as respirators, gas masks, ear plugs, and other protective items which are required by law but not always available in all areas; all factions of the dairy industry support the United Dairy Industry Association for the REAL seal on all dairy products that are made from the real thing; component pricing of milk be pursued on a national level; calfhood vaccination policy be changed to all female calves; the milk security fund be fortified with adequate funding; non-vaccinated animals not be eligible for indemnities bore after January 1, 1981, the 1980 Policy on Mushroom Imports be reemphasized and add the following - Imports of processed mushrooms be limited to 42 percent of domestic processed mushroom consumption.

NPPC gears up for October push

DES MOINES, Ia. — The National Pork Producers Council, the nation's largest commodity organization, is gearing up for its second annual October Pork Showcase promotion.

This special newspaper/supermarket campaign, which last year helped make October the biggest fresh pork consumption month in history, will appear as a newspaper supplement in 60 major metropolitan areas with a projected market of more than 14 million people.

"Pork producers are determined to make 1980 a year of progress, a banner year in spite of depressed farm prices and record losses," according to Orville Sweet, NPPC's executive vice-president.

Faced with an abundant supply of hogs and potential grain shortages because of this summer's heat wave, the nearly 100,000 members of the NPPC have decided to solve the marketing dilemma themselves.

The Pork Showcase promotion is designed to increase consumer awareness and acceptance of pork as an alternative to other red meats, and to move more pork through supermarkets and onto America's breakfast, lunch and dinner tables. The special newspaper supplement, scheduled to appear in selected cities, is filled with editorial material about price advantages, cooking, nutrition, storage and pork recipes.

The NPPC, whose goal is to promote consumer awareness and consumption of pork, funds advertising and promotional programs through a "check-off" program wherein a producer voluntarily contributes or "checks off" on each market hog sold. The organization had 35 member states, and each will have at least one major city involved in the promotion.

Austrailian women to attend Agri-Women convention

HERSHEY — The fifth annual American Agri-Women Convention will take on an international flavor with the attendance of 26 Australian women interested in forming a similar group. According to Lynn Johnson, Australian dairy farmer and tour coordinator, "The first National Conference for Australian Rural Women was held last August. After participating in and reading about the outcome of the Conference I have realized that rural women in Australia lack a united voice and the clout to implement the many recommendations put forward at the Conference."

As a result, she is endeavoring to gather together women who are vitally interested in agriculture in Australia, but who lack a united voice. Twenty-six of them will attend the AAW '80 Convention in Hershey, PA, November 10-13, then participate in a Washington DC tour immediately following the close of meetings.

Impressed with the degree of involvement of farm women in this country, not only on the farm, but as promoters and lobbyists, Mrs. Johnson feels here women could benefit from their experiences.

Of special interest on the program will be the Washington-On-The-Line segment November 11 featuring three agricultural attaches from foreign embassies on the special Agricultural Council of American telephone hook-up for questions and answers by convention delegates.

Robert Swift, Minister of the Australian Embassy will be on the line covering subjects of international trade of Australian beef, grain and other pertinent issues. He will be joined in the program by Luiz Felipe Lampreia, Minister Counselor Deputy Chief of Mission Brazilian Embassy, and Eric Denig, Royal Netherlands Embassy.

Questions will be screened from various AAW affiliates and members before hand to facilitate timing and edited to cover as many areas as possible in the twenty minutes alloted each attache.

Washington editor of THE PACKER and THE DROVERS Larry Waterfield will moderate the unique format and himself cover relations with agriculture trade interests with Mexico.

Luncheon speaker that day will be Eileen Nutting, Agriculture Advisory Committee, Michigan Department of Agriculture, who will deal with "The Double Burden of Soviet Farm Women." A fruit and vegetable farmer herself, Mrs. Nutting is presently a graduate student enrolled in a PhD program in Rural Sociology at Michigan State University. Her topic is the result of research here and in the Soviet Union comparing Soviet and American farm women.

The Great Debate segment of AAW convention program begun last year in San Diego will make its comeback with this resolve: That Food Should Be Used As A Foreign Policy Tool. Moderator June Hadley has lined up debaters from Cargill, Dreyfus, USDA for an evenhanded treatment of the topic with lively clash.

All women interested in the future Survival Success in the '80's" of agriculture, whether or not they are presently members of AAW are encouraged to attend this convention. Write Beth Cooper, RD 1, Dotterer Road, Lenhartsville, PA 19534 for registration information.

Comment sought on conservation proposals

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Department of Agriculture will hold a public meeting here November 5 to discuss proposed administrative changes for USDA conservation and environmental programs, Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said today.

Fitzgerald said the meeting will be held from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. in room 2-W of USDA's administration building.

Fitzgerald said discussions at the morning session will be on the agricultural conservation program, forestry incentives, water bank and the rural clean water programs.

Agricultural conservation program assistance is offered to encourage eligible farmers to voluntarily perform soil and water conservation, energy conservation and pollution abatement measures, Fitzgerald said. He said program funds are used to share the cost of such work with farmers who could not or would not perform conservation practices to the extent needed without the benefit of federal assistance.

To continue to encourage program participation by low-income farmers, county committees may approve for these producers cost sharing over 75 percent but not in excess of 80 percent for annual agreements, Fitzgerald said.

Because of space limitation, persons desiring to attend the meeting should make reservations with John R. Henry. Phone: 202/447-7333.

Sussex names extension home economist

GEORGETOWN, Del. — Sarah (Sally) Roberts Foulke has been named Extension Home Economist for Sussex County, according to Dr. Samuel M. Gwinn, director of the Delaware Extension Service.

Foulke received her B.S. in home economics education from Temple University and her M.S. from the department of individual and family studies, College of Human Resources, University of Delaware.

Foulke has had extensive experience as a professional home economist. She has served as a research associate in social gerontology, as a home economist with the Appalachian Power Company, and as center director for the Arden Y.W.C.A. and program director for the Newark Y.W.C.A.

She has served as an instructor at Wesley College, Dover, and Delaware State College, Dover. Her previous experience also includes the position of camping advisor with the Camden County Girl Scout Council.

Foulke is a member of the American Home Economics Association, National Council on Family Relations, the Delaware Academy of Sciences, and is a member of the Board of the Delaware Gerontological Society.

Sally Foulke

She is the recipient of the American Agricultural Foundation Achievement Award for outstanding work in home economics.

Foulke's duties in Sussex County will include planning, implementing and evaluation of Extension educational programs in the area of home economics; working with, and serving as advisor to, the Sussex County Extension Homemakers' Council; and establishing cooperative program efforts with other organizations and agencies working with Sussex County families.

Her office will be located at the University of Delaware Substation in Georgetown.

J I Case Needs a Few New Dealers

We are looking for enterprising businessmen who understand agricultural equipment retailing "We" being the J I Case Company Founded in 1842, Case now has over 3,000 dealers world-wide and an unsurpassed reputation for product quality, reliability and current growth

If you think that the farm equipment business requires involvement with many different product lines, you'll find Case an interesting exception As a Case Tractor Specialist, you concentrate on one major product line, agricultural tractors and related tillage tools, because Case builds nothing but tractors for the farm market

Case Dealers sell twelve basic tractors, 43 to 300 horsepower Five models are under 90 horsepower, four are the exciting new 90 series - 108 to 180 horsepower, and our three big four-wheel drive tractors lead the booming 4WD market

High potential marketing areas are available now Profitable Case light construction and outdoor power equipment contracts may also be available As a Case Tractor Specialist, you would benefit from liberal financing policies, attractive consumer terms and time-proven Case Rental Systems.

Case produce-and policy advantages, when combined with your own aggressive sales and management abilities, will afford you the opportunity to realize an excellent return on your investment

TORQUE AMPLIFIER, CLUTCH & WATER PUMP PARTS & SERVICE

Rebuilt TA assemblies for IH tractors from SMTA through 1586. Water pumps, Dyna-Life clutches and pressure plates from A, B, C through 1586 and for many of the combines, 101 - 303 through the 915.

If you are operating a shop or are a farmer who does his own mechanical work, then you will do well to compare the parts which I have to offer. Complete rebuilt TA assemblies for 706 - 1586 are priced from $525.00 and come with a Dana Co. heavy Duty Sprag clutch instead of the usual IH sprag. These TA units are being installed in many of the leading IH shops across the country instead of the IH units.

Also have available assorted parts for TA's which are not available individually through new parts at IH. I am prepared to do complete installation at competitive prices and will match any guarantee that is offered on TA units or rebuilt clutches, pressure plates & water pumps. I will also install original factory parts on request.

For a no obligation estimate or for information and references write or call me.

GUNITE Silo Relining & Repairs

Extensive tests have been conducted on Gunite Below are some of the properties of Gunite
1. Excellent bonding
2. High Density
3. Extreme strength and hardness
4. High resistance to absorption

The excellent physical properties of the material are due to the water content being only the amount needed to satisfy chemical hydration

Reseal and re-strengthen your silo with Gunite

"Construction" is key to Meyers' family farming

BY RUTH ANN BENEDICT
Staff Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG — Doris Meyers of Boundary Road, Chambersburg, feels that her family is a family of the by-gone days. She probably couldn't be more accurate in that description.

Doris, her husband Dean, and their five blond-haired children, Nadene, 18, Natalie, 16, Doren, 13, Ryan, 11, and Darwin, 9, live on a typical farm - 190 tillable acres, 22 Holstein milking cows, 51 veal calves, a few pigs that the children raise as a 4-H projects, and several playful dogs.

Sounds typical alright.

Yet when one gets deep into conversation with Doris you truly sense an unmistakable aura of the by-gone days - when being self-sufficient was a part of your daily diet.

There is an exciting pioneer flavor existing in the Meyers family - if that is still possible in the mechanical age of sophisticated blenders, TV dinners, 12 unit milking parlors, and tractors so large that one may catch himself wondering if it is possible to turn them around in a five-acre field.

Upon arriving at the Meyers farm one sunny Saturday morning, I was greeted at the kitchen door with heavenly aroma of freshly kneaded dough. Nadene, Dean and Doris's eldest daughter, was kneading dough to make homemade soft pretzels.

Jars of canned vegetables soup, ready for the cellar, were setting on the kitchen cabinet.

On the front porch the Meyers's three sons were churning butter in an antique butter churn. "The boys have wanted to churn butter all summer long but it has been so hot that I just kept putting it off" said Doris.

Churning butter and making soft pretzels are just two of the many projects that the Meyers family enjoys. When there is work to be done they are all there ready to pitch in for the cause.

"Farm family survival. That is my husband's and my goal" stated Doris. "Dean and I are strong believers in the family working together as one and in doing things for ourselves.

"A lot of women ask me how I can do this and that with such a a large family to cook and care for, along with the farmwork that I do.

"Hogwash. Who says it's almost impossible to raise five children and still have time to wallpaper my own walls? The children can help. They may spill a bucket of water over the floor but they are learning at the same time I am getting my work done.

"Perserverance is the key. Doing things yourself is important," she commented.

Doris believes you shouldn't say you can't do something until you have really tried. "That is the only thing that has kept us going," she stated.

Perserverance seems to be what the Meyers family is made of. Obviously with Doris Meyers where there is a will there is a way.

Aside from wallpapering their own home, Doris explains that she and Dean have remodeled their home with the help of their children. They did almost all of the painting, building and staining.

Doris expressed that she feels part of their farm family survival lies with her children. She senses that as a result of her children being just as involved as she and Dean are in tackling a task, that the children seem to appreciate more deeply those things that have taken them time to do.

"My philosophy on children is construction - no destruction. "It can be playful construction or working construction," said Doris.

"Dean and I believe in flexibility with our children. You have to give them the time to make their own decisions "You encourage them, give them responsibility, give them interest, but don t force things upon them. Don't smother them.

"Our children help in making decisions when decisions need to be made. They may be small ones but the importance is there and it helps". she said.

Out on the farm the responsibility of the farm-work is shared among Dean and Doris and their five children. The children help with the machinery in the fields, take part in making hay, feeding the young stock, milking the cows, weeding the garden, and fill in when necessary for Dean and Doris.

They are busy, just as any farm family is busy. While Doris was finishing up the soft pretzels, Nadene had to rush off to her part-time job and one of the boys burst through the screendoor and asked Doris how long it would take until their butter was done.

"It takes time. Just keep churning and don't give up" said Doris. "But it didn't take this long last time" recalled the youngster.

Moments later upon looking out the screendoor at the three boys we found them intently playing a game of "Life" while they were taking turns with the butter churn. They were timing each other with a cloth, changing at exact five minute intervals.

"Construction, no destruction. That is what we aim for", laughed Doris.

Having the children so involved in both the farm and house work is part of the Meyers' farm family survival. "The existing economical squeeze is hard on a farm family but we can still survive in this day and age" said Doris. "You must be willing to work hard to stay the way you want to and to control your future. "We have also tried to keep the farm small enough so that we are always capable of handling the workload ourselves."

In this sense, the Meyers' can more closely control their own small farm survival by being more independent and self-sufficient. They feel that some farmers let their farms get so large that the only way for them to stay alive is to keep on growing in size.

"More farm families need to share their individual abilities to help combat rising inflation problems. As things become more expensive, we must share to survive," said Doris.

To Doris part of surviving requires changine your way of living.

"It is hard to change your living style. Things that you once viewed as a luxury now appear to be a necessity because you have had them for years. "They are convenient but sometimes not actually necessary.

"We used to heat with oil. Now we have switched back to wood. It was hard for me at first but I have gotten used to it."

Also to the Meyers, part of farm family survival is in the preservation of the farmlands. "Dean and I are totally against any farmer who feels the need to sell off any wooded area of frontage to survive the crunch" she stated. "We need to keep the farmland. It took me a long time to understand the importance of this."

Doris expressed that the money looks great from selling good frontage but once you have started to sell and let houses go up it is hard to stop.

The Meyers' try to be as self-sustaining as possible. They raise a good variety of their own vegetables; freezing and canning a large amount as well.

They butcher their own beef, hogs, and chickens; cure their own meat: ham, shoulder, bacon - sugar cure and hickory cure; and make their own bologna and chipped beef.

They boil their own apple butter and make their own potatoes chips and doughnuts.

"I used to make noodles to supply three area markets but now I have cut that down to one store" said Doris. "It was getting to be too much work and mess here at home."

The family trys to make use of everything. After making butter, Doris explained that she freezes the buttermilk and later uses it for baking.

A new project that Dean and Doris have undertaken within the last year and a half is a veal calf operation.

Standing in the middle of the veal calf barn, which the family renovated themselves from a hog barn, Doris proclaimed, "This is my serenity. I really enjoy it in here I spend about one hour and a half each morning and evening feeding and cleaning, I really do enjoy it."

"It is a family affair the first two weeks after a new group of calves are moved in because we try to get them to drink from a bucket. After that Dean and I mainly care for them," she explained.

Surprisingly, Doris finds spare time to indulge in other hobbies like reading, sewing and making useful crafts which complement her home.

"Right now I am making a cathedral quilt," she said. "I also like to recycle old clothes and recontruct them into something new" said Doris.

She said hse learned many of her skills and crafts from her mother-in-law, grandmother, mother, and the Cooperative Extension Service.

Doris finds time to be active with church work by assisting in teaching, doing crafts at Bible School, and helping with Pioneer Girls.

The Meyers children also enjoy making crafts such as latch-hook, they are also active 4-H members.

On one kitchen wall hangs a small piece of wood inscribed with a Bible verse that Doris' son Doren made and gave to her as a gift

"They come up with things by themselves. It is small and inexpensive but it has a lot of meaning," she beamed.

(Turn to Page C4)

Freshly made pretzels are not uncommon around the Meyers household.

Dean and Doris have been in the veal calf business for about a year and a half. Working out in the veal calf barn is Doris's serenity. "I really enjoy it" she says.

Doris displays several items which she has created. Among them are her patchwork pillows and her flower arrangemnts.

For evening entertainment the Meyers family make popcorn or soft pretzels and sit in their family room and watch TV together.

If farm family survival is what the Meyers family is all about, they seem to be piling up the right ingredients.

After spending time with them it appears that they do indeed benefit from their work. There extra work, load resulting from doing things by themselvs, seems to be well worth their effort and savings.

Not only have they benefitted, but I have too.

I got to taste one of Doris' golden brown homemade soft pretzels. Here is her recipe.

Soft pretzels

2 cups warm water
2 pk. dry yeast
½ cup sugar
2 tsp. salt
¼ cup butter
1 egg
6½ - 7½ cups flour
1 egg yolk
2 tbsp. water
coarse salt

Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle yeast, stir until dissolved, add sugar, 2 tsp. salt, butter, egg and 3 cups flour. Beat until smooth. Add enough additional flour to make a stiff dough. Cover bowl tightly with aluminum foil. Refrigerate 2-24 hours.

Turn dough out onto lightly floured board. Knead in enough flour to make it workable. Divide in half, put each half into 16 equal pieces. Roll each piece into pencil shapes about 20 inches long. Shape into pretzels. Place on lightly greased baking sheets. Blend together egg yolk and 2 tbsp. water, brush pretzels with egg yolk mixture. Sprinkle with coarse salt. Let rise in warm place free from draft until doubled in bulk about 25 minutes. Bake at 375° for 15 minutes, or until done. Cool on wire racks. Makes 32 pretzels.

Deadline nears to file for storm damage aid

YORK — The U.S. Small Business Administration reminds persons or businesses who suffered physical damage in York and adjacent counties as a result of severe thunderstorms that occurred on June 28 and 29, that the deadline for filing loan applications for physical damage expires October 20, 1980.

The deadline for economic injury application is May 21, 1981.

The adjacent counties include Adams, Cumberland, Dauphin and Lancaster.

There will be an SBA representative at the Borough Municipal Building at 118 East Main Street, Dallastown. The office will be open from 9:00 A.M. to 1:00 P.M. on the following dates: Tuesday, October 14; Fridays, October 10 and 17; and Monday, October 20.

Applicants seeking information can contact Rich Spinicci at 717/826-6496 or write SBA, Penn Place, 20 N. Pennsylvania Ave., Wilkes Barre, Pa. 18702.

Farm Women Societies

Cumberland Co. Society 15

Cumberland Farm Women 15 held its September 18 meeting at the home of Mrs. Paul Rhoads, Carlisle.

The meeting was called to order by president, Janice Yorlets. Devotions were given and roll call was answered by telling a farm safety tip. Treasurer's report was given by Corrine Otto.

Discussion followed concerning attendance of the November convention. This was followed by an election of officers for 1981. They are: Janet Kutz, president; Katie Whistler, vice president; Joyce Wardle, recording secretary; Joyce Bixler, corresponding secretary; Corrine Otto, treasurer.

After adjournment, our hostess Joyce Wardle showed us a film on how to accept and treat blind people.

Cumberland Co. Society 20

Cumberland Society 20 met September 17 at the home of Betty Wood, Boiling Springs. A weiner roast and picnic were held before the meeting.

The county convention in November was discussed. Group 20 and 2 other groups will make the favors for the convention. Group 20 will make their share of the favors at the next meeting in October. Final plans for an upcoming trip were also made.

On September 23, nine members traveled by car to Delaware Water Gap. They met Mrs. Shirley Albright, a geologist for the New Jersey State Museum, who was their guide for the next two days. Mrs. Albright is the daughter of Mrs. Beatrice Strock, one of Group 20's members.

They visited Dingman Falls and Silver Thread Falls. A long walk was taken through Peters Valley Craft Village in New Jersey.

On Tuesday night they went to the New Jersey Museum Research Station near Walpack Center.

Wednesday morning, Mrs. Albright took the group to look for fossils.

Lancaster Co. Society 11

Farm Women Society 11 met at the home of Mrs. Paul Nolt in Lancaster on September 25. There were 19 members present.

The meeting opened with a talk by Mrs. Larry Mylin of New Providence who spoke on Homemaker's Service which is available to the elderly. Homemaker's Service helps the Senior citizen to stay in his home.

Irene Shenk had the devotions. Roll call was to tell something historic about your township.

Progress is being made on the quilt which the society is making.

The county convention will be held on November 1.

Plans were also made for the bus trip on October 14.

FWS Calendar

Souper suppers for a super delight

Nothing takes the shivers away on those autumn evenings like a delicious hot bowl of soup served with a favorite dessert. Why not try one of these recipes for supper tonight? From cheddar cheese soup with herbed croutons to a tangy bowl of chili. Apple pie is always a good accompaniment to chili, so look for our apple recipes in next week's Home on the Range!

CREAM OF ASPARAGUS SOUP

1 lb. fresh or 1 pkg. frozen asparagus
1 1/2 c. Chicken stock
2 T. minced onion
1 c. milk or cream
salt and pepper to taste

Cook asparagus in 2 cups boiling water. Drain, reserving 1 cup water. Cut off tips of washed asparagus and save. Put stock, onion and reserved water in pot. Bring to a boil. Add asparagus and simmer 5 minutes. Puree in a blender and then return to pot. Melt 2 T. butter and stir in 2 T. of flour. Cook until smooth. Slowly add milk or cream, salt and pepper. Then add asparagus puree. Reheat until thickened. Add reserved tip. Heat thoroughly and serve.

Barbara Russell, Pine Bush

POTATO SOUP

1 large onion, chopped
2 T. butter or margarine
5 large potatoes, cut in small pieces
1 cup water
3 cups milk
2 teaspoons salt
pepper to taste

Cook onion in fat until tender. Add potatoes and water. Boil gently, covered, for 15 minutes, or until potatoes are tender. Mash potatoes. Add milk and seasonings.

Heat slowly to serving temperature, stirring occasionally to prevent sticking.

QUESTION: I would like a recipe for apple dumplings made from apples wrapped in a pie dough type crust that are cooked by dropping them into boiling water. My husband remembers his Grandmother using this method - but all recipes I've come across are either for baked or fried in deep fat apple dumplings.

I would love to surprise my husband with this treat that holds such a fond memory from his past!

BEAN SOUP

1 lb. dried red kidney beans
12 oz. Provolone cheese, cubed
2 quarts water
1/4 tsp. pepper
2 1/2 cups chopped onion
1 1/2 tsp. garlic salt
6 carrots, cut into 1/2 inch thick slices
1 tsp. salt
1 T. chili powder
1 can (12 oz.) tomato paste
2 cups water

Cover the beans with 2 quarts water in a large Dutch oven. Bring to a boil. Boil for 2 minutes. Cover. Let stand for 1 hour. Uncover and bring to boiling again. Cover. Simmer 45 to 50 minutes, or until beans are tender. Stir in vegetables, 2 cups water, tomato paste and seasonings; cover and simmer 30 to 35 minutes, or until carrots are tender. Stir cheese into hot soup just before serving.

Susan Russell, Hopewell

CHEDDAR CHEESE SOUP WITH HERBED CROUTONS

Croutons:
8 slices Vienna bread, cut 1/2 inch thick
1 T. Italian seasoning
Soup:
1/4 cup butter
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
3 cups milk
3 cups chicken broth
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
4 cups (1 lb.) shredded Cheddar cheese

Preheat oven to 400°. For croutons, butter both sides of bread. Place on baking sheet and sprinkle with Italian seasoning. Bake until lightly browned, about 12 minutes; turn slices over and bake until browned, about 12 minutes longer. Cool; cut into cubes. Meanwhile, for soup, melt butter in a large Dutch oven. Saute celery and onion until tender, about 10 minues. Stir in flour and seasonings until smooth. Gradually add milk, broth and Worcestershire sauce. Bring to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Reduce heat to low. Gradually stir in cheese, stirring until cheese is melted after each addition. Serve with croutons.

BEAN CHOWDER

3/4 cup dry navy (pea) beans
4 cups water
1 1/2 tsp. salt
3/4 cups potato, diced
1/2 cup onion, chopped
1 1/2 tsp. flour
1 T. butter, margarine, or drippings
3/4 cup tomatoes, canned
1/3 cup green pepper, finely chopped
1 1/2 cups milk

Soak beans in water. Add salt. Boil covered, until almost done, about 1 hour.

Add potato and onion; cook 30 minutes more.

Mix flour with the fat. Stir into bean mixture. Add tomatoes and green pepper. Cook over low heat 10 minutes, stirring constantly until thickened, then occasionally to avoid scorching. Stir in the milk. Heat to serving temperature. Makes about 6 servings.

Martha Himmelblau, Allentown

LENTIL SOUP WITH VEGETABLES

1 1/2 cups lentils
6 slices bacon, cut in small pieces
2 T. flour
1 can (10 oz.) condensed beef broth
1 cup chopped onion
1 small green pepper
1/2 cup finely chopped carrot salt
cider vinegar (optional)

Put in heavy kettle or Dutch oven with 6 cups water. Bring to boil; simmer covered, 1 hour or until very soft. Force through sieve or food mill and set aside. Saute bacon in same kettle until crisp. Remove bacon and blend flour into bacon drippings. Gradually stir in broth and cook, stirring until smooth and thickened. Add lentil puree, bacon and vegetables. Bring to boil, cover and simmer about 30 minutes. Season to taste with salt and serve with vinegar, if desired. Makes about 4 servings. Double to freeze.

Ladies Have You Heard?

By Doris Thomas

Lancaster Extension Home Economist

GET THE MOST FROM YOUR ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES

How many electrical appliances do you have in your home? The average American has five major and 13 portable appliances to help out with the daily chores.

Proper wiring is essential for all this equipment. You should have enough outlets, conveniently placed so that you don't need octopus arrangements and tangling cords.

Equally important are enough wiring circuits. Your appliances won't operate with maximum efficiency and economy without circuits to supply them with adequate electricity-no matter how many outlets you have.

Check the wattage rating stamped on each appliance and never overload any electrical circuit with more than one heavy duty appliance.

* Keep extra fuses of proper size on hand. If a fuse should blow never replace it with a larger one.

* If you must use extension cords for small appliances, use heavy duty cords rated for 15 amperes. Ordinary light cords will overheat.

* Consult your appliance use and care manual before using any new appliance. Keep manual handy and refer to it as needed.

* Be sure that all cords from electrical entertaining appliances are out of guests' pathway to avoid accidents.

* Never immerse an appliance in water unless it is specifically labeled "immersible" by the manufacturer.

* Always unplug heating appliances and let them cool before cleaning and storing. Clean appliances after each use. Check use and care book for accurate care instructions.

* When using electrical appliances with detachable cords or temperature controls, plug cordset into appliance first, then into wall outlet. To disconnect, remove plug first from outlet then from appliance.

"When disconnecting cordset or power cord from an electrical outlet, always grasp the plug, not the cord itself.

PREPARE TO SAVE THE NUTRIENTS

Suppose you are preparing a well-balanced evening meal-roast beef, tossed green salad, mashed potatoes, and mixed vegetables.

To save time, you peeled and sliced all the salad vegetables in the morning before leaving for work. You removed the outer leaves on the lettuce and soaked the remaining leaves in ice water to retain crispness. You also took the roast out of the freezer in the morning and put it in on the counter to thaw.

That evening you peeled and boiled the potatoes. After thawing the frozen mixed vegetables, you boiled and drained them in preparation for serving.

The scenario is complete. Just as your family was clamoring for dinner, you got everything on the table-everything, that is, except all the important nutrients that were washed, peeled, soaked, thawed, the boiled away as you prepared dinner.

To serve your family truly well-balanced meals, consider making a few changes in food preparation techniques. You'll retain vital nutrients, vitamins and minerals by:

-scrubbing (not peeling) vegetables

-slicing vegetables just before serving

-not soaking vegetables in water

-cooking potatoes in the skin; just scrubbing them prior to boiling

-steaming vegetables (not boiling) taken directly from the freezer

-saving vegetable water and using it as a stock in soups and gravies

-cooking meats from the freezer, not thawed

-reusing meat drippings

SPLIT PEA SOUP WITH FRANKS

1 1/2 cups dry split peas
1/2 cup onion, chopped
1 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. pepper
5 cups water
½ lb. frankfurters, finely chopped
1 T. butter or margarine

Simmer peas, onion, salt, and pepper in water 20 to 30 minutes until peas are tender.

Lightly brown the frankfurters in fat in a frypan; add to soup.

Simmer 5 minutes longer to blend flavors.
Makes 6 servings, 1 cup each.

Susan Russell, Hopewell

CREAM OF ZUCCHINI SOUP

1 lb. zucchini, sliced and unpeeled (4 cups)
1/2 cup water
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. sugar

Combine in sausepan and cook until tender about 12 minutes. Meanwhile saute 2 T. chopped onion and 2 T. margarine.

Put both mixtures in blender on whiz a little at a time. Return to saucepan. Whiz next mixture in blender: 2 cups milk, 2 T. flour and 1 packet Herb-or onion seasoning powder. Place in saucepan with other mixtures. Cook over medium heat until mixture thickens and gently boils. Soup will be a light green color.

Lauren Putnak is Pa. Lamb and Wool Queen

HARRISBURG — Washington County's Lauren Putnak is the new Pennsylvania Lamb and Wool Queen.

The attractive seventeen-year-old began her one-year reign on Sunday evening after last year's queen, Charla Janney from York County, placed the tiara atop Lauren's blonde curls.

Lauren, who hails from Monongahela, is a senior this year at Ringgold High School. She is an active student and is busy with extracurricular tasks, such as selling yearbook advertising.

The new queen has been involved in 4-H for eight years and has twenty-two registered Suffolk sheep of her own.

She was sponsored by the Washington County Sheep and Wool Growers Association.

Only minutes after Charla Janney relinquished her title, she assumed a new crown. The lovely brunette became the 1981 Pennsylvania Suffolk Queen.

In competition for the Pa. Sheep and Wool Growers Association crown were Cynthia Franklin, Chalfont, Bucks County and Denise Garber, Washington, Greene County.—SM

Lauren Putnak, Monongahela, Washington County, was crowned 1981 Pa. Lamb and Wool Queen during the Sunday evening ceremonies at KILE. Retiring queen, Charla Janney of York County, was later crowned the new Pa. Suffolk Queen.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

When we picked a day to go to the Bloomsburg Fair, we picked an unusual day. It happened to be the first rainy day in months. But it was just a gentle drizzle and didn't bother us that much.

However we did lose a wheel cover from our car. It was one that had flown off in West Virginia and many places in Lancaster County as well. One day I heard it roll and finally found it 30 feet in a cornfield, twice we returned to roads where it might have come off and we found it. This time, after searching a steep wooded area with a dump site nearby, we finally had to admit it was permanently lost.

We did find one to another make of car though as we walked around in the rain.

We praticularly enjoyed the horse and pony contests between the children. The keyhole race and carrying an egg on a spoon were interesting. As they raced around the ring many fancy white hats fell to the ground.

We sat beside a couple who said they were from Harrisburg when we ate our dinner, which was served by a church group. When they were questioned closer, it was discovered that they actually lived in Mechanicsburg and knew my sister and her family. As they say, it is a small world.

There were some unusual things displayed in the Horticulture Building. There were rows of rainbow colored bottles containing different juices. Some of the uncommon ones were parsley juice, violet juice, rhubarb juice, currant juice and rose syrup. I was surprised to see trumpet vine seed pods displayed on a white plate.

One things that I couldn't understand was why someone would want to can white potatoes unless it was just to add to the variety of vegetables shown.

As we traveled home through the mountains, we got a glimpse of the sun and stopped to buy some apples and grapes. Now I have basket of Jonathan and a basket of McIntosh on the back porch bench. I've already made two apple cakes and some applesauce. Guess I'll have to make some pies also.

On being a farm wife -And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

With the instinct bred of years of seasonal shivering, I dug out the "fuzzies" last week.

"Fuzzies" is our family's label for sheet blankets, the lightweight flannel-like bedding often sold for use as summertime covers.

But at our house, we install them on the beds when a nip settles in the air as soon as the fading sun slips behind the hillside cornfields and the thermometer hints about falling into the frost zone..

Soft, napped sheets are a necessity in our century-plus log, stone and brick farm home, since no predecessor ever saw fit to install central heat in the upstairs bedrooms.

Frankly, we prefer it that way. I vividly recall waking in the middle of the night during my last maternity hospital stay, when it took nurses a good twenty minutes to halt my nosebleed from the uncommonly hot and dry air.

Unheated bedrooms prevent such problems. In fact, the midwinter humidity in our upstairs is maintained quite adequately through the steam that occurs when we merely breath in the near-freezing temperatures on bitter, windy mornings.

But, back to the fuzzies. There's never been a set date for their arrival, just a feeling that a lifetime of unheated bedrooms brings on naturally.

What final triggers my brain to dig in the blanket chest for the winter sheets is the sudden dread of crawling into bed, knowing that those ice-cold cotton-polysheets will resemble the pond in January and it'll take 'til toward morning for the supersize goosebumps to fade.

Our clever ancestors came up with a variety of solutions to combat the cold-sheet-shivers. sometimes they warmed bricks before the fire, then wrapped them in a towel and placed them near the foot of the bed to warm chilly toes. Those who were more well-to-do might have bought a brass bedwarmer. The shallow, dish-like containers were filled with hot coals from the old kitchen stove, covered with the warmer's lid, and run back and forth over the cold bedclothes until the sheet were bearable.

Who know's Maybe someday, we'll find ourselves back to such methods. But for now, twentieth-century softie that I am, I'm perfectly content to settle for a set of fuzzies and their treasured companion, a good, sturdy electric blanket.

Grandma's said it time and agin, but it bears repeating: Those good old days weren't always what they're cracked up to have been.

1980 forage conference to focus on silage

HERSHEY — New aspects of silage production in the 1980's will be one of the features of the Forage Conference to be held November 24 and 25 at the Hershey Convention Center, Hershey.

Silage, The Succulent Forage is the theme of the program the morning of November 25, points out John E. Baylor, extension agronomist at Penn State.

Registration for the entire conference will be held from 9 a.m. to noon on November 24. Second-day registration will be held from 8 to 9 a.m. on November 25.

Program speakers and their topics for the silage sessions are: J. W. Thomas, dairy nutritionist at Michigan State University, Silage in the 80's; A. Roger Grout, Penn State extension agricultural engineer, Silage Packages for the 80's; and N. P. Martin, extension forage agronomist at the University of Minnesota, A Critical Look at Additives and Preservatives.

R. S. Adams, Penn State Extension dairy specialist, will speak on "Improving Corn and Hay Crop Silage as a Feed; and Harold Harpster, of the Penn State Animal Science Department, will answer the question High Moisture Corn and Ground Ear Corn—Silage or Concentrate?

Monday afternoon sessions will focus on producing high quality alfalfa and Tuesday afternoon, new ways to avaluate and market hay.

Junior Cooking Edition

Hey all you junior cooks, now that autumn is settled in you're going to want to do more indoors than just cook. Do you have a favorite place you like to visit? What games interest you most? Do you have a unique way to spend your time? We are looking for unusual things for youngsters to do If we think other children would be interested, we will publish your ideas. So put your thinking caps on and see what you can come up with.

But until next week, why not·

-draw pumpkin face designs so you have one when it's time to carve your jack-o-lantern
-collect unusual wild flowers and weeds and create a bouquet for your mom.
-stuff some old clothes with straw (in the barn, of course), add a head and a hat and set him out when the time comes for trick or treaters.
-visit your favorite, secret place in the woods for an afternoon of play before the winter comes.

So have fun. And when you get tired of these delights, why not bake some of these goodies to go with mom's soup? Tell mom to look for the soup recipes in this section.

BANANA CAKE

1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 cups cake flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2/3 teaspoon soda
5 T. sour milk
1 cup banana pulp
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream shortening. Add sugar gradually and continue to beat until fluffy. Add beaten eggs and vanilla and beat until light. Sift flour; measure and sift again with dry ingredients. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk. Beat thoroughly after each addition. Fold in banana pulp until well blended into mixture. Pour into greased layer pans and bake at 350° for 30 minutes. This makes 2 (9 inch) layers.

Marlene Horning, Ephrata

POOR MAN'S STEAK

2 lbs. hamburger
1 cup cracker crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 chopped onion
1 cup tomato juice

Mix well (it is stiff and seems dry) and shape into loaf. Chill in refrigerator over night. Cut in about 1/2 inch slices and roll in flour. Brown quickly on both sides. Place pieces in roaster. Mix 1 can cream of mushroom and 1 can water and pour over meat. Bake at 350° for 1 1/2 hours.

Jersey crop update available by phone

FLEMINGTON, NJ — Closing grain prices will continue to be available to New Jersey farmers by dialing 201/782-7000, reports Calvin Wettstein, Hunterdon Agricultural Agent.

In an arrangement worked out by the Farmers' Brokerage and Supply Company and the Hunterdon County Board of Agriculture, crop prices and market information will be taped late afternoons, Mondays through Fridays, and made available on the telephone answering device.

The 782-7000 number is the one used by the Agricultural Weather Service. Weather forecasts are issued twice daily during the growing season. They have been suspended until next spring

James Johnson, Manager of Farmers' Brokerage and Supply in Trenton, suggested the crop information be made available at least through December

"This is a critical year for growers. They need all the marketing information they can get, and from whatever source," he said. His concern, a subsidiary of New Jersey Farm Bureau, will share the cost of the phone and equipment with the County Board of Agriculture.

Prices, current and future, on soybeans, wheat and corn will be issued each afternoon along with a statement or two describing market conditions.

Enders reflects on 4-H years

BY SALLY BAIR
Staff Correspondent

MOUNTVILLE - As the latest crop of 4-H'ers prepares to attend National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Deborah Enders, 3203 Horizon Drive, Lancaster, looks back on her experience there as a highlight of her ten years in 4-H.

Deborah 19, was selected to attend two years ago, as a winner in the conservation project. She recalls that her selection as a state winner was a surprise because it was the first time she had entered the awards program. She says the experience of traveling to Chicago, staying at the Conrad Hilton Hotel and meeting people from all over the state and the nation was something she'll always remember. "You can't believe the really outstanding people who attend," she states.

For Deborah, the trip was a nice reward for the work she was doing within her club, the Mountville Community 4-H Club, but even without that recognition she would have been active as a teen leader.

Being involved with 4-H has been a part of most of Deb's life as a teenager, and she seems to thrive on helping others with their projects. "I really enjoy working with kids. I like watching them compete. We have competition, but it is relaxed. They really try to do better and work at improving."

Working with children is a delight for Deborah, and as she talks about individual progress in the club she lights up. "I like to build relationships and to watch the kids as they grow and develop personality" she states. Because of her interest she is working towards dual certification in early childhood education and elementary education at Millersville State College where she is a sophomore. While working with 4-H'ers has helped her solidify her career goals, she said she has wanted to be a teacher since she was in the fifth grade.

This year Deborah was a leader of the archery project, something which she has become proficient at over the years. She had only

Deb Enders holds the bowl she received as an outstanding teen leader in the county in 1976. This teenager now helps with the archery and wildlife projects for the Mountville Community 4-H Club.

Archery is very dear to Deb Enders, who placed second in the state in individual 4-H competition this summer. Currently she is on the archery team at Millersville State College where she is a sophomore.

boys in the project, but she felt she had a good relationship with them and she enjoyed watching them learn and grow. Archery is still basically a boy's sport, and when Deb competed at 4-H state days she was the only girl. Nevertheless she placed second as an individual. Her goal as a 4-H leader for next year is to have a county archery team to compete in the state contest.

She became interested in the sport at Camp Swatara and began participating in archery intramurals in the eighth grade "as a causal pastime." In her junior and senior years Deb took archery in physical education classes and in her freshman year at Millersville she readily got involved. She is now a member of the archery team there.

Deb has also served as coleader of the wildlife project and the first year helped organize an overnight camping trip for six children. The project grew, however, and this year Deborah organized a two-night camping trip for 27 children, six adults and three teen leaders. Part of the project included orienteering, scavenger hunts and other activities to familiarize the youngsters with wildlife and conservation.

Deb has been a teen leader in the Mountville Club for five years, and in her very first year she was named the outstanding teen leader in the county.

Deborah's enthusiasm for 4-H is boundless. "There are lots of ways that 4-H is beneficial. On the project level kids learn new things and how to do them better. There are new projects which teach them new experiences. On the deeper level, the kids develop their personality and while 4-H is not religion-based, it does teach morals. There is no swearing and no cheating. It instills values that I feel are good."

Admitting that she benefits from the competition found in 4-H, Deb says striving for a blue ribbon can bring positive results. "It really inspired me. My sewing improved to get a blue ribbon. Even a white ribbon can help a kid if it is handled right. To me competition is valuable. It gave me the incentive to do my best - it egged me on," she states.

A strong believer in the value of staying with 4-H, Deborah states, "It's better if you grow up with it. It is beneficial to the people who stick with it. 4-H was my only real activity outside of school and I put all I had into it. I realized it was a commitment."

With a chuckle, Deb says that perhaps her interest in 4-H is hereditary since her mother is organizational leader for the club. The Enders have been involved with the club for 13 years.

Deborah's 4-H experiences have helped her travel far and wide - to Wisconsin as part of an exchange program and many times to Penn State first as a delegate to Leadership Congress, then as a street camper and then as a street camp adviser.

A 1979 graduate of Hempfield High School, Deb is also active at the Mountville Church of the Brethren.

Although she must close out her career as a 4-H member, Deborah Enders will just continue doing what she has been doing - serving as a leader and helping younger members learn new skills and develop the positive attitudes which she learned through 4-H.

Top U.S. officials told of need for mushroom quotas

WASHINGTON, D.C. — As the President's impending decision on restricting mushroom imports approaches the October 14 deadline, the Pennsylvania Food Processors Association, with the help of State Auditor General Al Benedict, conducted a meeting in Washington D.C. with Lynn Daft, President Carter's Associate Director of Agriculture and Rural Development, Eric Vaughn, Vice President Mondale's Issue Staff and William Bohem, Agriculture Advisor to Charles Schultz.

The meeting was held to discuss the problem of mushroom imports and the immediate need for the five-year import quota recommended by the International Trade Commission.

The need for this specific meeting was necessitated since the recommendation from the International Trade Commission will go directly to President Carter's staff who in turn will advise the President as to the decision he will make on the International Trade Commission's recommendation.

According to Rocco V. Pugliese, executive director of the Pennsylvania Food Processors Association, he felt that the meeting was needed due to the complexity of the problem and the strong desire by the industry to once again become a force in the state's economic community.

Also, Pugliese said he was heartened with the positive concern displayed by Benedict, the State's leading Democrat, in not only helping to arrange the meeting, but also in insuring that the Carter Administration be made well aware of the plight of the mushroom industry.

As a result, the meeting accomplished our main objective and that is, in meeting with those who have a direct access to the President, so that a careful evaluation be made on the International Trade Commission's recommendation and that relief can be successfully attained for the industry.

Punch, pretzels and potted mums at $432,500 farm sale

LITITZ — A large striped circus-type tent, outdoor carpeting spilling off a raised stage, potted mums, a 50-silver-dollar guessing contest, coffee, punch and stick pretzels characterized the sale of another near half-million-dollar Lancaster County farm on Friday, Oct. 3.

Winning bid on the 69-acre Henry E. Martin farm, about a mile west of Lititz, was $6,260 an acre, for a total sale price of $432,500. It was purchased by turf farmer Robert Hummer, of Manheim.

Auctioneer J. Omar Landis "set the stage" for the opening of the sale at 2 p.m. by introducing several visiting dignitaries, out-of-state auctioneers and ringmen attending the antique and classic car auction held at Dutch Wonderland over the weekend.

As the last of the approximately 200 persons attending submitted their estimates of the sale price, Landis opened the bidding with five offers that immediately pushed the price from $3500 an acre to $5,000.

Bidding moved only to $5300 when a recess was called for auctioneers, attorney M. Elvin Byler and the three beneficiary sons to huddle for the customary conference.

Landis comments: "Figure the price out on 70 acres and get a rebate." (Total size was 69.2 acres.) "There comes another

"We'll take a five-minute recess; go call your wife or banker."

Following the reopening of bids, Landis made his first of two comments about the "thrifty Pennsylvania Dutch" and started accepting $50 offers.

The price moved rather rapidly to the $6000 figure with three bidders participating. Then, the bidding stalled before rising to $6200.

Landis made his second comment about Dutch thriftiness and accepted $10 increments.

"And I'm not going to take $5 bills," he said.

Pa. pigs in spotlight at KILE

HARRISBURG — The champion and reserve champion pen of feeder pigs at last week's Keystone International Exposition Feeder Pig Show went to entries from Indiana County and Lebanon County respectively.

Ken Wetzel of R1 Rossiter captured the championship trophy with his pen of Chester White x Duroc crossbreds. His pigs were the first place entry in the heavyweight division, 56-70 pounds. They sold to Thomas Beam, Elverson for $42 a piece.

Wetzel got some help on the way to the top from his two children, Renee who is 12 years old and Kenny who is 10. Both children are members of their local 4-H club.

Back home in Indiana County, Wetzels have both a commercial and purebred hog operation. They keep about 60 purebred Chester White sows along with 60 sows in their farrow to finish setup.

Wetzel explained his champion pen of pigs was all from one litter. Altogether, there were 14 pigs in the litter. The pigs that were entered in the KILE competition were the remaining littermates — the others had previously taken the champion and reserve champion pen honors at the Ohio State Fair, said Wetzel. The litter was sired by a Chester White boar, Ultrawave.

The reserve champion pen of feeder pigs at KILE was shown by Christian S. Seaman, Grantville. The Yorkshire x Duroc crossbreds placed first in their lightweight class, 35-45 pounds. They, too, were from the same litter — the sow had farrowed a total of 11 pigs. The pen sold to Abe Diffenbach, New Holland for $27 each.

The reserve champion pen of feeder pigs was exhibited by Christian Seaman, Grantville, Lebanon. Pictured with the pen is Daniel Seaman, 17.

This was Seaman's first championship at KILE. At home in Lebanon County, Seaman has a total confinement farrowing house where he keeps about 90 sows.

The first place medium weight pen was exhibited by Kim Brackbill, of Mechanicsburg, Cumberland County. They also sold to Diffenbach for $36 a head.

The high selling feeder pig was consigned by Rodger Bankert, R3 Hanover. This Duroc pig, sired by HP Red Horse, sold for $110 to Kenneth Yearick, Mill Hall.

The First Annual Feeder Pig Show and Sale was judged by Henry A. W. Gruber, Allentown.

Show results are as follows:

Lightweight 35-45 lbs.
1 Christian S Seasman, R1 Grantville, 2 Robert McClure, R2 Eighty Four, 3 Doug Hancock, R1 Honey Grove 4 Clair Hartman, Gratz, 5 Lawrence W Mullen, Jr, R1 Bainbridge

Mediumweight, 46-55 lbs
1 Kim Brackbill, R2 Mechanicsburg, 2 Daryl Sheiss, Chambersburg; 3 Rodger Bankert R3, Hanover 4 Robert Pearce R1 Rossiter, 5 Rocky Acres Farm, R2, New Tripoli

Heavyweight 56-70 lbs
1 & 5 Ken Wetzel & Family, R1 Rossiter; 2 Robert McClure, 3 Christian S Seaman, 4 Clair Hartman

The high selling pen of feeder pigs was the mediumweight pen of Durocs consigned by Rodger Bankert, Hanover. They sold for $110 a head.

Ken Wetzel of Rossiter, Indiana County, exhibited the champion pen of feeder pigs at last Friday's show during KILE. Helping their father were son Kenny, 10, and daughter Renee, 12.

Ten-year-old Hazlett has grand champ barrow

HARRISBURG — Ten-year-old Scott Hazlett exhibited a barrow for the first time at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition. By the end of the competition Monday afternoon. Scott and his heavyweight Duroc barrow had defeated close to 100 other exhibitors and their entries and received the title of grand champion.

The young hog showman hails from State College, Centre County. He was coached and supported on his way to exhibiting the grand champion barrow at KILE by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hazlett. Scott's father is currently the swine herdsman at Penn State.

Not only was Scott's barrow, the overall grand champion of the Barrow On-Foot competition, it was also the champion in the Junior Division Barrow Show, defeating 29 other entries for the top award.

The reserve grand champion barrow at KILE was the champion crossbred and the champion of the Open Show. The 208 pound Yorkshire x Duroc crossbred was exhibited by Lavern and Marilyn Weller, Dwight, Illinois.

Pennsylvania swine producers swept most of the championships in the Open Barrow On-Foot competition.

Penn State took both the champion and reserve champion trophies in the Duroc division. Their champion was tagged the reserve champion of the Open Show.

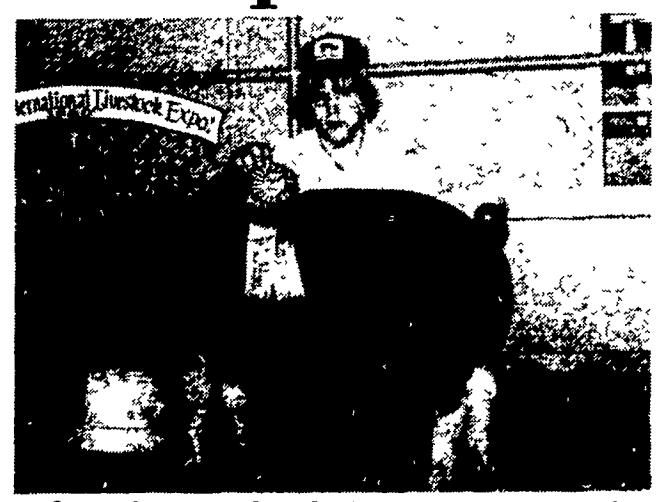
In the Berkshire classes, the lightweight barrow shown by Gregory Innerst of R2 Red Lion was tagged champion by Judge Henry Gruber. The reserve Berkshire champion was the second place lightweight barrow exhibited by Dennis Grumbine, Myerstown.

Rocky Acres Farm of R2 New Tripoli took both the champion and reserve champion honors in the Poland China competition.

Calvin Lazarus of White Hall had the champion Spotted Swine, while Keith Bard of Lewistown showed the reserve champion Spotted.

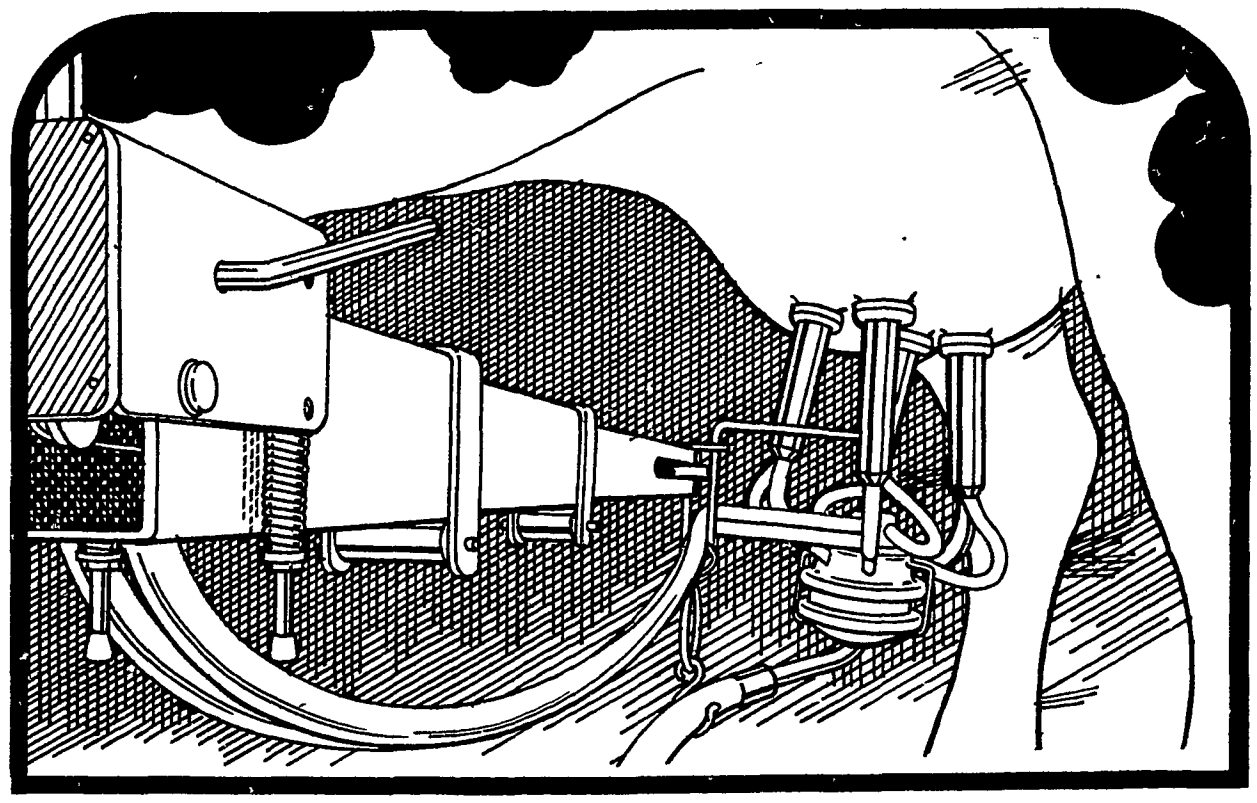
(Turn to Page C18)

Ten-year-old Scott Hazlett showed his heavyweight Duroc barrow to the grand championship in the Barrow-On-Foot Division during the 24th Keystone International Livestock Exposition. Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Chet Heim was on hand for the award presentation.

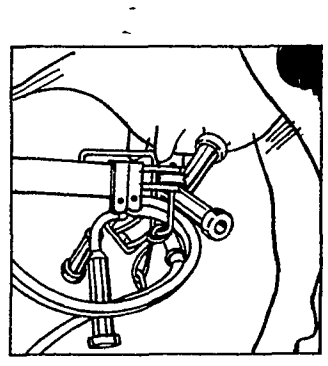


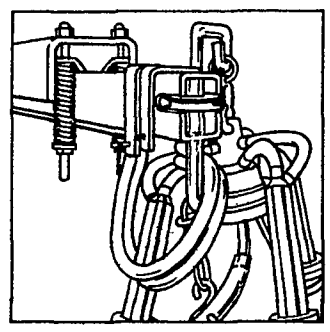
Greg Innerst, R3 Red Lion, exhibited the champion Berkshire barrow at KILE.

John Strawbridge, Stewartstown, exhibited the champion Hampshire barrow.



The Surge STO. Rugged telescoping arm for better support, positioning and smoothness.





Rugged and reliable. That's what dairymen asked for in an automatic take-off.

The Surge STO (Simultaneous Take-Off) fills the bill with a precision engineered telescoping arm. The rugged arm supports the milker and can be adjusted individually to each cow for effective milking action.

When the cow is milked out the sensor shuts off the milking vacuum and signals the STO arm to telescope into itself and pivot out from under the cow in one smooth, gentle motion.

Available with electronic or mechanical float milk-flow sensing.

Call us today. We'll tell you more about how this rugged automatic take-off can save you man-hours, make your job easier and help you avoid overmilking.

We can make your cows worth more.

Lycova Grange wins community service contest

HARRISBURG — Lycova Grange, of Lycoming County, was declared the winner of the 1980 Pennsylvania State Grange Community Service Contest, in Harrisburg today. They will receive their award at the State Grange Sessions in Lewistown next month.

Lycova's project consisted of working to lower the speed limits on Star Route 15 in Hepburn Township from 55 miles per hour to 45 miles per hour. The action came as a result to a large number of fatal accidents occurring in the area.

Working through the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation and the Hepburn Township Supervisors, the Lycoming County Grange was able to affect the change after several public meetings and hearings.

Second place in the competition was Union Grange, of West Burlington Township in Bradford County. Union Grange held a Neighborhood Day Picnic that was attended by over half of the township's residents.

They also were responsible for the purchase and placement of two farm machinery warning signs on the roads in their township.

Third place honors went to Lincoln Grange, of Huntingdon County, for running a benefit of the Marklesburg Ambulance Division to help pay for some necessary equipment.

The proceeds from the $10-a-plate dinner enabled the ambulance division to purchase two trauma kits, a custom tool kit, some blankets, a splint, and a backboard.

The remaining $738 was held over as a down payment on a CB Call System. The total raised from the function was over $1800.

Alert Grange, of Tioga County, who placed fourth in the overall competition, contributed one-quarter of the necessary amount to match Federal matching funds, to construct an Emergency Unit.

Other projects of note that were not listed as winners include the work of Jackson Grange, of Mercer County. While in the process of a litter pickup in conjunction with PennDOT, several Jackson Grangers noted the presence of three large potholes on the Mercer County roads.

"With a little pressure applied" on a local PennDOT official, all three holes were filled the following day.

Marshallton Grange, of Chester County, held monthly bingo games to entertain the residents of Pocopson Home for the Aged.

Watson Grange, of Warren County, lent their voice and efforts to oppose the Allegheny National Forest Wilderness Area Plan.

Another guess is submitted on total sale price to win prize of 50 silver dollars.

Farm sale

King, of Millport, Landis kept his other eye on Hummer.

"It was your idea to take the $10 bids," Landis told Witman.

"Don't rush me," Witman retorted.

Georgia ringman, Red Hartwell, earlier introduced as the "world's greatest" even got into the act of trying to coax another $10 bid.

At $6250 an acre a two count was struck.

Finally, the winning $6260 bid was received.

The half-million-dollar proceedings took something less than a hour.

As the buggies, pickups and cars started to wend their way out the long lane and the metropolitan press photographers snapped the last of the photos while the hangers-on nibbled the final pretzels, the winning sale price guess was announced.

Paul Kurtz' financial forecast was only $1000 off the total sale price.

And the 50-silver-dollar prize came in quite handy during the bidding.

A number of times Auctioneer Landis reminded the audience that the bidding was not up to what they had submitted as the fair market price on the farm.—DA

New Farm Women Society organized

BY SALLY BAIR
Staff Correspondent

EAST PETERSBURG — Lancaster County has a new Farm Women Society with the formation of 33 last month. It is the second new society to form within the year after nearly 10 years of no new organizations.

For County Farm Women President Opal Ruhl, Society 33's formation is "like a dream come true." The new Society's president is Gloria Eitnier, Manheim R1, who is Opal's daughter. Vice President of Society 33 is Lynette Jerchau, East Petersburg, daughter of former county treasurer Janet Leaman.

Gloria and Lynette got together at Opal's suggestion when she realized that both had a few friends who were interested in forming a new Society. Opal recalls, "We had no room to invite her to join my group, and since she was younger, I thought it would be more beneficial for her to be in a group with those of her own age and similar interests. Gloria and Lynette quickly realized they had much in common and moved ahead with the organization.

According to Lynette, the two formed the society because, "We want to learn to know new people. Each of us invited some friends. We want to be active in the community, and to live up to the Farm Woman motto of "for happiness."

Gloria added, "We want to grow as mothers and in our own way show the importance of being homemakers and mothers. We want to grow as women and have educational meetings."

Lynette said with a laugh, "We are not looking for an escape from our homes. We are taking our children with us." She said about half the new members have small children, and their programs will definitely be designed to include husbands and children for some of the meetings.

While none of the new members presently live on farms, Gloria pointed out that most of them have rural backgrounds. "Somewhere along the line, we have an earthy feeling. We like the values of rural living even though it is not possible for us to live on a farm," she stated.

They are just now planning their programs for the coming year, but Gloria said they are anxious to draw on members' abilities and have sessions on learning about crafts done by members. Furthermore, she said, "We want to learn to be more self-reliant and to stretch our resources."

Meetings of Society 33 will be held the third Wednesday of each month at 1:00 p.m., and Gloria noted that an afternoon was chosen so they would not need to leave their families in the evenings.

Both Lynette and Gloria literally grew up in Farm Women, with both of them attending meetings with their mothers. Janet Leaman recalls, "I joined Farm Women when Lynette was one month old. If she couldn't go, I stayed home. She helped with our food stands at public sales."

Lynette said, "I thought it was neat. I always thought it would be nice to join Farm Women."

Opal remembers her early years in Farm Women. "Gloria was a year old when I joined Farm Women and little did I think that I would have the joy of forming a society which she would be president of."

She says that when Gloria and she first discussed forming a society, Gloria's reaction was that she didn't have the time to give it as Opal did. Opal said it took some persuasion but she convinced her by pointing out, "You can be as busy as you want to be in Farm Women. It fills a need in your life when you have more time."

Starting a new organization has many advantages. Gloria said, "Definitely one of the benefits is that we can do what we please."

With the formation of Society 33, Opal now realizes the goal she set for herself as county president upon taking office a year ago. She had wished to increase membership to over 1,000 because numbers had been declining in recent years. While she is delighted with reaching her goal, with membership at 1004, she was quick to say, "We don't want to stop growing. It would excite me to no end to form another group. Our motto is "for happiness," and we want to spread it. By forming new groups and keeping the groups smaller, we can fill the needs and fellowship better."

Gloria Eitnier, left, and Lynette Jerchau talk over some of the planned activities of their new Farm Women Society 33, organized in September.

She adds, "The credit for reaching the goal, however, goes to the presidents of the 31 existing societies and the two new societies. I could never have done it without them." She encouraged anyone who is interested in forming a new society to contact her, saying that any group with 10 or more interested persons is welcome.

She pointed out that members of Farm Women all have in common an appreciation of "the glory and dignity of farming and rural living. Most of the programs are for promoting homes, rural living and making women better homemakers. Farm Women makes us real conscious of the needs of the home, home life and the unity of the family today."

The new Society is meeting primarily in the East Petersburg-Manheim area. Other officers include Mrs. Darien Heagy, East Petersburg, treasurer; and Mrs. Leon Koser, Mount Joy R3, secretary.

Named herd representative

BELLEVILLE — Earl Kepner, Belleville, is the new Central Pennsylvania Direct Herd Representative, according to Ronald L. Flatness, Sire Power's Director of Sales and Promotion.

Kepner's duties will include direct herd semen sales, delivery of semen, supplies and nitrogen direct to the farm, teaching A.I. Training Schools, and promoting the Young Sire Sampling Program.

Kepner brings to his new position as strong background in A.I. and proven ability. He was a technician in the early 1960's with First Pennsylvania, now known as NEBA.

Kepner began breeding cows in April 1963 and as of October 1, 1979 had a total of 37,022 first services to his credit. This accomplishment earned Kepner the NAAB

Earl Kepner

35,000 Cow Award.

Earl and his wife, Frances, have two children. A son, Jeffrey, 17, and a daughter, Penny, 13. He is a member of the St. John's Lutheran Church in Belleville, a member of McVeytown #376, and a member of Jaffa Temple A.A.O.N.M.S. of Altoona.

Named bull co-op manager

TUNKHANNOCK — Sire Power and its member cooperatives have announced the employment of DuWayne A. Kutz as the successor to General Manager Campbell.

Kutz, a Wisconsin native, brings to Sire Power experience and proven ability. Previously, he was employed as the Director of Production with Tri-State Breeders Cooperative. In this position, he served as administrative head of the production headquarters at Westby, Wisconsin. He was responsible for coordinating the activities of sire procurement, bull housing and the farm, semen production and laboratory and semen distribution.

An eighteen year Tri-State employee, Kutz held the following positions: Professional A.I. Technician, Sire Project Supervisor, Sire Analyst, and Sire Procurement Manager. He was promoted to Director of Production at Tri-State in 1974.

Kutz is a graduate from the University of Wisconsin Agricultural Short Course and Animal Breeding Course, Madison, Wisconsin.

DuWayne A. Kutz

Additional activities include: Wisconsin Holstein Breeders Assoc., board member and current vice-president; ten year delegate for National Holstein Association. He is a Dairy Shrine member; NAAB-Genetics Committee for four years; 4-H Dairy Leader for 15 years and accredited dairy cattle judge. Member of Our Saviors Lutheran Church where he served as councilman and past president.

He, his wife, Jan, and their three children, Greg-18, Mike-15, and Jill-13, will relocate to the Tunkhannock area.

Wins sales award

Keystone QH Show breaks record

BRICKERVILLE — A total of 230 entries, enough to classify it as an "A" show, may have earned the Keystone Quarter Horse Association Fall Show the recognition of the largest of its kind in the East this year.

Held at the Lower Hopewell Horse Center, in Lancaster County, the show broke all entry records for the organization.

It proved to be the largest Futurity event for that organization also, with a total of 253 horses eligible and $7945.91 paid back.

The show was held in conjunction with the F-G-I Quarter Horse Show which followed the next day at the same location.—KBA

More state 4-H winners named

UNIVERSITY PARK — Following are more of the 41 state 4-H members selected as state contest winners. These members, like those announced last week, will compete in the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, November 30 to December 4.

Allegheny County

Kathy Hixenbaugh
Sheep

Kathy Hixenbaugh, 15, of 1506 Second Avenue, Westview, who has compiled an outstanding record in 4-H work, today was named state sheep contest winner in the 1980 4-H National Awards Program.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Hixenbaugh, she is a junior at the Beaver Area High School. She has been a 4-H member for five years.

A member of three Beaver County 4-H Clubs, she served as president, secretary, vice president, secretary, and news reporter. She also assisted with club activities and events as a teen leader.

The state sheep contest winner completed projects in market lambs, breeding sheep, veterinary science, pet care, gardening, and teen leadership.

Locally, she took part in the 4-H picnic, sheep field day, fair, roundup, and achievement banquet.

Kathy also participated in the Tri-County Wool Queen Contest where she was crowned queen, Regional Wool Judging Contest, Keystone International Livestock Exposition, 4-H Exchange Program, and Farm Show.

Commenting on the values of the educational youth program, Kathy said: "Traveling and meeting 4-H friends has added to my growth. It also has taught me many skills."

Bucks County

Extension to offer new farmer course

NORRISTOWN — How much money does it take to get into farming? Which crops can you grow on a given piece of land? Do you have enough land for dairy or beef cows? Would sheep or goats be a profitable enterprise?

If you have thought about starting your own farming operation, these questions may have crossed your mind. Now a special short course has been planned for individuals who have an interest in getting into farming but who lack the practical experience. Specialists from Penn State Extension Service and New Bolton Center will cover the basic steps in animal and crop production as well as the economic aspects of acquiring land, taxation, and budgeting a farm business.

The one-day program will be held Saturday, October 25, 1980, at the University of Pennsylvania's New Bolton Center near Kennett Square. The course will be limited to the first 150 individuals who pre-register.

The registration fee of $10.00 will also include the cost of lunch. Pre-registration deadline is October 20.

The afternoon session will include speakers on the following enterprises: dairy cattle, beef, sheep, goats, pigs, poultry and field crops.

For more information or a registration form contact Nancy Kadwill, County Agent, at 277-0574. The course is presented by the Penn State University Cooperative Extension Service and the School of Veterinary Medicine of the University of Pennsylvania.

York County sweeps Junior judging contest

HARRIBSURG — Two Junior livestock and meats judging teams from York County swept the Keystone Livestock Exposition judging contest on Monday.

Not only did the two teams place in the top two slots in the team competition, but the top five individuals in the contest were members of the York County teams.

Stockman of the Year and the recipient of numerous cash awards was LeRoy Bowles, one of the members of the first place team.

Next in line was Bowles' teammate, Lisa Dobrosky, with third place going to Ken Sunday, a member of the second place team.

Fourth in the individual placings was Brenda Walters, of the first place team, with fifth place going to Bill Wise, a second-place team member.

The win at KILE continues the York County teams' winning streak. Just last week, the York County 4-H members came back from the Eastern National Livestock show in Timonium with the three top team scores.

Teams in the top ten at KILE included:

— Third - Chester 4-H, Nelson Beam, Eileen Fairburn, and Gordon Smith;

— Fourth - Culpepper, Va. 4-H, Julie Burgess, Debbie Fincham, and Ken Reiman;

— Fifth - Clarke, Va. 4-H, Corie Childs, Elizabeth Hinson, and Elizabeth Meyer;

— Sixth - New Castle County, Del. 4-H, Mike Schubert, Martha Klair, and Mark Taylor;

— Seventh - Red Lion FFA, Beth Holtzinger, Blaine Grove, and Annette Walter;

— Eighth - Berks 4-H, Darlene Dietrich, Allan Rohrbach, and Harold Dietrich;

— Ninth - Armstrong 4-H, Pete Hawkins, Gloria Polka, and Marlene McCutcheon;

— Tenth - Sussex County, Del., Steve Majchrzak, Chris Majchrzak; and Scott Mitchell.

Cash and trophy awards for the winning teams and individuals were presented by the Pennsylvania Livestock Association's treasurer James Glass.

The first place team in the Keystone Livestock and Meats Judging Contest, held Monday during KILE, was the 4-H team from York County consisting of Lisa Dobrosky, Bob Livingston, Brenda Walter and LeRoy Bowles. Making the award presentation was James Glass, treasurer of the Pa. Livestock Association.

The top five individuals in the judging contest, in order of scores, were: LeRoy Bowles, Stockman of the Year; Lisa Dobrosky; Kenny Sunday; Brenda Walters; and Bill Wise, all members of the York County judging teams.

USDA seeks comment on 1981 grain programs

LANCASTER — Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Jim Williams recently asked the public to comment by October 27 on proposals for the 1981 feed grain and soybean programs.

By November 15, a decision must be made on whether to offer a set-aside program or to permit farmers to be eligible for program benefits-including the reserve program-without setting aside acreage, Williams said.

In particular, Williams said, USDA is seeking comments on reserve release and call prices which are based on production costs and adjusted either by increasing the national average loan price or increasing the gap between loan and reserve prices.

Under new authorities granted under the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1980, the current cost of production estimates may be considered in determining 1981 target prices. In the past, changes in target prices were based upon a formula considering only prior year's costs, Williams said.

Because of these new authorities, Williams said, USDA is asking for comments on how 1981 target prices should be adjusted from 1980 levels and whether producers should be required to comply with established farm normal crop acreages to be eligible for full program benefits.

Williams said USDA also is asking whether barley and oats should be included in the 1981 feed grain program, and appropriate loan and purchase prices for corn, sorghum, barley, oats and rye.

In addition, public comment is requested on whether there should be a land diversion program and, if so, the size of the diversion and level of payment. Comments are also requested on limitations on planted acreage, Williams said.

If a set-aside program is implemented, USDA has discretionary authority to adjust the target price to compensate producers for participating in such a program, William said. Comments are requested on whether this authority should be used and the magnitude on any adjustment.

"Because of the relationship between soybeans and feed grains, we are also seeking public comments on appropriate loan price and purchase price levels for 1981 crop soybeans. Other determinations affecting soybeans include commodity eligibility, storage requirements and premiums and discounts," Williams said.

Related to these program decisions are determinations on the amount of the national program acreage and recommended reductions from 1980 harvested acreage for full target price protection.

Williams said while USDA is required by law to announce set-aside, national program acreage and recommended reductions in plantings decisions by November 15, the Department may announce program decisions before that time.

Before reaching any decisions, all recommendations and views will be considered along with the best data available on world and U.S. crop conditions, production and consumption prospects, he said.

Written comments will be received until October 27 by the Director, Production Adjustment Division, ASCS, USDA, Room 3630-S, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C., 20013. All comments will be available for public inspection during regular business hours in the Director's office.

1980 price support rates and target prices are as follows:

	National Loan Rates (per bushel) Crop 1980	Target Prices (per bushel) 1980
		Low	High
Barley	$1.83	2.29	$2.55
Corn	2.25	2.50	2.35
Oats	1.16	-0-	-0-
Rye	1.91	-0-	-0-
Sorghum	2.14	2.45	2.50
Soybeans	5.02	-0-	-0-

total $21.2 million

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Payments to U.S. livestock producers under the U.S. Department of Agriculture's emergency feed aid program totaled $21.2 million during the first 11 months of fiscal year 1980.

Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of the USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said the department has approved $25,608, or 37 percent, of the 68,329 applications requesting program aid from October 1 through August 31.

Fitzgerald said the $21.2 million in federal assistance has helped livestock producers by 1.1 billion pounds of feed (19.6 million bushels corn equivalent).

He also said: under the emergency feed program, financial aid to farmers may be authorized when a natural disaster has reduced the amount of feed normally produced on the applicant's farm, and the applicant must make larger-than-normal purchases of feed.

Backpackers learn through 4-H

LANCASTER — With attention focused on 4-H during the week of October 5-11 and its theme "Expanding Horizons", it's a natural to highlight one of its newest projects, backpacking.

Backpacking is enjoying popularity among outdoorsmen, and for the first time a project was offered within the 4-H program through the Mountville Community 4-H Club, long an innovator in meeting members' interests.

Rob James, Quarryville R4, and Gus Gianopoulas, Lancaster, led the project which drew 20 members.

Reflecting on the program, Gianopoulas said, "It was a lot of fun. We pointed out that backpacking is different from the usual family camping." He said they designed the project to help young people learn to enjoy the wilderness and help them to be more self-sufficient."

James added, "You carry everything you can possibly need on your back. And you learn you don't need some things."

Actual instruction took place on several well-planned excursions which were preceded with educational meetings to prepare members.

Since there had been no previous backpacking project, there was no project book or guidelines to follow. That did not put off the leaders. Working with Nancy Meyers, at Penn State's Cooperative Extension office, they created a book which includes information on recommended equipment, safety considerations, and food needs in the outdoors. The only reference they had was a hiking manual used in Colorado's 4-H clubs.

The members began slowly with a one-day hike in Susquehannock State Park, carrying just their sleeping bags and pack. The next hike was on a section of the Appalachian Trail where the group of 13 stayed over one night. On the second hike, members camped for two nights and hiked in Stony Valley in Lebanon County. James said they chose fairly flat areas in which to hike.

On the longer hike they encountered a huge rain and hail storm which effectively soaked all their belongings. On the second day the leaders chose to hike without packs because everything was so wet.

James said, "Some thought they wouldn't make it on the first trip. It was really hot and they were very tired. They were not in great spirits on the second day." Nonetheless, they all made it which gave everyone a sense of accomplishment.

Gianopoulas added, "The experience showed a couple of them that they are not as sure of themselves as they thought they were."

stated, "They were a good group, very compatible. They learned they had to rely on one another. They put up their own tents and we checked them."

James agreed, "We had no problems between two people. If someone couldn't do something, someone else volunteered to help. One of the surprising things was that the girls did such a nice job."

The two leaders got some of their experience together as Boy Scouts in Lancaster, then progressed to backpacking about eight years ago. They have hiked many miles together and have confidence in their ability.

Rob says, "If the project is run right it has potential. Gus and I know what we can do, and we had to find out what the members could do. We decided we'd rather start with low mileage than start too high." Both men agreed that they wanted the experience to be a good one for the members and they remained flexible in their goals.

James, a science and math teacher in junior high at Rising Sun, Maryland, has had a lot of experience in working with young people. He also coaches football.

Gianopoulas works with his father at Andy's Catering Service, so his involvement with 4-H'ers has been strictly as an observer at some of their events at the Farm and Home Center. For him the experience was new, but fun. He said, "I really enjoyed it. I enjoy going out anytime. It tired my patience sometimes, but they were easier to handle than I thought. It made me aware that I could communicate with them."

One of the points stressed in the preparation was that members didn't have to go out and purchase expensive equipment. "We told them to borrow if they could or to use things they had at home. For instance, they could use belts instead of expensive straps," Gianopoulas related. Many did buy packs, but instead of expensive boots found adequate sturdy shoes. Sneakers were not recommended.

Despite their reference to the checklist, Rob said, "Some people forgot things they really needed, or came with one quart of water. They saw how fast it went in the hot weather." He estimated that members' packs weighed about 25 pounds and the leaders' about 35-40 pounds.

Gianopoulas carried a little stove, a first aid kit, a repair kit and extra pins and rings. The leaders also had extra water, so despite the forgotten things, they agreed that the overnight hikes went well. Gianopoulas said, "Mostly they had what they needed."

With the experience of one project year behind them, the leaders remain optimistic about it. They learned some things to incorporate next year. For one thing, there will be a lower age limit, and the members will have to do more of their own cooking. Gianapoulas ended up doing most of the cooking, but he said philosophically, "Then I didn't have to clean up."

They relied heavily on prepared foods, but not the specially freeze-dried foods designed for backpackers which tend to be very expensive. Breakfast was pancakes made from a mix and dinner was spaghetti made with ready-made sauce. The spaghetti dinner was made special when James produced two loaves of Italian bread which he had packed along.

For the noon meal, members provided their own sandwich and snack foods. "We tried to have them bring something that would give them a little nutrition," Gianopoulas said.

Along with the actual hiking experience, the leaders stressed conservation. Gianpoulas related, "We don't like to leave anything behind. We teach them that they pack out what they pack in. We brought a whole garbage bag full of trash out with us that was left behind by others."

James added, "There are so few places to hike and much of the Appalachain Trail is over private land. We feel it's important to be considerate or those landowners may close those areas."

These experienced backpackers are confident they have instilled some worthwhile values in their young charges. James said, "We figure if we show them the way we backpack, the way it should be done, if they go by themselves they'll be alright."

And while they agree the project has potential for other clubs, they caution that only experienced backpackers should consider serving as leaders.—SBB.

Beneficial fungus may help growers

Newark, Del. — A Delaware researcher is studying a microscopic fungus that may someday have practical benefits for commercial producers of nursery stock and flower and vegetable seedlings.

Wallace Pill is inoculating seedlings with mycorrhiza, a fungus which is naturally present in field soils but is not found in the sterile, soilless growing mixture typical used in commercial greenhouses.

Scientists believe that the strands of the fungus attach themselves to the plant's roots, increasing the root surface area and thereby enhancing the plant's ability to take up water and minerals, especially phosphorus. This should increase the plant's growth.

However, scientists in other states who have been experimenting with mycorrhizae in soilless growing media have not always achieved the expected increase in plant growth, Pill explains, because there is still much to be learned about the fungus' growth requirements.

Still in the early stages of his research, Pill is hoping to achieve not only an increase in plant growth rate, but also a reduced need for phosphate fertilizer.

Phosphorus fertilizer is becoming increasingly expensive, Pill explains, and supplies are finite. Mycorrhizal fungi, on the other hand, are a renewable resource.

A major task is that of determining not only the best combination of host plant and mycorrhizal fungus, but also the correct combinations of light, temperature, growth medium type and fertility.

If Pill's research shows it is feasible to infect seedlings with mycorrhiza in place of some of the phosphate fertilizer normally applied, this could be an economic boon to growers.

"We're still at the stage of basic research," Pill stresses. "Although the work looks promising, we have a long way to go before we're ready to apply these principles commercially."

Adams farmers hold 30th annual meeting

BY MARY MYERS
Staff Correspondent

BENDERSVILLE — The Adams County Farmers' Association gathered Monday to celebrate their 30th year at the Annual Fall Meeting. Approximately 100 members were welcomed by President Guy Donaldson.

After dinner they were entertained by one of their own members, Wayne Rodgers, accompanied by Cindy Wilson.

Dave Muzzy, Pennsylvania Farmers' Association Regional Organization Director, from Carlisle addressed the group on agricultural productivity in Pennsylvania. Muzzy suggested the time has come that farmers should not produce all commodities in an over abundance but to produce those items needed in the marketplace.

He continued by pointing out that to achieve this end, trusting and working together is a necessary component.

Muzzy predicts the agriculture industry will have many challenges and opportunities for farmers in the decade of the '80's. He challenged the group to become more involved, to grow in membership, to achieve strength to meet the opportunities of the forthcoming years.

President Donaldson was presented a certificate from the regional director, honoring him for the increased membership within the county. The Association had achieved their 1980 official membership quota of 780.

Horace Waybright, state director, spoke to the group about the accomplishments of the PFA based on the support of its members.

Waybright presented awards for outstanding committee service to the following committee chairpersons: Lloyd Benner, membership; Betty Donaldson and Peggy Benner, women's; Mabel Bream, publicity; Janet Knouse, marketing; Norman Blocher, livestock; Mervin Myers, dairy; Kay King, poultry.

Six new directors were elected to serve an the board to represent their respective districts. Newly elected were: Robert Hay, District 1; Brian Knouse, District 2; Ray Reinecker, District 3; Dale King, District 4; John Hess, District 5; Mervin Myers, District 6.

HEIFERS — BULLS

Farm Show to host rodeo champ finals

HARRISBURG — The 1980 World Series of Professional Rodeo will again be featured at the Farm Show Arena Complex in Harrisburg, November 15 and 16.

This is the American Final Rodeo, where only the top cowboys and cowgirls of the Rodeo Association are invited to compete. Winners receive cash prizes, totaling over $35,000 plus gold and silver trophy belt buckles, saddles, horse trailers. They also will be named American Rodeo Association's World Champion bareback and saddle bronc rider, roper, steer wrestler, girls barrel racer, and bull rider.

This year competition will begin at 8 p.m. Saturday the 15th and Sunday afternoon at 2:30 November 16.

Rodeo and Western apparel is the rage all over the country this year, and Central Pennsylvania is no exception. There will be Western wear and Saddle Shops along with Indian jewelry, crafts and other concessions at the arena.

At least one area motel is planning a Bar-b-que and Urban Cowboy Dance for the Rodeo weekend.

Miss Rodeo Pennsylvania will be in competition at the Finals as will Miss American Finals Rodeo, the Queen of the 1980 show.

This Rodeo has been considered by many as the finest professional Rodeo anywhere in the North American Continent. The bucking stock is selected only from the best rodeo contractors and only his toughest or hardest to ride broncs and bulls are sent to the Finals contest here. Even these Rodeo animals are famous and champions in their own right.

Tickets may be reserved by calling 717/238-2816, or purchased at the Farm Show Arena ticket gate beginning November 5th from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The Rodeo is sponsored by the American Finals Rodeo Commission in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Farm Products Show Commission and the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

York Co. 4-H meets

The York County 4-H Horticulture Club met on Sept. 29 at the 4-H Center. The program was presented by Mrs. John Smith on flower arrangements. She showed the different types of holders and vases. She also discussed design and color.

NJHA was discussed. Rita Loughran wil be attending the meeting. The next meeting will be Nov. 24 at the Center. The program will feature Christmas crafts. Officers for 1981 will be elected.

numbered 20. All suggested policies gained the members' approval.

Several of the recommendations spurred interest and lively discussion. Among the adopted policies were the following: that PFA support the start up of the undamaged nuclear reactor at Three Mile Island; that there be one car inspection per year instead of every six months as at present; that the state legislature only count votes of legislators who are present on the floor at the time of vote.

Other recommendations were: farm product price be quoted at farm price not terminal market prices; that a safe level of antibiotics, pesticides, and fungicides be tolerated in all farm products; that eggs be sold by the pound not by the dozen; that the Urner-Barry method of pricing eggs be replaced by a regional pricing council consisting of quality product producers in that region.

Several dates were noted with emphasis on Meet-the-Candidates Night to be held on October 13 at 7:30 p.m. at the Adams County National Bank-North Branch Office on Business Route 15N, Gettysburg.

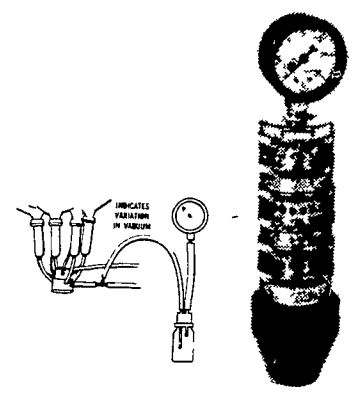
BOU-MATIC PRINCIPLES OF GOOD MILKING!

To balance your milking profits, first balance your milking system.

Balance. All of the Bou-Matic Principles of good milking are keyed to this concept. That is, precise balance of three very important points: proper Vacuum, proper Inflations and proper Pulsation.

Reduced to basics, the Bou-Matic VIP balance concept requires the proper combination of: (1) A smooth, rapid air flow, governed by system-sized pumps and large diameter milking lines; (2) safe, moderate vacuum levels, with vacuum stability (minimum fluctuation at the teat end) and adequate reserve capacity, (3) low-level pipelines which permit the moderate vacuum level needed and minimize fluctuations which can be created by lifting milk to overhead lines; (4) inflations matched to the vacuum level for proper massage without pinching or damaging the teat end; and, (5) dampened pulsation, alternating front to rear, using split ratios to balance the milk-out rate and minimize overmilking of the front quarters; and to balance the milk load of the system.

Applying The BOU-MATIC Principles For PROPER VACUUM:



The goals: to design, install and operate your milking system so as to eliminate as many adverse effects on the cow as possible. Because high vacuum levels and fluctuating vacuum at the teat end are primary sources of irritation, Bou-Matic greatly reduces or eliminates them. Results: more milk from healthier udders

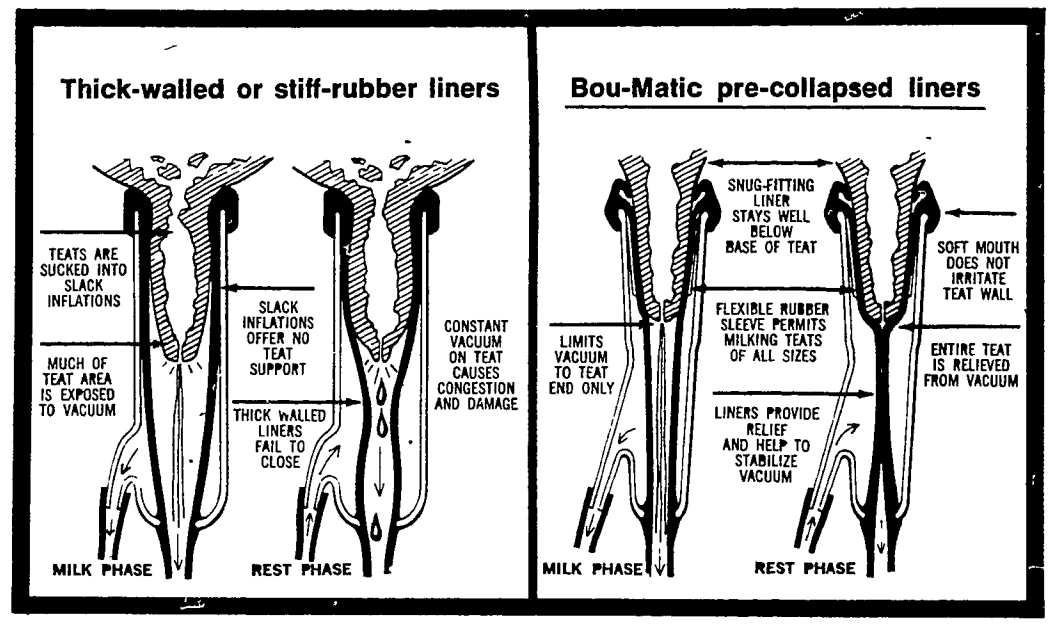
The means: low-level pipelines where possible, to allow use of moderate vacuum levels. large capacity vacuum suppliers for fast removal of air to maintain vacuum stability . . the large-bowl visi-claw that separates milk from vacuum and provides a vacuum reserve close to the udder, helping stabilize vacuum at the teat . . .and more. Because milking involves a dynamic system, proper inflations and pulsation also affect proper vacuum. All of which adds even more significance to the need for a balanced system

Applying The BOU-MATIC Principles For PROPER INFLATIONS:

Bou-Matic inflations complement the balanced performance of the rest of the milking system. So they help reduce udder irritation and increase milk production.

They do so by design. Liners are scientifically formulated to assure positive closure for proper teat massage and blood circulation.

These features, and others, assure you that Bou-Matic inflations won't limit the capability of any other area in the milking system



Thick-walled or stiff-rubber liners
TEATS ARE SUCKED INTO SLACK INFLATIONS
MUCH OF TEAT AREA IS EXPOSED TO VACUUM
SLACK INFLATIONS OFFER NO TEAT SUPPORT
THICK WALLED LINERS FAIL TO CLOSE

Bou-Matic pre-collapsed liners
SNUG-FITTING LINER STAYS WELL BELOW BASE OF TEAT
SOFT MOUTH DOES NOT IRRITATE TEAT WALL
FLEXIBLE RUBBER SLEEVE PERMITS MILKING TEATS OF ALL SIZES
LIMITS VACUUM TO TEAT END ONLY
ENTIRE TEAT IS RELIEVED FROM VACUUM
LINERS PROVIDE RELIEF AND HELP TO STABILIZE VACUUM
MILK PHASE
REST PHASE

Applying The BOU-MATIC Principles For PROPER PULSATION:

The normal udder produces about 40 percent of the milk in the front quarters, 60 percent in the rear. Bou-Matic controls the pulsation to achieve a balanced milkout.

Alternating pulsation balances out the compression created in closing the liners, and backwashing against the teats is eliminated. In addition, it helps stabilize vacuum at the teat end; inflations are gently opened and closed, and cows are milked faster

Bou-Matic pulsator provides trouble-free operation: only two moving parts which float friction-free to eliminate wear; electric coils sealed-in to prevent short-outs; in-place washing; no oiling or adjusting.

How to select productive sows and gilts

NEWARK, Del. — The productivity of a swine herd depends on the productivity of its sows. And this depends on good management as well as good genetics.

A sow's potential isn't met in most herds, says University of Delaware extension livestock specialist Richard Fowler. She is capable of farrowing 2.5 times a year and weaning 12 pigs from each litter.

This translates into 30 pigs per sow per year.

In 1979 the average number of pigs weaned annually per sow in the U.S. was only 11.7.

Deciding which gilts to keep for your breeding herd is an important job. Keep fast-growing, sound, lean gilts from larger litters. After farrowing, cull sows with poor dispositions, physical problems, poor mothering records, or with litters that are two pigs below the group weaning average.

Records help identify the most productive females, says Fowler. Since some traits are now highly heritable, management has a big influence on productivity.

For example, take litter size at birth. Only about 10 percent of the variation observed in this trait is due to genetics.

Put another way, if one sow farrows 10 pigs and another eight, only .2 of a pig is due to the genetic differences between the two sows. This apparently small influence on litter size may tempt you to underestimate its importance in selection, says the specialist.

Litter weight at three weeks is an excellent way to measure sow productivity. This measurement recognizes the number of pigs born and the milk-producing ability of the sow.

This information is also useful in determining an index number. It's the basis for the sow indexing programs offered by breed associations and some universities.

One index that is used is: Index No. = 2 (No. born + 2 x No. weaned + 2 x total litter weight at three weeks/30).

The wide variation in litter size among sows makes it difficult to evaluate genetic factors, since heritability of litter size is small and environmental factors are large. But sows on the same farm are in a similar environment and get similar care, so their differences do have some genetic basis.

Good records and an indexing system will help you identify these inherited differences.

Conformation also plays an important role in selection. There is evidence — though not fully proven — that the very meaty female does not make a good brood sow.

Good brood sows usually have long muscling, rather than short, bunch muscles. These individuals exhibit freedom of movement with an easy-moving stride. They're the kind of gilts that have some slope to their pastern and a front foot that is slightly ahead of the knee.

Avoid keeping gilts with small, up-turned genitalia and poorly defined underlines. Underlines should have six prominent, evenly spaced nipples on each side, three in front of the navel.

Do not save gilts with inverted or scarred teats. The fastest growing, leanest gilts which are sound and from large litters should be saved for replacement females.

The way a gilt is managed at birth and during puberty can affect her reproductive performance. Recent research shows that gilts raised in large litters are less productive than those reared in small ones. Equalize litters by fostering the male pigs from large litters.

Evaluate gilts at weaning and again during the growing period. At 200 pounds place them on a restricted diet of about six pounds per head daily. The added weight gained on full-feed is mostly fat.

Place the gilts in fenceline contact with a boar to induce early estrus and a higher pregnancy rate.

Reduced dosage strain 19 brucellosis vaccine available

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Reduced-dosage Strain 19 brucellosis vaccine is now available to cattle raisers in states where it is needed to help reduce brucellosis in cattle herds.

"We handled regulatory changes making reduced dosage available on a emergency basis to encourage vaccination of last spring's calf crop, which is now the right age to vaccinate," Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland said.

"USDA veterinarians believe reduced-dosage vaccination gives ample protection with far less chance of causing testing problems later," he said.

Bergland also said the uniform methods and rules for brucellosis eradiction were changed October 1 to allow heifer calves of beef or dairy breeds to be vaccinated with reduced dosage between four and 12 months of age. The rules still call for vaccination with standard dosage at from two and six months of age for dairy calves and from two to ten months for beef breeds, although some states have lower age limits for beef calves.

Bergland said use of reduced-dosage Strain 19 vaccine is optional for states, and some brucellosis-free or low-incidence states will not be taking advantage of its availability right away.

"States have facilities and people trained for doing viability counts and other steps needed to make reduced-dosage vaccine available to veterinarians," he said. "These special procedures for handling will be needed until manufacturers can label vaccine for reduced dosage."

Reduced dosage was made possible by research recently completed by USDA scientists at the National Animal Disease Center, Ames, Iowa, Bergland said. Their findings show reduced dosage provides about the same protection as the standard dose but with much less chance of persistent high antibody levels that confuse blood test results.

Brucellosis, also called Bang's disease, is the object of a cooperative state-federal brucellosis eradication program. The goal is to protect the 99.5 percent of U.S. cattle, already free of disease while eliminating the remaining infection.

Brucellosis still costs cattle owners about $56 million in annual losses from reduced calf crops and lower milk yields, brought on by abortion, birth of weak calves and breeding problems; Bergland said.

With no state-federal controls, losses could reach an estimated $1 billion annually in just a few years, he said.

The regulation changes will be published in the Oct. 2 Federal Register. Comments should be sent, by December 10, to the deputy administrator, USDA, APHIS, Veterinary Services, Federal Building, room 805, Hyattsville, Md., 20782. Copies of the regulation changes are also available from that address.

CUMBERLAND COUNTY DHIA Monthly Report

AUGUST 1980

Cumberland County Dairy Herd Improvement records show that 7969.4 cows in 137 herds were on production testing in August according to Duane G. Duncan, County Agent

Of the 113 Herds on DHIA, 39 herds had an average fat production of 1 50 pounds per cow per day for the month

During the month 229 completed their 305 day lactation with 600 pounds of butterfat.

DHIA Supervisors working with the dairymen to improve efficiency include Harold Boldosser, 130 Old Gap Road, Carlisle, Paul Wynn, R1, Box 88, Newburg, and Jay Zeigler, R1 Carlisle

The following are the highest actual butterfat in 305 days or less in the county during the month. The age listed is her age at the time of freshing.

Volume-Belt® cattle feeder
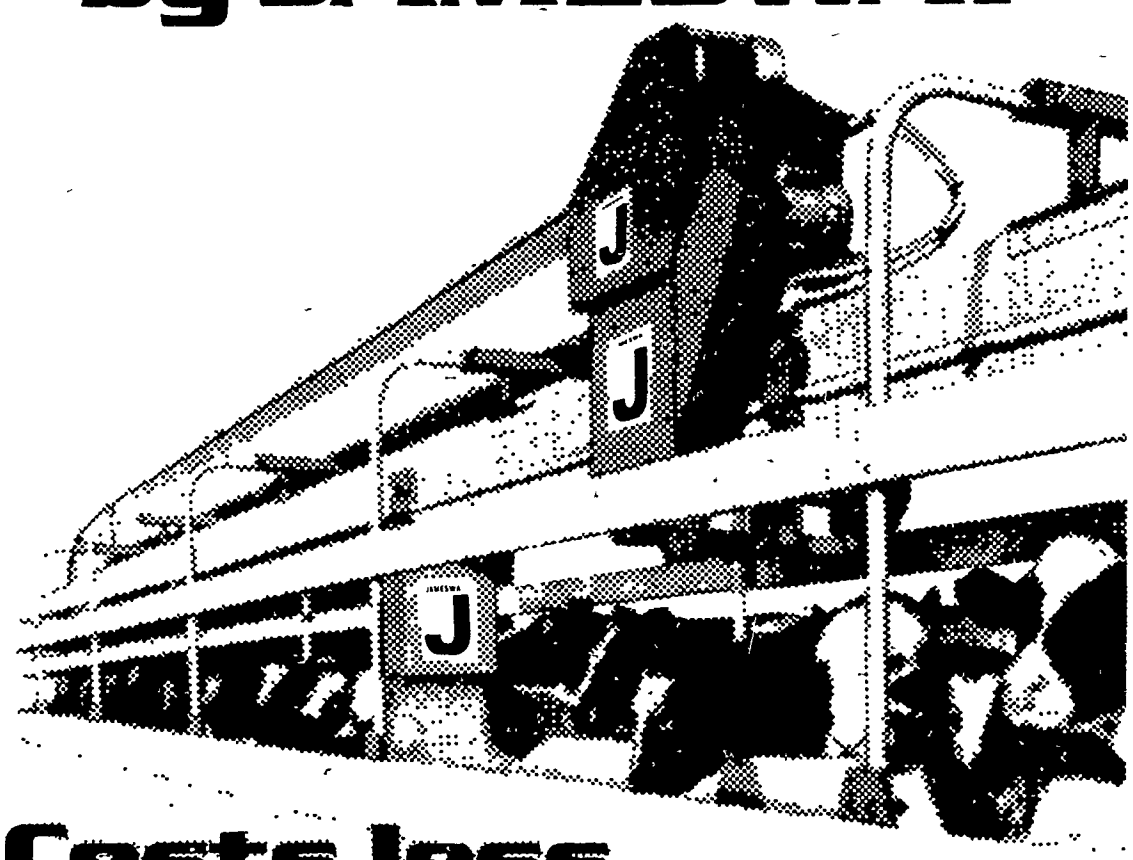
by JAMESWAY®



Costs less

Simple design gives you big-capacity performance at a lower cost per foot than other feeders in its class. Few moving parts to cause feeding slowdowns. Takes only 1 hp to load up a 190 ft. bunk, so you save on power costs while you save feeding time. Fast, quiet and dependable, too.

See us for systems and service that help make the good life better.

HEAT FOR LESS

THERE ARE TWO WOOD STOVES IN THIS PICTURE

The one you see is an open stove, with all the beauty of the open fireplace The one you don t see is an air-tight stove that heats up to 9 000 cu ft for 10 hours when you close cast iron doors

The Upland is designed to be used either free standing or vented into an existing fireplace Either way you get two stoves in one

Reading Fair sets dates, activities

READING — The Agricultural and Horticultural Society of Berks County, which sponsors the Reading Fair held a meeting last Wednesday night at the Fairgrounds site to finalize plans for the upcoming fair.

Fair dates this year have been set for October 20th (Monday) thru October 25th (Saturday) inclusive.

Heads of departments and committee members were given a personal tour thru the Fairgrounds Square Mall.

The inside of the Mall will house quilters (Ontelaunee Grange and Fleetwood Grange), free nitely entertainment consisting of bluegrass music and country western music, grange exhibits representing Berks County, and several Penna. Dutch working artisans. A "Sheep-to-Shawl demonstration will be performed by the Berks County Wool Growers.

One night has been set aside for "Pennsylvania Dutch Night" with entertainment by Kaz and the Mischief Makers, Boombas competition, alpine horns, schuhplattler dancers.

On still another night hoedowning and jigging competitions will be the big event to see, as the Floyd Feick Family band plays. There will be lots of free entertainment, free admission, free parking, hayrides for the kiddies, food booths with a vast assortment of Pa. Dutch cooking by the Granges which will be appropriately called "the cookery".

A youth rabbit show will be held on Sat. Oct. 25th at 11:00 AM. A log sawing contest will be held on Monday night at 7:00 PM.

CCC interest rate dropped

LITITZ — Interest rates for farm facility loans made through the U.S. Department of Agriculture will be reduced by one-half percent-to 12.5 percent-effective for loans made on or after September 29, according to Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland.

Farm facility loans help farmers build needed farm storage and drying equipment, Bergland said.

The reduction is a result of a continual review of interest rates charged farmers, Bergland said.

The interest rate for farm storage facility and drying equipment loans is based on the Commodity Credit Corporation's cost of borrowing money from the U.S. Treasury and was last changed April 15 when it was set at 13 percent, he said.

Pa. shepherds take breeding sheep champions

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania exhibitors took home championships in the Keystone International Livestock Exposition, held here at the Farm Show Complex last week, in both the Shropshire and Rambouillet breeding sheep shows.

William E. Yoder of Kutztown went home to his Berks County farm with the champion Shropshire ewe. This was WEY Shrops first year in competition at KILE.

The WEY ewe, R. Stokes Fam. 228, was the first place ewe in her class, 1 year and under 2, before being tagged the best Shropshire female of the show by judge Gary Ricketts, Urbana, Illinois.

In the Rambouillet competition, Bradford County's Kenneth T. Moore captured both the ewe and ram championships with his entires. The champion ram was Moore's fall lamb, and the champion ewe was his yearling entry.

Moore was the Premier Exhibitor of the Monday afternoon show. He had the first place exhibitors flock, along with both reserve championships for his yearling ram and fall ewe lamb.

Moore also exhibited the reserve champion Cheviot ram in Friday's Cheviot Breeding Sheep Show. The ram was the second place spring lamb and stood behind the show's grand champion.

Show results for the breeding sheep competition are as follows:

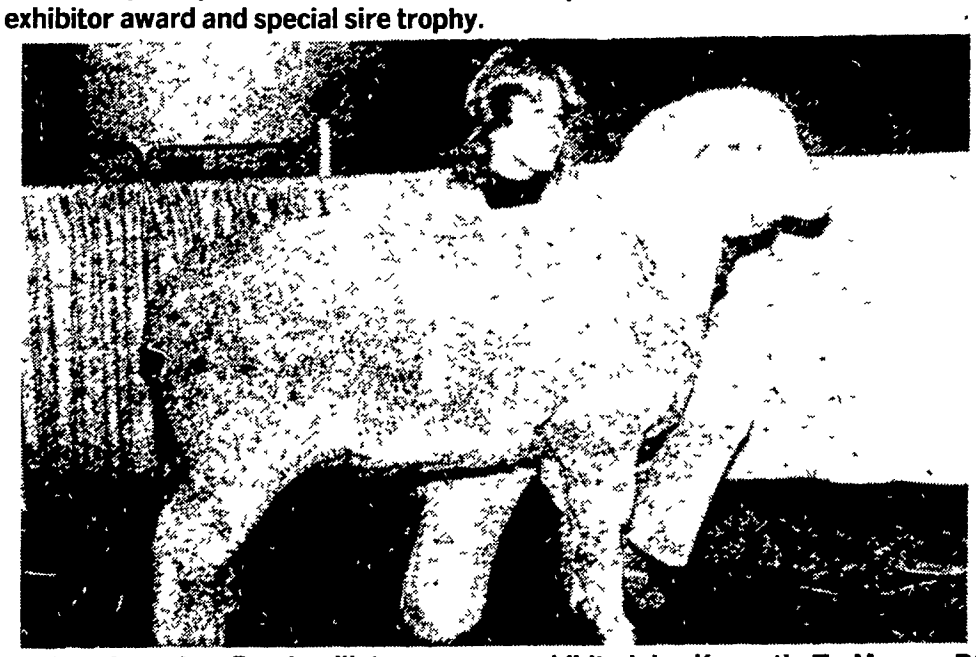
York County's Lisa Dobrosky, the National Southdown Queen, was on hand at KILE for the presentation of the Champion Southdown Ewe ribbon. Dick Matlack showed the ewe for Jagger Brothers of Mt. Gilead, Ohio.

The champion Dorset ram was exhibited by Birchwood Farm, Hinckley, Illinois. Showing the yearling ram is Buster Wilson, Rural Retreat, VA. Also pictured are the New Jersey Dorset Queen Linda Roever and Judge Gary Ricketts from the University of Illinois.

Charles Clouser and his daughters exhibited the champion Merino ewe at KILE. They swept both the ram and ewe competition and received the premier exhibitor award and special sire trophy.

The champion Suffolk ewe was exhibited by Jagger Brothers, Mt. Gilead, Ohio. Showing the spring ewe lamb is Diane Burke, Glenville, West Virginia.



The champion Rambouillet ewe was exhibited by Kenneth T. Moore, R2 Nichols, N.Y. Moore swept the championships in both the ram and ewe classes and was named premier exhibitor.

William E. Yoder of WEY Shrops, Kutztown, exhibited the champion ewe in the Shropshire Breeding Sheep Show at the 24th Keystone International Livestock Expo.

The champion Rambouillet ram was also exhibited by Bradford County's Kenneth T. Moore. Handling the sheep was Moore's daughter, Doris Powell.

FORAGE HANDLING EQUIPMENT BY BADGER NORTHLAND!

Forage is a major feedstuff in your livestock operation That's why it's so important to handle it properly saving every bit of its nutrient value to produce milk and meat

Badger Northland builds its line of forage handling equipment to help you attain that goal Each piece of Badger equipment is designed to perform efficiently and with minimum maintenance

It's also backed by the best dealer parts and service network in the industry If you're considering purchasing a new forage box, blower or mower/conditioner, see your Badger Dealer and Badger Boxes keep on working long after others have worn out.

When it comes to forage boxes, nothing can beat a Badger Box Badger builds its own boxes right in Kaukauna, Wisconsin where they maintain rigid quality control

A Badger Box is built with channel side stakes for extra strength and specially treated, exterior grade plywood to resist acids, corrosion, and rot The bolted undercarriage and chain drive are designed to take the toughest punishment

And Badger Boxes hold their value At trade-in time many Badger owners are surprised to see their box worth as much as when they bought it new

They haven't built a silo that the Badger Northland Blower can't fill.

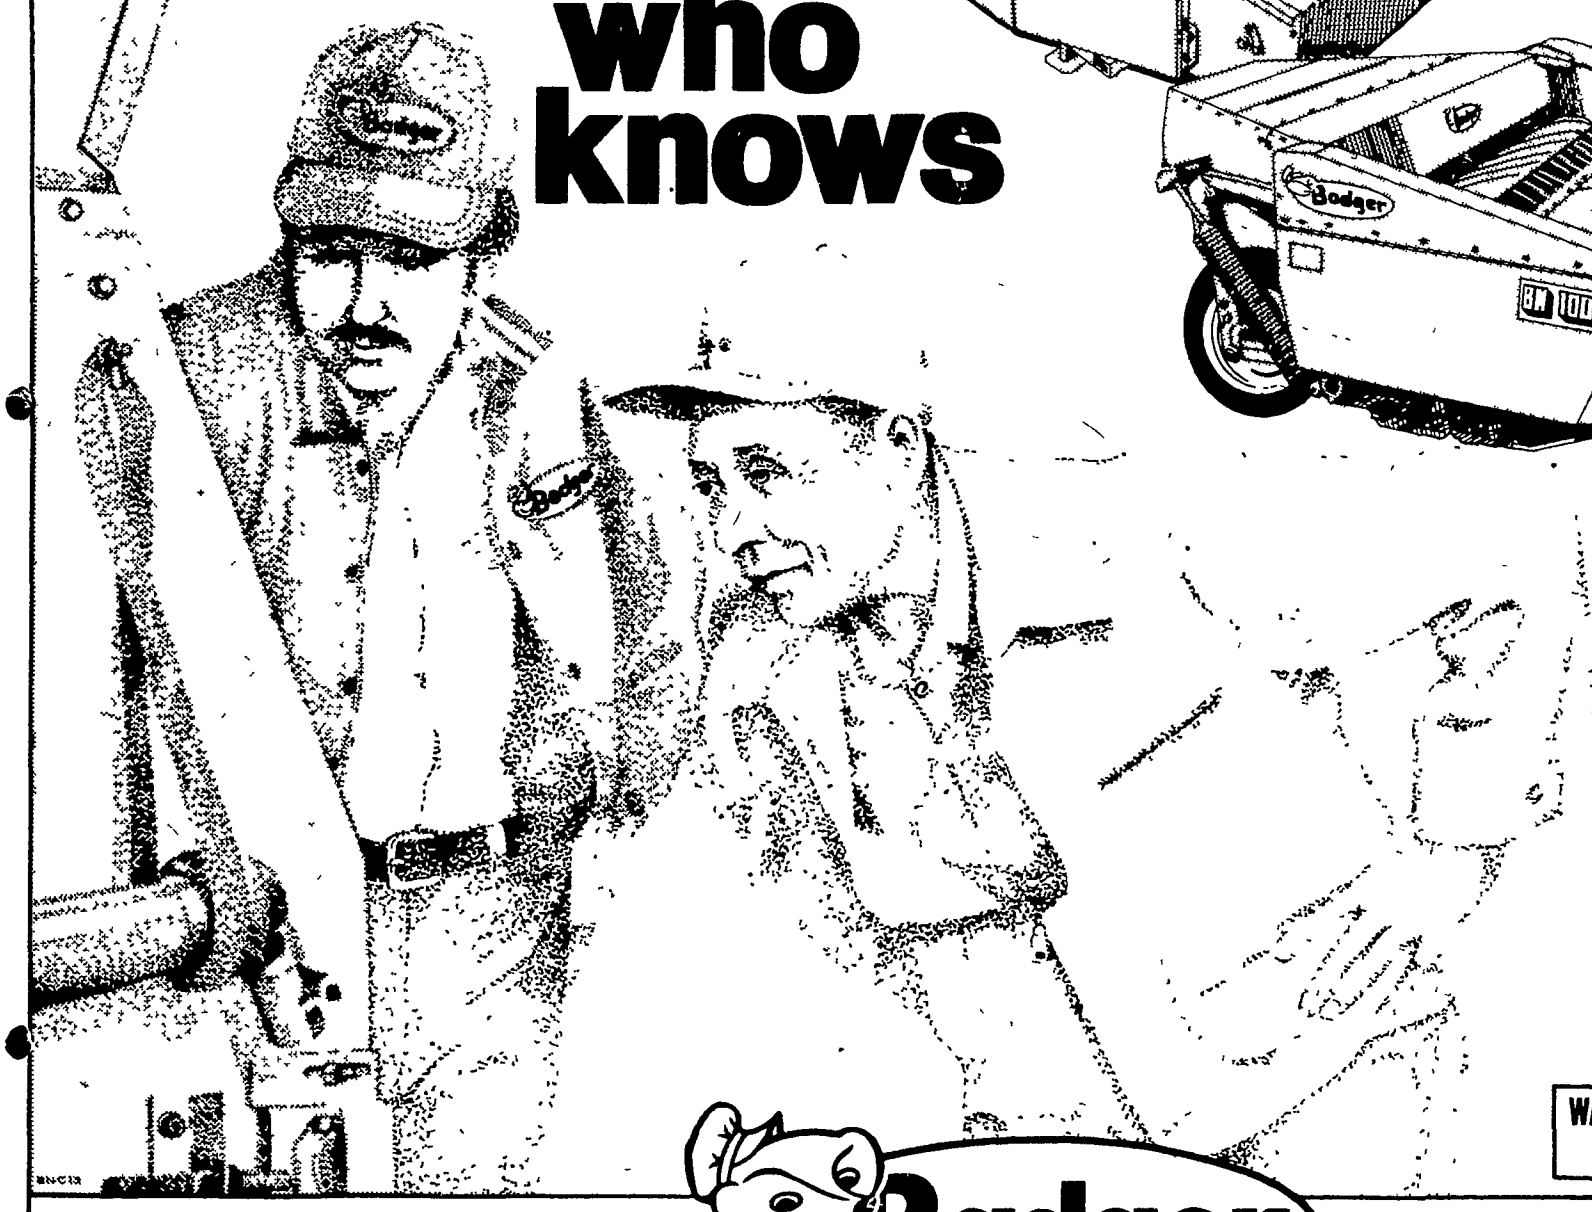
No matter how high or how big the Badger Blower can fill em all

It s simply the least costly to operate smoothest running toughest blower you can buy

The Badger Blower can operate at 540-650 r p m s It will take anything you give it forage or grain (with little or no cracking) It ll blow the highest tonnage with the lowest h p And the special Badger magnet catches foreign material before it catches you

Get together with your Badger Dealer today and get ready to fill your big silo

Talk to the man who knows



Take it all off with a Badger Northland Mower/Conditioner!

Even in the toughest of conditions, the Badger Mower/Conditioner will perform its clean cutting" duties like no other, without over conditioning

The Badger Mower/Conditioner will run longer with fewer 'u" joints and its adjustable transmission gives great maneuverability Row width can also be adjusted See what it's like to own a mower/conditioner that will spend more time in the field than it does in the shop

Penn State fairs well in Open Market Lamb Division

HARRISBURG — Penn State's sheep entries faired well in the Open Market Lamb Division at this year's Kile.

In the Dorset competition, Penn State exhibited the first place wether, along with the first place pen of three wethers.

Then, in the Suffolk contest, Penn State came out on top with the first place pen of three wethers.

Climaxing the competition for the university was the final selection of their pen of 3 market lambs for grand champion pen.

Other Pennsylvanians doing well in the truckload contest were Mike Huff and Erdenheim Farm, both of Lafayette Hill. They took the top placings in the Cheviot competition.

Results of the Open Market Lamb Division Truckloads are:

Brubaker and ewe take first in Ladies Lead

BY SHEILA MILLER

HARRISBURG — Lancaster County's Sarah Brubaker and her Hampshire yearling ewe, Lindsey, strolled through the sawdust of the sheep arena on Sunday evening to walk off with the first place honors in the Ladies Lead competition at KILE.

The pair, decked out in their finest wool, showed off their apparel to judges and spectators as they walked around the show ring. Lindsey walked along next to Sarah like a trooper, although she was very nervous about the competition according to Sarah (this was her first one).

Based on their appearance, the ewe's ability to lead, and Sarah's activities in the sheep and wool industry, the pair were selected by a panel of three judges as the best out of a stiffly competitive field of ten.

A 1980 graduate of Hempfield High School, Sarah has always been active in the Lancaster County's 4-H program, serving as president of both the beef and sheep club.

Sarah not only represents the sheep and wool industry in Ladies Lead contests — she has already started her own flock of registered Hampshire ewes. She keeps her ten ewes with her parents' flock on their farm in Lancaster.

During the Sunday evening competition, Sarah wore an outfit made almost completely of wool from the top of her head to her toes.

Her short cut, tailored wool jacket sported a stickpin that represented the sheep industry on the collar. Completing the ensemble, Sarah wore a cream-color wool sweater and a tan wool skirt.

Even Sarah's hat was made from 100 percent wool.

Lindsey, Sarah's sheep finished out the wool wardrobe. The ewe wore her own natural outfit plus a halter made from the same material as Sarah's jacket. To add the final touch, wool pompoms decorated the ewe's tweed halter.

This was Sarah's first competition in Ladies Lead at KILE, however she has entered other competitions in the past.

Other contestants in the Ladies Lead included: Christine Ambler, R1 Cochranville; Kathi Elander, Woodstock, N.Y.; Patricia Moore, Elkton, MD; Lauren Putnak, Monongahela; Barbara Denise Garber, R3 Waynesburg; Elisa O'Connor, R4 Monongahela; Sonya Lynn Paul, R1 Marianna; Caroline A. Cerilli, Red Hook, N.Y.; and Beverly Giovanitti, Boiling Springs.

Presenting the first place Ladies Lead trophy to Sarah is proud mother, Dorothy Brubaker.

Sarah Brubaker of Lancaster and her Hampshire yearling ewe, Lindsey, walked off with the top honors in Ladies Lead during the 24th Annual Keystone Livestock Exposition.

The Dairy Business

By Newton Bair

EVALUATING THE BROOD COW. Grandpa would never understand the jargon used in todays dairy business. Modern cow language is filled with acronyms, abbreviations and alphabetical acrobatics that can make even a Dutchman blush! But we all have to learn how to understand and speak it in order to know what's going on.

We all know what DHI stands for, Dairy Herd Improvement, is the name of the game. It's a very serious game, and the stakes are high, so the tools we use are very sophisticated. But we like to shorten the handles.

So, when we want to talk about the Estimated Producing Ability of a cow, we simply refer to the EPA value. We seldom say Predicted Difference or Estimated Pedigree Value anymore; it's easier to say PD and EPV, and a lot shorter to write. But the main thing is that we know what they mean and how to use them in evaluating our cows.

So, lets look at the CI (Cow Index), the most sophisticated formula used in today's practical genetics. It's also one of the least understood by the layman.

Many dairymen recently have received their first computer sheets listing a CI for every cow in their herd that has completed a lactation. So now's the time to learn how they are computed, and just how valuable they can be.

Anyone who has signed a contract mating with an AI Stud knows the importance of a high CI on the contract cow.

Before you can fully understand how the Cow Index formula works, there are some terms to be defined and understood. EPA is an Estimate of a cow's Producing Ability. It takes into account her genetic background and her own environmental conditions that can affect her records.

The EPA formula uses a series of "weighted percentages" correlated among successive lactation records. Here are the weights used for various number of records:

No Records	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
Weight	5	67	75	80	83	86	.88	89

Another term used is HD, the Herdmate Deviation. This figure can be plus (+) or minus (-), depending on whether a cows' records are higher or lower than her herdmates. The formula is: EPA=weight (for no. of records) X HD.

Example: a cow with four records and an average herdmate deviation of +5000 pounds of milk has an EPA of .80 x +5000 = +4000 pounds.

EPA values for all cows are listed on the Computerized Life History Sheet, and you can easily compare the EPA for all cows in your herd.

COMPUTING THE COW INDEX (CI) The CI is an estimate of a cows ability to transmit her qualities to her offspring. Sire analysts check the Cow Index value before considering her for a planned mating contract.

Based on production records, it is an expansion of the cows average Herdmate Deviation (HD) and the Predicted Difference (PD) of her sire. Both are modified by a weighting factor. The factors are different from those used in calculating the Estimated Producing Ability.

No Records	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
Weight	15	21	24	26	27	28	29

The formula is: CI = .5 [(Cow factor X HD) + (Bull factor X Bulls PD)]. The Bull factor for a Bull with 90% Repeatability is .85.

Example: The cow in the above example has an HD of +5000 lb. milk on 4 records. She was sired by a bull with 90% + Repeatability, and a Predicted Difference of 1000 lb. Her CI is computed as follows:

Cow Index = .5 [(.26 x 5000) + (.85 x 1000)]
Cow Index = .5 [1300 + 850]
Cow Index = 1075

Obviously, the more records a cow has, with a high Herdmate Deviation (HD), the more reliable is her index. If the above cow had only one record, her CI would be 800, probably too low to be considered for the contract mating game.

Even if you don't want to bother to figure your own EPA or CI, I thought it might be fun to see how it's done.

FmHA boosts rural home interest rate

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The basic interest rate on home ownership loans made by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Farmers Home Administration has been raised to 12 percent, Alex P. Mercure, USDA assistant secretary for rural development, said Wednesday.

The previous rate, in effect since June, was 11.5 percent.

Mercure said the rate applies to rural housing loans to families of moderate income.

Formulas used in setting interest rates for Farmers Home Administration and other government lenders, said Mercure, are prescribed by law and are closely tied to the cost of federal borrowing and prevailing private market interest rates for similiar maturities.

The change in interest rate applies only to non-subsidized housing loans made by the Farmers Home Administration, the rural credit service of USDA, in rural areas including tours of not more than 20,000 population.

Loans still will be available as rates as low as one percent to low-income families under the "interest credit" provision of the national housing act, Mercure said.

Farm leaders pool ideas to expand ag exports

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Thirty prominent leaders representing every major segment of agriculture met in Washington last week to begin drafting a long-range "Blueprint for U.S. Farm Export Expansion" due for completion next February.

Those participating in the two-day meeting at the Capitol included representatives of the grain cooperatives and grain companies, presidents of major grower organizations, agribusiness executives, academic leaders and top government officials.

At the group's closing session its Chairman, Don Charier, President of Far-Mar-Co, the nation's largest grain cooperative, noted, "To my knowledge a group such as this has never been assembled before. We have a great opportunity and a real responsibility to develop the kind of plan that can greatly benefit our entire country."

Chartier is heading-up a special Blue Ribbon Committee named as a part of the U.S. Farm Export Education Project. The project is being coordinated by the Agriculture Council of America in an effort to obtain "maximum feasible farm export expansion over the next decade."

The group meeting here this week reviewed a working draft plan prepared by Michael Cook of Texas A & M University under the direction of a small Steering Committee.

Members of the Blue Ribbon Committee made numerous suggestions that will provide the direction for a second draft due for presentation at a second meeting of the Committee in January in Washington.

The final draft will be presented at a National Conference on Export Strategies for the Future, February 9 to 11, 1981 at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington.

Some 50 members of Congress have already announced their support for the project, and many of them attended a reception for the Blue Ribbon Committee in the Rayburn House Office Building on Wednesday night. Supporting Members of Congress are naming five to 10 prominent non-farm constituents to review and make suggestions on the first draft Blueprint discussed here this week.

"This is an excellent way to get the thinking of a very select group of non-farm leaders from around the country," Chartier commented. "This involves a fundamental part of the whole approach with this project. We're going to develop a plan that we can take to the American people — something that shows conclusively that farm exports don't just benefit the entire country.

"We also expect to show what specifically can be done to expand farm exports as a means of reducing inflation, creating new jobs and strengthening the dollar."

Jerry Rees of the National Association of Wheat Growers, a spokesman for the Project Steering Committee, noted that the group expects to have more than 100 Members of Congress providing active support by the end of the year.

In presenting the project timetable, Rees noted members of the Blue Ribbon Committee will have 60 days to provide further written comment on the first working draft Blueprint.

The Steering Committee and Cook will evaluate this response as well as that from prominent constituents named by Members of Congress for inclusion in the second draft to be presented to the Blue Ribbon Committee in January.

Another member of the Steering Committee, Warren Lebeck, representing the Chicago Board of Trade, described plans for the development of a series of radio and television commercials on important points emphasized in the Blueprint. Lebeck said complete details on this part of the program will be presented at the conference in February.

Further information on the project may be obtained by writing Farm Export Education, Box 23421, Washington, DC 20024, or by calling the Agriculture Council of America at 202/466-3100. ACA serves as a communications link to the non-farm public.

It is supported by a broad cross-section of farm commodities and agribusiness companies.

Thurmont-Emmitsburg Show sets several records

THURMONT, Md. — The 24th annual Thurmont and Emmitsburg Community Show was held recently at Catoctin High School in Thurmont, Maryland.

Sponsored annually by the Thurmont and Emmitsburg Granges, Catoctin FFA Chapter, Catoctin FFA Alumni and the Maryland Agricultural Fair Board, this year's show had over 12,000 persons in attendance during the three days of activities.

Rodman Myers, chairman of this past year's community show reported that the show was blessed with excellent weather and said "Excellent community cooperation once again was the key to another successful show."

There were 543 exhibitors with 1717 exhibits in 21 departments.

The show opened with the flag ceremony of local civic organizations. This year the Community Show honored Catoctin area orchardists and beekeepers. William G. Baker was honored for his service to the Community Show from 1952 to 1980.

The highlight of the evening was the announcement of the 1980-81 Catoctin FFA Chapter Sweetheart. Becky Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Long of Thurmont was chosen for this honor. Other candidates were Becky Keilholtz, Susan Flanigan, Pam Shriver, Annette Harbaugh, and Allyson Sanders.

Next day's activities opened with the Pet Show won by Patty Harding with her German Shepherd Dog "Gretchen."

The Bike Rodeo was won by Juliann Brauer in the tots division and Kevin Dewees in the youth division. Kim Drye was the champion pie eater.

The Thurmont Grange sold over 1000 turkey and ham suppers and the Catoctin Mountain Boys played country and bluegrass music that evening.

The Catoctin FFA Alumni Beef, Sheep and Swine sale was the best sale average in its history.

Becky Keilholtz won the Fitting and Showing competition and exhibited the champion steer. Shuff's Meats bought the champion steer shown by Becky Keilholtz for $1.52 a pound and champion hog exhibited by Susan Flanigan for $1.25 per pound. Pax Farms of Fairfield, Pa. bought the champion lamb shown by Richard Mumpower for $1.30 per pound.

Sunday's activities opened with the Emmitsburg Grange selling 400 chicken bar-b-que dinners. The Catoctin Mountain Boys played their country and bluegrass music in the auditorium.

Winners in the various contests were: Horseshoe Pitching-Richard Valentine and Roland Weller; cross-cut sawing-Lloyd Hahn and Russell Wetzel; and mule pulling contest-Rex Pennick.

The 25th anniversary of the Community Show will be celebrated in 1981 with the dates September 11, 12 and 13.

Garbage feeding bill passes Congress

DES MOINES, Ia. — In a flurry of activity last Wednesday the U.S. House and Senate passed the garbage feeding bill designed to prevent the spread of disease, including African Swine Fever.

Bill Buller, President of the National Pork Producers Council praised Congress for its expedient action which will serve to protect the pork industry from the disasterous consequences of the current outbreak of ASF in Central America.

While the bill does not prohibit the feeding of garbage to hogs, Buller said it does require that all garbage be cooked or otherwise treated to kill disease organisms.

ASF is spread through scraps of meat from infected or carrier hogs that get into garbage which is then fed to hogs.

No known cure or vaccine exists for the disease and the only means of preventing its spread is the destruction of infected animals. Humans are not affected by ASF.

"While this legislation protects the pork industry," said Orville Sweet, NPPC Executive Vice President, "it is also protecting consumers against the threat of reduced pork supplies resulting from an outbreak of ASF."

Outbreaks of ASF have occurred in the Dominican Republic, Cuba and Haiti, but it has not been detected in the U.S.

If ASF did enter the U.S., eliminating the disease from even a small area would cost over $7 million. Eliminating ASF from a large area over a period of years could cost billions.

Enforcement of this legislation will be a state function if an adequate program meeting federal standards exists. Federal enforcement will be used only in those states without adequate programs.

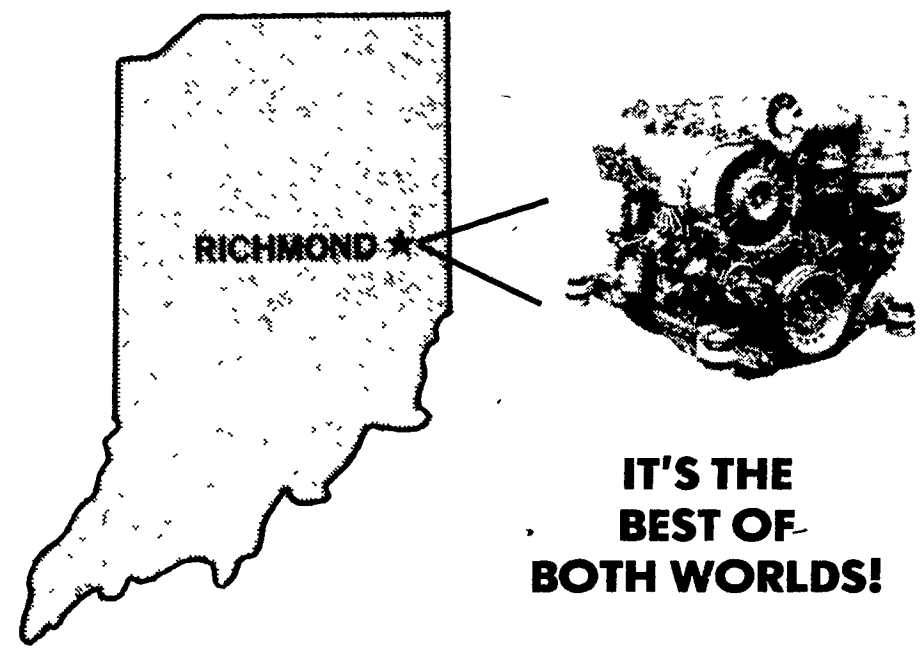
DEUTZ DIESELS FROM INDIANA?



IT'S THE BEST OF BOTH WORLDS!
Deutz customers know from experience that Deutz diesels are a creation of German engineering and production craftsmanship. All those happy Deutz users will be even happier to learn that — NOW DEUTZ DIESELS ARE MADE IN USA - at an engine plant Deutz purchased in Richmond, Indiana
Domestic production in the 20-160 hp range gives us and our Deutz customers a tremendous advantage over all other air-cooled diesels.
Invest in a sure thing - Deutz diesels have been famous for fuel economy and reliability since Amos Stauffer first sold Deutz diesels in this area - 25 years ago. We are equally famous for superb Deutz service.
Don't just buy a "bargain" diesel which is supposed to be "built like a Deutz", BUY A DEUTZ AND BE SURE YOU HAVE MADE A GOOD INVESTMENT. A Deutz diesel will usually recover the difference in price thru fuel savings alone within one year.

Farm Bureau slams changing farm policy

SEATTLE, Wash. — "Off-again, on-again policy decisions by government have been a source of frustration to farmers – confusion to consumers–and (we trust) embarassment to regulators," Robert B. Delano said last Thursday.

Delano, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, spoke at the annual convention of the International Pesticide Applicators Association.

He cited the nitrite "cancer scare," the congressionally reversed ban on saccharin and the proposal, abandoned for now, to establish pesticide application "buffer zones" around cotton fields as examples of "off-again, on-again" policy decisions.

"Most disturbing to many farmers has been the apparent shift in orientation of our U.S. Department of Agriculture in the past three years," Delano said. "The shift is towards consumerism and away from agricultural concerns."

Stressing the importance of agricultural chemicals as an essential production tool, Delano referred to a report by the National Academy of Sciences.

That report said that full withdrawl of ag chemicals would reduce crop output by 30 percent; increase the price of farm products by 50 to 75 percent; eliminate farm exports which last year totaled almost 35 billion dollars; and cause everyone to spend 30 to 40 percent of disposable income for food instead of the current 17 percent.

"Without full use of our most important pesticides and farm chemicals, American food production would no longer be the hope of a hungry world," the farm leader said, noting that the Presidential Commission on World Hunger states that the problem of world hunger grows worse...no better.

To continue producing enough food for ourselves and to help feed the world's hungry, the U.S. farmer must rely on pesticides and other chemicals, Delano concluded.

A special message to farmers who appreciate the difference...

PRICE vs. VALUE
in liquid fertilizer

When the first thing a fertilizer salesman wants to talk about is a "bargain basement price," you can be pretty sure that's all he really has to offer

We're cost-sensitive at NA-CHURS, too But because we're dedicated to selling quality, we like to discuss value— at a fair price Here's what NA-CHURS has to offer

☐ Highest quality product. Remember, first, that NA-CHURS liquid fertilizer is a precisely-formulated, complete liquid plant food — not just a blend of raw materials Just because another fertilizer may have the same basic NPK ratio, does not make it the "same" fertilizer That's because NA-CHURS starts with only the highest-quality raw materials These are formulated into a solution that won't separate and settle out like many poor-quality, suspension liquids That's why NA-CHURS stores safely over winter, giving you the advantage of lower fall prices and planting time application as early as you're ready

☐ Extra service — at no extra cost. NA-CHURS customers know that what comes with a fertilizer is just as important as what goes in it The NA-CHURS Program includes year 'round extra services — all at no extra cost ☐ Composite soil samples are taken and a written fertility recommendation for each field is supplied by NA-CHURS agronomists No charge!

☐ Your NA-CHURS Representative assists with installation and calibration of liquid equiment No charge!

☐ Follow-up service Your NA-CHURS man is on hand throughout the growing season — to help your crops reach full yield potential

☐ Special credit terms and discounts are an important part of the NA-CHURS program You help us plan for production, and we'll help you save money

These are just some of the extras that we call SERVICE — to help you achieve optimum yields and after-cost profits That's what the NA-CHURS program is all about See your NA-CHURS man and talk about the real differences between price and value

Md. Shorthorn Assn. to hold calf sale

FREDERICK, Md. — The Maryland Shorthorn Association's annual calf sale will be held on Saturday, October 18, at the Frederick Fairgrounds.

The sale will start at 12:30 p.m., and will feature some 30 head of pure- and cross-bred Shorthorn calves from Maryland and Virginia herds, including Holly Hill farms, Ijamsville; Edwin A. Hevner, Union Bridge; T.C Jenkins, Owings Mills; Gerald Schiermeyer, Warrenton, Va., Caledonia Farm, Charles Town, W. Va., Otis Fisher, Staunton, Va., and others. The steers in the sale are pure- or cross-bred Shorthorns; the heifers are all pure-bred, and are, or eligible to be, registered.

This is the seventh annual calf sale sponsored by the Maryland Shorthorn Association. In sponsoring the sale the Association seeks to provide a central source of supply for 4-H and FFA members to secure quality calves for their projects.

The Association awards trophies each year for the champion Shorthorn steers and heifers at numerous Maryland junior shows. Calves sold in the Association's sales have consistently won championships at many of these shows, including the Maryland State Fair, the Howard County Fair, the Great Frederick Fair, and the Wills Spring Fair.

The reserve champion Shorthorn steer at the 1980 Maryland State Fair and champion at the Great Frederick Fair was sold in the 1979 calf sale, and the champion steer at the Maryland State Fair came from one of the consignors to this sale. Prospective and established Shorthorn breeders may also find animals to fill their needs among the heifers offered.

Henry L. Dodrer, Jr., Littlestown, Pa., president of the Maryland Shorthorn Association, is acting as sale manager. Wayne Neely, Frederick, is Association secretary-treasurer; and Duane Harper, Gaithersburg, is vice president. Further information is available by telephoning 717/359-7689, 301/663-6753, or 301/253-3800.

Order 4 November milk set for $14.85

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — Middle Atlantic Order Market Administrator Joseph D. Shine Monday announced a Class I milk price of $14.85 per hundredweight for November 1980.

This price is up 21 cents from the October price and 75 cents above last November.

Order No. 4 prices are announced for milk testing 3.5 percent butterfat, f.o.b. plants located within 55 miles of Philadelphia, and also within 75 miles from the nearer of Washington, DC or Baltimore, Md.

There is also a six cent direct-delivery differential applicable to producer milk received at plants located within 55 miles of Philadelphia.

Shine announced a Class II milk price of $12.15 per hundredweight for September 1980 and a butterfat differential of 16.7 cents for the month. The Class II milk price increased 17 cents from the previous month while the butterfat differential is up one tenth of a cent.

These class prices are based on the September 1980 Minnesota-Wisconsin manufacturing milk price of $12.07 per hundredweight adjusted to a 3.5 percent butterfat content.

The USDA reported that the wholesale price of Grade A butter at Chicago for September was $1.4507 per pound and the nonfat dry milk price $.8926 per pound, f.o.b. plants in the Chicago area.

Farm co-ops to have separate USDA agency

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Farm cooperative activities within the U.S. Department of Agriculture will be centered in the Agricultural Cooperative Service, a newly-established USDA agency, according to Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland.

Bergland said the new agency began operating as a separate unit Wednesday. The functions of the agency had been handled by USDA's Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service, Bergland said. He said the Agricultural Cooperative Service was known as the Farmers Cooperative Service before being incorporated into ESCS in 1977.

Bergland said Randall Torgerson will be the acting administrator of the new agency, reporting to P.R. Smith, USDA's assistant secretary for marketing and transportation services.

Bergland said farmer cooperatives have enabled their members to be more competitive in the marketplace and that it is USDA policy to offer maximum encouragement and support to family farmers and their cooperatives.

Bergland said the Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service will now be called the Economics and Statistics Service.

Grangers herald farm bills

HARRISBURG — Charles Wismer, Master of the Pennsylvania State Grange heralded the passage of the bill declaring Johnsongrass a noxious week, as a long-awaited boon to agriculture.

Wismer, called the bill "another step" another step in increasing farm productivity in Pennsylvania."

Johnsongrass is a weed that virtually takes over fields in farms throughout the state. After taking over, field crop yields drop drastically because they are unable to compete for soil nutrients.

The State of Maryland has control programs for the weed. Without a noxious weed designation in Pennsylvania, there was nothing to prevent its spread here.

Two other bills the Grange had worked for final passage also awaiting Governor Thornburgh's signature, are the Inheritance Tax revisions and laws regulating spotlighting.

The revisions to the Inheritance Tax allow a farm to be valued at its use-value, rather than its market value.

"Now that we have this measure," Wismer stated, "heirs no longer have to sell off portions of the farm in order to pay the tax."

Another bill of importance to the Grange forbids carrying weapons while spotlighting, and prohibits shining lights on barns and outbuildings.

"This is a measure the more rural members of our organizations have been seeking for a long time," Wismer noted.

Fair to take wool from sheep to shawl

READING — The Reading Fair has announced that a "Sheep to Shawl" demonstration will begin at 7 p.m. on Friday night, October 24th. It will be located inside the Fairgrounds Square Mall.

Featured will be the shearing of Azalea, a black Border Leicester and Corriedale ewe lamb by Brenda Bothe.

The wool will be immediately spun into yarn by the spinsters in the group consisting of Adrienne Shuker Loupos of Temple, Edna Ruoss of Sinking [illegible] Bechtelsville.

Weaving the yarn into a shawl will be Susan Alabovitz of Shillington.

The complete process will take the team about two to three hours and will be narrated by Sue Hollowbush of Oley and Carol Holland of Bechtelsville.

Tickets may be purchased during the week for the shawl which will be chanced off Friday evening upon completion.
